WOULD AFFECT MILLIONS

Solons Endorse Sweeping Social Security Change

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee Saturday approved legislation calling for sweeping changes in the Social Security law affecting millions of elderly men and women.

It voted to let men collect retirement benefits at age 62 instead of 65 and also to raise from $1,200 to $1,800 a year the amount of personal income both men and women receiving Social Security benefits can earn.

But the committee refused to put a politically-hot medical care for the aged program under Social Security. Instead it offered a compromise closer to a more modest program already approved by the House.

NO TAX INCREASE

The lower retirment age for men, like the present system for women, would be entirely voluntary and would not increase the Social Security tax for either employers or employes.

A man could choose a reduced benefit for life, starting at age 62, or wait until his 65th birthday and draw a full benefit. He also could retire, with a smaller benefit cut, at any time between 62 and 65.

About 1,800,000 men now between the ages of 62 and 65 would become eligible for benefits immediately if Congress approved the lower retirment age.

The committee's action is subject to approval by the Senate, where a full-scale battle is in store over the medical aid issue.

There were no immediate indications of general Senate sentiment over the age change, or whether the House would go along with this and other revisions of the Social Security bill.

Benefits for men retiring on their 62nd birthday would be cut to 80 per cent of the amount they would receive at 65. The benefit would be increased five-ninths of one per cent for each month between 62 and 65 that they wait to begin drawing payments.

Congress lowered the retirement age for women to 62 in 1956 but only about half of those eligible

Gates Declares U.S. Has Ample Defense Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates told Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson Saturday that no additional defense funds are needed now and he could not predict whether extra money would be used if Congress should provide it.

Gates' stand appeared to rule out any chance that Congress would appropriate more defense money at its pre-election session. Democratic leaders have contended that it would be pointless to provide money that might not be spent.

Gates wrote Johnson that he would "carefully consider" any defense actions that Congress might take."

"But we cannot now predict whether we could prudently utilize additional funds which the Congress might appropriate," he added.

The letter, made public by Johnson, replied to his request for recommendations on any additional funds that could be used in the present fiscal year to strengthen defense.

Gates said present defense funds assure "a continuing military strength second to none," but promised to ask for more, regardless of the amount, "should we conclude that additional programs are required."

"We may in due course need a modest additional sum for military personnel and operation and maintenance in connection with readiness measures we are taking," he said.

Johnson repeated his charge that the Defense Department has frozen $621.3 million of funds previously appropriated by Congress. He told the Senate that the department has no plans to release these funds for use during the current fiscal year.

Cloudy, Cool Forecast Here

Partly cloudy skies and continued mild temperatures should hold fast in Monroe through Monday, according to the weatherman. He predicts a high today of about 87.

Included in the forecast is a possibility of afternoon thundershowers.

Wind velocities will be between eight and 15 miles per hour, he continues.

West Europe Lauds U.S. Space Feats

LONDON (UPI) — Western Europe Saturday hailed the United States series of space and rocket achievements as proof that America has passed Russia in the race into outer space.

Even the Communist press had to admit that the United States had scored "sensational" triumphs.

There were some predictions Russia might try something spectacular to offset the American "launching day" but for the first time European newspaper stated flatly there no longer was a missile lag.

HEADLINE FEATS

News of the American triumphs —the Echo satellite, recovery of a space capsule, successful firing of Polaris, Atlas, Bomarc and Hound Dog missiles, and flight of the rocket X15 plane—made banner headlines.

Swedish newspapers made no editorial comment but one two-inch headline said: "Oh, What A Day!"

The afternoon tabloid Expressen devoted its entire front page to a jubilant mixup of sports and science with the headline: "The U.S. Beats Six World Records—7.21 Meters in Broadjump, 43,000 Meters in Height."

It mixed up the space achievements with stories on Ralph Boston's bettering of Jesse Owens 25-year-old broad jump and pictures of hammer thrower Harold Connoly and shot putter Bill Neider who also surpassed world records at a pre-Olympic track meet in California.

The Vienna "Kurier" reported that "The United States Takes the No. 1 Place in the Rocket Race Again." The West Berlin mass circulation "B.Z." said editorially the successes "end the discussion, which so often has been damaging, about rocket gaps and Soviet head starts in space travel."

U.S. Experts Chart Moon Landing Sites

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. experts announced Saturday the finding of half a dozen favorable landing spots on the moon. But they said man would have to behave like a mole to survive there.

The findings were made public by the U. S. Geological Survey and the Army Engineers on completion of what they called the first known geological study compiled from photographs of the moon.

The mission of the engineers and the geologists is to locate the best areas where space vehicles might land and from which earth men could start work on construction of lunar stations.

Col. Leonard L. Haseman of the engineers' Office of Geodesy Intelligence and Maping said that to survive on the moon "the only way is to go underground, to dig in fast, or get into an old volcanic cavern."

He was supported by Maxim Elias, military geologist of the U. S. Geological Survey, who said there appear to be violent extremes of temperature on the moon. These range from 214 degrees Fahrenheit in the moon's two-week day to minus 20 degrees Fahrenheit at night or in the deep shadows.

These extremes result from the lack of any atmosphere to blunt the sun's rays.

Haseman said it would not be necessary to dig in very deep but that the explorer would have to be careful not to stick his toe above the surface during daylight because it would be roasted.

The experts, at a Pentagon news conference, indicated several areas they said would be favorable for a soft landing. They pointed to the lowland areas of the craters of Kepler and Copernicus in the lunar province of Imbrium as most favorable.

U.N. Forces Taking Over In Katanga

Lumumba Poses New Crisis With Fresh Demands

ELISABETHVILLE (UPI) — Swedish soldiers of the United Nations forces began relieving the Belgian Army in rebellious Katanga Province Saturday. Premier Patrice Lumumba of the Congo immediately threatened another crisis by demanding that all white troops leave the Congo at once.

The agreement to relieve Belgian troops was worked out by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and Katanga President Moise Tshombe in two days of talks in this tense city while Katanga police broke up anti-Tshombe demonstrations.

ASSUME GUARD DUTIES

A series of announcements by Hammarskjold and Tshombe said the Swedes took over guard duties at the airport at 5 p.m. and that other U. N. troops would arrive on Monday and Tuesday to complete the takeover ordered by the Security Council.

The new contingents will be Irish and Ethiopian —half white and half Negro.

Defiant statements by Tshombe here and by Lumumba, in Leopoldville, showed that the Congolese crisis was far from ended. Tshombe said the actions made it clear that Katanga Province, which "seceded" from the Congo on July 11, would be able to maintain its independence.

Two Critical From Burns After Blast

FLORENCE, Miss. (AP) — An explosion in a 4,000 gallon seed oil tank shot flames over the bodies of two men and two boys Saturday at a feed mill construction site in the Clear Branch community and turned them into "balls of fire."

Two cousins, Howard Ross Jr., 12, and James Ross, 13, received second and third degree burns over their entire bodies. Hospital authorities said they were in critical condition.

W. B. Ross, 35, and Bennett Ross, 26, his nephew, received extensive burns over most of their bodies. Both were described in fair condition.

The first explosion was followed by a second, causing flames to shoot from the tank, but no one was in the line of fire the second time.

BOYS BUILD FIRE

Witnesses said the boys had built a fire around the tank to melt the solid matter left by the cotton seed and soybean oil the tank had held. The tank was to be used to store syrup for the feed business.

The tank had a small opening at one end and the four were watching the material drain out.

Jim Byrd, a grocer, said the first explosion shot flames 100 feet from the tank, leaving a mushroom of black smoke. He said he saw "four running balls of fire."

The grocer said he caught two of the victims and said Sam Walker and J. R. Bridges stopped the other two.

Search For Fisherman Is Underway

FERRIDAY (Special) — Concordia Parish officers, assisted by the Natchez fire department, were still dragging Old River last night for the body of Alfred Carman, 40 - year - old commercial fisherman of Natchez.

Carman was believed to have drowned in the river while fishing Friday.

NO RESULTS

Dragging operations were started when the boat was discovered and late last night they had not been successful.

Fire chief Roy Barlow of Vidalia and Pete Guido, Natchez fire chief, and Capt. Russell Lancaster of Natchez are directing the efforts to recover the body.

Concordia Parish Sheriff Noah Cross and his department were also participating in the operations.

The said that the operations would continue through Sunday if no results were obtained before then.

The believed victim is a veteran commercial fisherman and was considered generally in the area to be an "excellent" swimmer and boat operator.

Authorities said that they were not certain Carman had drowned but they were of the opinion that was the case. Circumstances, they said, pointed in that direction.

A high wind and rain swept the lake Friday.

States Righters Not To Seek Goldwater Vote

NEW ORLEANS (Special) — States Rights Party chairman Avid C. Treen of New Orleans said last night that his party is not endorsing Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for the presidency in Louisiana.

Earlier reports indicated that the States Rights party might put electors on the November ballot pledged to vote for the conservative Republican.

POINTS TO GOP

Treen said that "because our party (States Rights) supports the principles Sen. Goldwater represents, Louisiana Republicans should be willing to support the States Rights party in November."

The Louisiana GOP delegates voted for Goldwater at the Chicago nominating convention.

Treen said that electors will be placed on the ballot in Louisiana but that at the present they are not pledged to any candidate.

"If we can find a candidate who adheres to our philosophy we will endorse him. If not, our electors will remain unpledged."

The deadline for filing nomination papers in Louisiana is September 20.

Treen also said that States Rights party electors will cooperate with unpledged electors in other Southern states.

Six Persons Die In Japan Storm

TOKYO (AP) — Tropical storm Wendy battered Japan Sunday, leaving six persons dead and seven missing. Property damage was widespread.

Hardest hit was central Japan. About 50 homes collapsed in the heavy rains and landslides and nearly 4,000 others were flooded. The area had barely recovered from Typhoon Vera which took 5,000 lives last September.

Weathermen said between 15 and 20 inches of rain fell in the mountains from Thursday through Saturday.

The storm, after hitting southern Japan with 56 m.p.h. winds, swerved east and lashed central and northern Japan before it blew itself out in the Pacific Ocean.

'Echo' Keeps Chalking Up New 'Firsts'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's new Echo satellite whizzed around the world every two hours Saturday charting new paths in communications progress for mankind.

The 10-story-high "Radio Mirror" balloon, hailed by U.S. scientists as a step toward global television and inflated bases in space, chalked a series of new "firsts" to its credit:

EXCHANGE MESSAGES

Both developments were announced by the Bell Telephone Laboratories at Holmdel, N. J., whose scientists conducted the experiments in conjunction with others at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Goldstone, Calif.

In addition, the Collins Radio Co., a Cedar Rapids, Iowa, electronics firm, said it used Echo to exchange radio messages with Alpha Corp., its subsidiary in Dallas, Tex.

Collins said it bounced "live voice test counts" off the aluminum-coated sphere to Alpha, 700 miles away, and Alpha sent back identical radio messages. Collins said this was the first north-south exchange via Echo.

The 100-foot - wide satellite, its silvery surface gleaming seven times brighter than the North Star at dawn and dusk, could be seen as well as heard from its 1,000-mile perch. Bright sightings were reported from Iowa to Tokyo, and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration whipped together a timetable of position reports to meet a barrage of requests for details of where and when the sphere could be viewed.

NASA issued slightly modified figures Saturday placing the satellite's orbit at a range of 945 to 1,049 miles from earth and its speed at 15,975 miles an hour, carrying it around the world once every 118.3 minutes.

The 137-pound "Echo I," launched Friday, was given a bi-partisan tone in the simultaneous coast-to-coast transmission and recep-

FOR KHRUSH'S HELP

Sobbing Father Appeals In Vain

MOSCOW (AP) — The frightened, worried and weary family of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers arrived in Moscow Saturday hopeful of seeing him before he goes to trial Wednesday on espionage charges. His father, sobbing, appealed to Premier Nikita Khrushchev "as one father to another" for sympathy and help.

The father and mother of the pilot, downed over Sverlovsk in the central part of the Soviet Union May 1, arrived first, in the dawn hours. Both were tired and on the verge of tears. The mother is seriously ill with heart trouble.

The pilot's wife, Barbara Moore Powers from Milledgeville, Ga., arrived about 12 hours later, drawn and strained and with bloodshot eyes. She told reporters: "I shall be glad to talk to you later. I am very tired now, and I need a little rest."

STILL HAS HOPE

Fellow passengers said later she had told them she first hoped to see her husband, then Khrushchev.

The father, Oliver W. Powers, his voice breaking repeatedly, read a statement at a news conference appealing to Khrushchev.

The note was penned on stationery of the British European Airways plane which brought him to Moscow after a stopover in London.

Powers sat in a deep armchair as he read. Before he began, he took a deep breath, looked up at his friend and adviser, Sol W. Cury, and asked in a husky voice, "Do I have to read this?"

After a pause, Powers added: "It's what I made up."

"Mrs. Powers and I have come

Four Are Hurt In Explosion On Cabin Cruiser

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI)—A cabin cruiser out for its first excursion exploded in the Wilmington River Saturday, seriously injuring four of its seven passengers including a 4-year-old girl.

The victims were identified at Savannah Memorial Hospital as Mr. and Mrs. James Nettles, of suburban Thunderbird, their daughter, Susan, 4, and Foster Harry, of Bluffton, S.C.

Witnesses said the 26-foot boat, which Nettles had purchased only Friday, exploded a few minutes after leaving a dock in Thunderbird on its maiden weekend cruise.

"I was looking out and all of a sudden this boat seemed to go to pieces and I saw two kids flying through the air," said Johnny Logan, who is employed at a marina near where the accident happened.

Diane Nettles, 18, said she, her sister, Pamela, 16, and Kathy Harry, 14, were sitting in the stern of the boat when there was an explosion and flames suddenly

AFTER CEMETERY BALKS

Legion Gives Indian Honor Guard Burial

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—George Vincent Nash, 66, was given a soldier's burial Saturday. Rifles of a guard of honor crackled in a volley fired for him and a trumpet sounded.

The rites for the Winnebago Indian, who was refused burial at another cemetery three days ago, were conducted in an American Legion plot at Perry Mount Cemetery near here.

The military ceremony was in contrast to the modest family rites that had taken place Wednesday for the World War I veteran.

At White Chapel Cemetery in Troy, a Detroit suburb, services had been conducted and his casket lowered into its grave alongside his wife's when officials ordered it removed because he was an Indian.

White Chapel restricts its funerals to Caucasians.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, deploring "discrimination," ordered a state investigation and talked of possible legislation to forbid such an occurrence in the future.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams said in a statement: "if ever the seeds of disillusion existed in our democratic country, they exist in such situations as this. We must once and for all end all assumptions of superiority. All mean snobbery based upon race, color or creed."

"It is saddening," Adams added "to see what is apparently an attempt to carry discrimination beyond the grave."

A son, Vincent, 30, rejected an offer to have the burial at Arlington National Cemetery at Washington, D.C., final resting place for many of America's soldier dead.

Nash's wife, Carrie, a Chippewa Indian, was buried in White Chapel Cemetery in 1949. Officials said there must have been some misunderstanding at the time.

Federal Job Buying Try Is Charged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States Saturday ordered a Soviet Embassy first secretary out of the country on charges he paid a young American citizen — now a self-styled Nazi — to try for a federal job.

The State Department said the official, Valentin M. Ivanov, "grossly violated the established norms of diplomatic behavior."

The department did not elaborate on its charges regarding Ivanov's relationship with the American, Roger C. Foss. But Foss said in a published interview he understood that Ivanov wanted him to act as a "sleeper agent" in a government post.

COLD WAR MOVES

The ouster was the latest in a flurry of cold war moves and counter-moves between the United States and Russia in advance of American U-2 pilot Francis G. Powers' public trial by the Soviets next week on spying charges.

In another development, the State Department reported that Col. Karoly Laszlo, Hungarian military attache, has been forbidden to return to the United States because he failed to identify himself when seeking "various publications" from American businesses, organizations and individuals.

Hungary promptly retaliated by ousting Col. Carl Watkins Miller, U. S. military attache in Budapest. The State Department called the action "unjustified reprisal."

The department announced Ivanov's expulsion within minutes after Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov was called in for a conference. Menshikov's only statement on leaving was "The weather is not very pleasant."

The State Department set no time for Ivanov to leave, but under normal procedure expelled officials are given only a few days' grace.

Ivanov was the 13th Soviet dip-

Mother Admits Feeding Drugs To Daughters

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Lillian Fratantonio, 29, mother of five children, Saturday night tearfully admitted she had fed her two "sleeping beauty" daughters barbiturates to put them in a state of slumber, police said.

Detective Sgt. Norman Ferris, head of a team of detectives questioning the dark-haired woman in the hospital where she had given birth to her third daughter last week, said she made the admission in a statement.

Mrs. Fratantonio admitted she administered the drug, Ferris said, sometimes in liquid form and other times with pills.

She drugged Bernadette, 3, for 11 months, Ferris quoted the woman, because the child was too peppy. She gave no reason for administering the barbiturates to the other "sleeping beauty," Venita, 5.

Mrs. Fratantonio, daughter of a Cleveland Heights dentist, said she meant no harm to her two children.

The girls, aroused at last from their sedation slumber, were in an isolated room at Mount Sinai Hospital. They were happy and carefree—as any children their age. But at St. Ann Hospital, the story was one of tense drama as the mother unfolded her story to authorities.

Anti-Castro Plots Brew Over Miami

Aside from being fed up with Fidel, the Cuban cliques involved appear to have little in common with one another.

The MIRR is the only anti-Castro group which claims to have troops under arms in the field, awaiting only reinforcements and a strategic moment to cut loose against their former rebel chieftain whom they accuse of turning Communist.

MRR is one of Miami's estimated several dozen political societies which so far have not claimed any strength in Cuba except in underground membership.

Some of Castro's former adherents have formed organizations along occupational lines to root out Communism in Cuba. One is a Society of Journalists in Exile —made up largely of editors who found free press cut from under them in Cuba. Another is a medical association, sparked by political exiles from the University of Havana's medical school.

Moore was charged with additional counts for reckless driving and damage to property after being involved in a minor accident on the 500 block of the Winnsboro Road. He was free after posting a $500 bond.

Reports Claim Troops Moving On Laos Rebels

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) Rebels in Laos claimed Saturday pro-Western Premier Tiao Samsonith agreed to resign to clear the way for a new neutral regime in the Asian kingdom. But other reports said royal units are moving against the rebels in Vientiane, the capital.

Capt. Kong Le, 35, who engineered the revolt in Vientiane Tuesday, warned that 'bloody war" would break out if Samsonith does not go ahead and step down. Weeping, he repeated at a rally that "the government must resign to forestall bloodhshed."

There was no direct word from Samonith, who took over last May after elections and led Laos away from a policy of neutralism. He still was reported in Luang Prabang, the royal city 140 miles northwest of Vientiane.

Sources in Nong Khai, Thailand city across the Mekong River from Vientiane, said two royal army battalions were moving in the direction of the capital. How close they were to the city was not indicated. They were said to be under command of Brig. Gen. Boonlert Samichand, 1st Royal Laos Army chief of staff, who declared his loyalty to King Savang to the Soviet Union for the sole purpose of doing all that we can to help our son," he read. "I am sure that any other parents would do the same if their boy was in trouble, and I appeal to Mr. Khrushchev as one father to another, for the sake of my boy.

America's first census in 1790 showed a total of 3,929,214 persons were living in the 13 original states.

"I understand he lost a son in the war against Nazi Germany, fighting alongside the United States of America for the same cause.

"One reason I am here is that Mr. Khrushchev cabled me, promising to help me in this matter, and I have taken him at his word.

"My son is not the son of a millionaire. He is the son of a working man from a plain American family like millions of others, not only back home but in the Soviet Union and throughout the world.

"And as a father, I appeal to this common bond of human sympathy which I believe is stronger than all the issues of politics that separate us and which is, if I may say so, mankind's greatest hope that the peace of the world shall be kept and the world saved from the disaster of nuclear war."

The accused pilot's mother was not present. After the hard journey from the family home in Pound, Va., she was so weak and tired she could not go through customs and was escorted to a waiting automobile where she collapsed in the back seat.

Her husband was nervous and irritated on arrival, snapping, "No comment, no comment," at reporters but saying he hoped to see his son, although he had no permission yet.

Late in the afternoon his prospects became even dimmer. The U. S. Embassy received a note from the Soviet government expressing surprise that the embassy expected to see Powers and indicating there was little chance embassy officials or the Powers family could see him before the trial, which will take place in the Hall of Columns and is expected to last three days.

Khrushchev already has told the family that while he is prepared to help all he can, the fate of the pilot is in the hands of the Military Collegium of the Supreme Court and he cannot interfere.

Soviet Says 'No Appeal' For Powers

LONDON (AP)—A leading Soviet lawyer said Saturday night U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers will not have the right to appeal against a sentence for espionage.

But the lawyer told Radio Moscow listeners the American flier will be able to apply for a pardon from the Supreme Soviet.

Powers, shot down over the Soviet Union May 1, goes on trial Wednesday in Moscow on charges of espionage.

"The case against Powers is completely unquestionable and without doubt," the lawyer said.

"A sentence of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Court—in this case of the military collegium of the Supreme Court, is final and according to the constitution there is no right of appeal.

"The sentence can be reviewed as a matter of judicial control only by a plenum of the Supreme Court in a case where the chairman or the prosecutor general protests against the sentence.

"Apart from this, the accused has the right to apply for a pardon to the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet which has the right of granting a pardon."

The lawyer's remarks, made in answer to questions from an interviewer, were broadcast over Moscow's Home Service. Reception was poor in London and the lawyer's name was not clear although he was described as a leading attorney.

"Powers," the lawyer said, "committed a gross state crime against the Soviet Union and against the workers and must bear the responsibility for this crime with all the severity of Soviet law."

The lawyer, described as a corresponding member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, said Powers will be granted "wide opportunities to defend himself against the indictment."

The American pilot will have a defending counsel and will have the right "to contest the accusations and give explanations," the lawyer said.

Gov. Davis Not Planning New Electors Meet

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis has no intention to call another meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee to reconsider the question of unpledged presidential electors, a spokesman for the governor said Saturday.

The governor was asked about reports another committee meeting may be held in an attempt to reverse the committee's decision to remain loyal to the Democratic ticket of John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson.

"This is the first time I have heard this mentioned," the governor was quoted as saying.

Davis is titular head of the party in Louisiana and usually asks the committee chairman to call meetings.

The state party organization Thursday voted 51-49 to name 10 electors pledged to Kennedy to be placed on the Louisiana ballot.

Davis Recalls 8,000 Badges

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie Davis has called in some 8,000 state police special agent badges, it was learned Saturday.

The badges shaped like the state of Louisiana usually get courteous or special treatment for the bearer. They go to state officers, members of the Legislature and friends of some administrations.

Davis apparently intends to call in all such badges issued earlier to prevent them from getting into the hands of the unscrupulous.

Federal Job Buying Try Is Charged

lomat ordered out of the country under subversion charges since 1952. He has been a first secretary here since July 1957, and his duties included the handling of press queries.

Under normal procedure, the United States and Russia play "tit-for-tat" in the ouster of diplomatic officials. Just this week, U.S. Air Attache Col. Edwin M. Kirton was ordered out of the Soviet Union.

The Soviets also kicked out two American tourists this week. One, Robert Christner of Sparks, Neb., was accused along with Kirton of collecting intelligence information. The other, James Shultz of Otis, Kan., was charged Friday with giving "provocative literature"—including three Bibles—to a Russian citizen.

The United States called Christner's ouster part of a continuing attempt by the Soviets to inflame its citizens in advance of the Powers trial, scheduled to open Wednesday.

U.N. Forces Taking Over In Katanga

ville, renewed his threat to send in his own troops to win back the rebellious province and delivered a scathing attack on Hammarskjold for his use of white Swedish troops. He said some of the Swedes were disguised Belgians.

The official Soviet newspaper Izvestia, in a commentary broadcast by Moscow Radio, followed up this with an attack on Hammarskjold and accused him of conspiring with Tshombe against the "legal government of the congo." It said Hammarskjold was not carrying out the council resolutions.

A U.N. communique said the military representatives who accompanied Hammarskjold had made arrangements for the speedy deployment of United Nations forces. It said a U.N. advance party will arrive Sunday and other troops will fly in Monday and Tuesday.

Belgian troops were to withdraw as fast as the U.N. troops arrive.

About 20,000 European civilians remained in Katanga which has been comparatively quiet except for Saturday's noisy demonstrations and the mild booing the Swedish troops received when they arrived with Hammarskjold Friday.

Tshombe said the Katanga would carry out its own internal policing—a warning to Lumumba that he would get no help from the United Nations in his attempts to overthrow the Tshombe regime. He also noted that the U.N. mission had the right to "block all threats that may threaten life and property of all persons irrespective off race."

Observers said this meant Tshombe had authorized the U.N. forces to put down tribal conflicts threatening security.

Solons To Appear On Jaycee Show

Appearing on the program produced by the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce will be Senators Jamar Adcock, Ouachita and Jackson Parish. W. T. Carpenter, Morehouse and West Carroll Parish, and Representative T. T. Fields of Union Parish.

The area lawmakers will discuss in lay terms the actions of the past session.

New Outbreaks Flare In Cuba Against Castro

HAVANA (UPI) — A new outbreak of anti-government activities was reported Saturday in Eastern Cuba as the nation prepared to celebrate the 34th birthday Sunday of Premier Fidel Castro by buying Cuban bonds and cows.

Anti-government forces tried to burn a railroad bridge early Saturday at Hevia in Camaguey Province but were driven off by troops and members of the government's farmers militia in a gunfight.

Counter-revolutionaries Friday made an armed attack on a rural police station at Jatibonico, also in Camaguey. One of the attackers was killed and two policemen were wounded. Police said 17 attackers were captured.

The U. S. Embassy disclosed Saturday that Cuba delivered two notes both rejecting recent American protests. The first note flatly rejected a U.S. protest of Aug. 8 against the Cuban nationalization law whereby U.S. industries were seized. The second rejected a note of Aug. 16 protesting the expropriations carried out under the law.

Cuba, meanwhile celebrated the closing act of its "week of popular jubilee" to mark the expropriation of almost all American interests in Cuba.

In honor of Castro's birthday government radios urged all unions and organizations wanting to give him a gift to buy a cow instead for donation to government cooperatives. Castro has ordered the cooperatives to have milk-producing herds by next year.

However, Castro, in an appeal reported by government radio, asked all citizens to buy 25 cent bonds of the National Housing Institute in lieu of sending him a present.

Cuba's delegation to the Costa Rica meeting of the Organization of American States leaves Sunday to deny charges of Communist infiltration in Cuba.

The delegation is expected to be led by Foreign Minister Raul Roa but there was some speculation that Castro himself might make the trip to answer the communism charges.

U.S. Experts Locate Moon Landing Sites

cumulation of dust deep enough to bury a space vehicle upon landing. It found no apparent evidence of any substantial radioactivity on the moon's surface.

The geologists said their study neither proved nor disproved the report of a Soviet scientist that there had been a recent volcanic eruption on the moon.

The experts said they hope to learn more next year after the United States attempts a probe to the moon. This would be a hard landing by a space vehicle that probably would be destroyed upon impact.

A later soft landing by an unmanned vehicle would carry many more instruments and be able to send back information, the experts said.

Echo's success was but one of several American space achievements in the last several days, a period which the Air Force said Friday encompassed its "biggest 24 hours in missile-space history."

An Air Force plane brought the "Lucky 13" Discoverer satellite capsule here Saturday for President Eisenhower to see at the White House Monday. The capsule plucked out of the Pacific Ocean Thursday night, was the first-man made object ever retrieved from a space orbit.

A few hours after the Echo I success, Air Force Maj. Bob White steered an X15 rocket ship to an altitude of almost 25 miles, higher than man has ever flown.

have decided to take the reduced benefits.

While going along with the House provisions for federal-state medical aid to needy persons over 65, the committee bill also would provide increased federal payments to states for health care for an estimated 2.4 million persons on old age assistance.

But the committee refused to tie the program to the Social Security system as demanded by organized labor, backed by Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy and endorsed by the Democratic Party platform. President Eisenhower, who opposes the Social Security approach, was indicated he would accept the House version.

The committee vote approving the compromise came on an alignment of conservative Democrats and all of the Republican members.

Before the final action, the committee junked, on three separate votes, rival Democratic-sponsored proposals to increase the benefits and broaden the coverage by extending benefits under the Social Security system.

The House bill would provide $165 million in federal contributions to states which agree to extend their medical aid programs to needy persons over 65. The beneficiaries would have to pay participation fees and aid would be based on a graduated scale under which the patients also would pay part of the costs.

The measure would cover about 1.5 million persons who are not eligible for welfare assistance but who can't afford to meet all their medical costs.

LE PALAISE, France (AP) — The 17th century fortress of Belle-Ile-en-Mer, built by Vauban, the noted French strategist and architect, was sold Friday for $54,000. Called La Citadele, the fortress at one time was assaulted by both the Dutch and the British and served as a prison for German soldiers in World Wars I and II. The name of the new owner was not announced.

West Monroe Youth At Red Cross Meet

CHIEMSEE, Germany — Ralph Wood, 17, of West Monroe, who is attending the 6th annual American Junior Red Cross Leadership Training Center in the European area, has learned that studying about people from books cannot compare with actually meeting and talking with them.

Ralph is the son of M-Sgt. and Mrs. Leon L. Wood Jr., formerly of West Monroe. He is now living in Baumholder, Germany, where his father is stationed with the U.S. Army. Ralph's grandfagher, Leon L. Wood Sr., lives at 109 North 3rd Street in West Monroe.

A sophomore at the Baumholder American High School, he was selected to attend the JRC training center on the basis of his leadership ability and interest in the American Junior Red Cross.

Other delegates to the center include 60 students from American dependent high schools in Europe, North Africa, and Near East, 14 representatives from Red Cross chapters in the United States as well as 24 guest delegates from Red Cross societies in England, France, Italy, and Germany, and 4 young people from the Canadian dependent schools in Europe.

During the 10 - day meeting, the JRC members take part in workshops on national and international Red Cross programs, study first aid and home nursing, participate in projects at nearby welfare institutions, and enjoy a full program of recreation.

"My experience at this JRC center is giving me a better understanding of people and countries," Ralph said.

"When you work and play with people from other countries you begin to overlook differences in languages, customs, and viewpoints. Our interest in the Red Cross idea and ideals also helps bring us together on a common meeting ground, just as our interests do in clothes, music, and sports."

In adddition to his work in the Junior Red Cross program at Baumholder, Ralph is also secretary of the Boy Scouts and president of the Youth for Christ. While living in Louisiana, he received a Certificate of Merit from the Boy Scouts for giving proper first aid to a boy whose trousers had caught fire. He received third prize in the Science Test of Central Louisiana district and was also third of Baumholder in the USAREUR Science Fair in Europe.

State Man Dies On U.S. Ship

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Naval Reserve Ensign David Jules Gaignard, 23, graduate of Louisiana State University, was among five crewmen who died on the minesweeper Exultant, off Savannah, Ga., Friday night.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jules H. Gaignard, Shreveport, received a telegram Saturday that the son died of asphyxiation. The message was signed by the Exultant's skipper, Lt. Cmdr. G. E. McPhadden.

Gaignard, who moved to Shreveport from Houston, Tex., in 1939, was unmarried. He was a June 1959 graduate of LSU where he majored in chemical engineering. He entered the Navy in August, 1959, and went into naval aviation at Pensacola until December, 1959, when he was assigned to the Exultant.

IN 8TH DISTRICT

McSween Hopes For 10,000 Majority

WINNFIELD (Special) — Rep. Harold B. McSween calmly predicted Saturday in a stump speech he might beat former Gov. Earl K. Long by "10,000 votes" but one lady said jokingly before his speech that McSween "might come out about four sowbellies behind if he doesn't do something."

McSween made his prediction at Dodson while he was invading Long's home parish of Winn.

Reference to the sowbellies was made because of Long's give aways of sides of bacon and groceries at rallys throughout the eighth district during this congressional race.

McSween toured the parish with four speeches and appeared at Winnfield four houds ahead of Long.

Long said "I'm not going to keep you going because there's a revival going on here."

"I'm a Baptist myself. More of a paying Baptist than any other kind."

For the second day he flayed away on charges about the issuing of some checks from his office. Prior to Friday he had stayed away from the subject.

There have been newspaper advertisments and circulars during the campaign carrying photostats of U. S. Treasury checks along with statements and affadavits claiming the checks were made to persons on McSween's payrolls but not performing services for McSween and that the checks were later given to him or his representatives.

McSween, in a television speech from Alexandria, Friday night prduced another affidavit by Mrs. Foster claiming she has signed the first affadavit for one of Long's aids without understanding what it said.

"Have you ever taken the time to photostat a check?" McSween asked his Winnfield audience Saturday. "No, and neigher have I."

"Taking those photostats was a bad mistake. It was done on the advice of a Charlie McCarthy of a lawyer, Joe Arthur Sims, a shyster, lawyer from Hammond."

"Earl Long made those photostats for no other reason than that he had something up his sleeve all the time," McSween said.

Long picked up help from Bill Dodd who spoke in Long's behalf at Winnfield, extolling the Long administration for its good deeds.

Long spent little time attacking McSween but poured away at his own deeds and qualifications for office.

Joe Arthur Sims, Long's attorney and campaign speaking mate, ripped away at McSween's efforts on television Friday to explain the check situation.

Also at Winnfield applauding Long were several legislators and former legislators including Rep. Lawrence Gibbs of Ouachita and former Sen. King of Winnsboro. King was defeated in lest year's election. Long's 7 p.m. appearance at Winnfield drew about double the number of people who stopped to hear McSween at 3 p.m. but was nothing compared to the crowds Long drew in July of this year or of last year when he was running for Lt. Gov.

When asked how much he thought he would beat McSween, Long laughed and said he didn't know.

Six Injured By Shreveport Car

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Six persons were injured, one critically, when a car went out of control here Saturday.

Sandra Stevenson, 22, was listed in critical condition from a fractured thigh, severe lacerations, a possible head injury and brush burns.

The other five were Jim Duncan, 24, the driver; Anita Thedford, 19; Janice Davis, 20; Ronnie Jerome, 24; and Bobby Walker, 26. All six were from Shreveport.

The car was en route to Bossier City when it went out of control at a curve, knocked down a wooden light pole and six parking meters. The car was demolished.

IN SOUTHERN STATES

Decisions Near On Dixie Revolt

ATLANTA (UPI) — Actions next week in Mississippi, South Carolina and Florida may well make or break the quadrennial rumble of Dixie revolt from the Democratic party this election year.

This time, the "bolt" idea deals with presidential electors — and within the party, or at least under the party label instead of with a third party. And says Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett, who first advanced the unpledged electors idea this summer, "Republicans offer us no hope."

But should Barnett and his fellow segregationist - States Rights Democrats in at least six deep South states get their plan off the ground, they foresee holding a probable balance of power in the electoral college.

The plan involves freeing enough Democratic electors to form a bloc of as many as 52 of the 537 votes in the electoral college. It will take 269 electoral votes to elect either Richard M. Nixon or John Kennedy president of the United States. In a close presidential election, a bloc of 50, or even 20 or 30 electoral votes, would hold considerable power. If neither major nominee gets a majority without them, they would hold the decisive votes—either for one candidate to win, or to throw the election into the House of Representatives.

This is the lever the South's States Righters want to win concessions on States Rights, Civil Rights, schools and elections.

Alabama's Democratic electors chosen in primaries are split, 6-5. Georgia and Arkansas decide later whether their electors will be pledged to the national ticket, and Mississippi and South Carolina reconvene their state party conventions next week to put up opposing states of pledged and unpledged electors.

Florida's state legislators will be polled on whether they want a special session to put a slate of unpledged electors on the ballot.

As a comparison, and perhaps an indicator, it must be remembered that in 1948 the States Righters opposed to President Harry S. Truman, put up a splinter States Rights ticket and collected 39 electoral votes.

This year the indignation arises from dislike of the national party's Civil Rights plank and liberal platform. Barnett expresses his feeling about the platform saying it would install a "Congolese constitution" in the United States."

Barnett is backing an unpledged electors slate but has invited Mississippi Loyalists to offer a pledged slate, too, put both on the ballot and let the voters decide.

The Mississippi Convention would not endorse unpledged electors, merely put them on the ballot. But Barnett has named four Southerners as "acceptable" to his unpledged slate—Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas and Sens. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Richard B. Russell of Georgia or Harry F. Byrd of Virginia.

Alabama States Righter Frank Mizell said there is no absolute promise to bolt, but that his group's six electors will withhold their votes from the national nominees "if doing so would win concessions favorable to the South."

Mizell's group telegraphed the governors and state chairmen in other free electors plan states assuring them that "if your state will select free States Rights Democratic electors...we will join them, we will work with them and cooperate with them and with all other free electors of the South and the nation who believe in the preservation of racial and national integrity."

Aligned against the bolters are the loyalist Democrats who believe the unpledged elector threat would embarrass the South's Democratic leadership in Congress and jeopardize vital seniority ratings on important committees in a retaliatory move by Northern Democrats.

Refusal of the Louisiana Democratic central committee, by a 51-49 vote two days ago, to join the unpledged electors movement was a blow to the States Righters.

Hounds Track Theft Suspects

COVINGTON, Tenn. (UPI)—Officers from Covington, Lauderdale County and Ft. Pillow used bloodhounds to track down three teenagers charged with a car theft in Peoria, Ill.

Ripley police said they saw the two boys and a girl siphoning gas there and radioed to Covington police to intercept the car. When the car was stopped the three fled on foot across country. Dogs were brought from Ft. Pillow and the three were tracked down in less than an hour. When officers checked they found the three were wanted for the car theft.

Paper Contends Caryl Chessman Left Daughter

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP)—Executed convict-author Caryl Chessman left a pretty, dark-haired daughter, now 17 years old, the Richmond Independent said in a copyright story Saturday.

Chessman, the convicted "red light bandit," died in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber last May 2 after an 11-year death row fight which drew worldwide attention.

One of his attorneys, Miss Rosalie Asher of Sacramento, recently denied that Chessman had a daughter. No mention of a child was made in his will.

The Richmond Independent said it had letters exchanged between Chessman and the mother of his daughter.

Reporter John Raymond, in a story copyright 1960 by Owens Publications, Inc., wrote about the girl:

"She is very much like any other 17-year-old girl. Right now she's a senior in high school. A little on the tall side, she's slender and pretty, with dark hair.

"She's Caryl Chessman's daughter."

The Independent said it would not reveal her name or where she is living, to protect her "from curiosity seekers and harassment."

The newspaper said the girl lives within 25 miles of San Francisco.

Warns Of TV Hazard

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—If you are an asthmatic, a Danish doctor says you may come down with an attack while sitting in front of some TV sets writing in the Danish Medical Journal, Dr. Christian Bach says the danger is not in the mere looking at the screen but from the teak wood from which many Danish sets are made. If the set has been treated with an oil product, he says, it could have an adverse effect on those suffering from asthma.

Army Lectures Berlin Soldiers

BERLIN (UPI) — The U.S. Army Saturday told its soldiers "to fight like hell" to defend West Berlin.

The virtual order of the 4,000-man U.S. garrison here to stand to the last man if necessary to fight for West Berlin was contained in instructions issued to troop commanders for a lecture to soldiers.

The soldiers who stand guard in this city 110 miles inside Communist territory will be told during the lectures next week "to fight like hell, if necessary, for U.S. rights and a free Berlin."

The GI's will have it impressed on them that if surrounding East German Communists overpower the 16,000-man West Berlin police force, Western allied troops will be called out to restore order.

The Army told its outpost garrison to realize that not only 2,200,000 West Berliners but the whole free world looks to it to defend Democracy.

. . . Why Thousands of Your Rural Neighbors Who Wanted —DESERVED—A Better Life.

Only 1.7% of Louisiana's Farms Were Electrified in 1937

Agriculture — by far — is Louisiana's greatest industry. It would amount to little without electricity. But rural electrification has done far more than create a revolution in agricultural productivity and better living on the farm. It has truly helped EVERYBODY.

Think of the immeasurable contributions to Louisiana's progress (more jobs, industries, main street business, recreational facilities and opportunities) born of the noble "area coverage" ideal of electric cooperatives. That ideal is simply: Service to ALL Who Need and Want Electricity, Regardless of Social or Financial Standing.

In 1937, only 1.7% of the state's farms and rural homes had electric service. Today, the 13 Louisiana member-owned electric co-ops provide 98% area coverage with competitive rates. That's a record without parallel in history.

Don't let anyone confuse you. Electric co-ops are private enterprises, owned and controlled by thousands of your rural friends and neighbors. The non-profit co-ops merely borrow money from the REA (just like millions of home owners borrow money from the FHA) and they are repaying the loans in ADVANCE of schedules, plus interest. There isn't a single REA employee in all of Louisiana.

'MANY TO LOSE JOBS'

Jackson Warns On Integration

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana's top public education official said Saturday forced integration may destroy public education and deprive many Negroes of an education.

State Education Supt. Shelby Jackson added: "Many Negro teachers will lose their jobs because there will not be children to teach."

Jackson was interviewed about the impending public school integration in New Orleans and its bearing on the state.

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright of New Orleans has made no indication he intends to modify his order to integrate public schools in the state's largest city beginning with the first grade next month. U.S. Atty. Hepburn Many, in a recent discussion on compliance with federal legislation, said, "What the court orders is law. We as citizens should live according to the law. However, the court will use what force is necessary."

Gov. Jimmie H. Davis has steadfastly maintained all of Louisiana's public schools will open on a segregated basis, but won't say how he intends to get around the federal order.

Davis has authority under state law to close each school in the state if any one of them is ordered to integrate.

"This whole thing would destroy public education," Jackson said. "I am for maintaining segregation of the schools at all levels. Louisiana has done more than any state in the United States during the 12 years under my administration for the Negro schools. In fact, they have equal facilities and some of the finest school plants in the United States."

Negro teachers, Jackson said, have salaries equal to those of white teachers. Some who were drawing as little as $585 a year now earn $6,400.

"To me," he said, "it is inconceivable that they would want to demoralize and destroy their own positions. Their schools have been brought up to equal standards. We have the same courses of study, the same professional approval of school personnel, and all other benefits like school lunches, free textbooks and teacher retirement."

Negroes in Louisiana schools, Jackson said, "have everything equal to white people.

"I would say that if integration would be forced, many Negro children and youth would be deprived of education and many Negro teachers would lose their jobs because there would not be children to teach.

"I don't understand why we have to abide by the wishes of a small minority when it is evident that a large majority of both races want the schools to remain as they are now.

Courtney Seeks Sen. Thurmond For President

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Kent Courtney, chairman of the National Citizens Committee for an Independent Candidate, said Saturday a move was underway to ask Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) to run for president as an independent candidate.

"I'm sending out 10,000 letters asking conservatives all over the nation to get petitions signed asking Sen. Thurmond to run," Courtney said in an interview.

Courtney said the committee has not contacted Thurmond who is unopposed in November for reelection to the Senate. The senator was the presidential candidate of the States Rights party in 1948.

"We want people to let him know how the people feel," Courtney said. "Then he can make his own decision."

Courtney, a 41-year-old New Orleans publisher, ran for governor on the States' Rights ticket in the general election last April.

He said the current movement is designed for those disappointed in the platforms of both major parties and is not connected with the States' Rights party which he said was composed of "disgruntled Democrats."

Courtney said the committee's mailing list consisted of the "same conservatives who made such a good effort" in behalf of Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) at the July Republican national convention.

Five Perish In Explosion, Fire On Ship

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — An explosion in the aft engine room of the minesweeper U.S.S. Exultant killed five crewmen Friday night in a tragedy at sea 70 miles off the Georgia coast.

Fire following the explosion raged for an hour in holds of the ship, apparently fed by fuel oil leaking from blast-ruptured lines. Crews from the Exultant and a sister minesweeper, U.S.S. Nimble, braved flames, smoke and fumes in narrow passageways to extinguish the fire.

The Navy had few details of the accident pending a shipboard investigation and inspection headed by Capt. W. E. Benbow, commandant of Mine Squadron Eight, who went immediately from Charleston, S.C., and boarded the disabled sweeper.

The 165-foot vessel was under tow and was expected to be brought to Savannah early Saturday night.

The Navy withheld names of the crewmen killed pending notification of next of kin. It said there were no other casualties or injuries reported among the four officers and 60 crewmen aboard.

Damage was believed confined mostly to the aft engine room and aft holds. The 700 ton vessel, diesel-powered, has two engine rooms and a woden hull.

The Exultant was in a flotilla of four modern Navy minesweepers from Atlantic Fleet Mine Force, Charleston, en route to Miami, Fla., for a demonstration and exhibition.

New Record Enrollment Is Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—A record 1960-61 enrollment of 48,650,000 in the public and private schools from kindergarten through college was forecast Saturday by the Office of Education. It would be the 16th consecutive year of increase.

Lawrence G. Derthick, commissioner of education, said the total for the 50 states and the District of Columbia is nearly two million more than the 46,720,000 enrollment for the 1959-60 school year.

He noted that Alaska and Hawaii were not counted in the 1959-60 estimate made in August 1959. Excluding them, enrollment was about 46,800,000 in 1959-60 and would be about 48,400,000 in 1960-61, he said.

Derthick estimated that 1,636,000 classroom teachers will be needed by the public and nonpublic elementary and secondary schools, or almost four per cent more than the 1,574,000 employed in 1959-60.

The commissioner said rising enrollment rates in kindergarten, elementary and secondary schools are due chiefly to the increased birth rates since the first years of World War II.

"However," he said, "the increase in college enrollments should be attributed mostly to a growing interest in attending college among high school graduates and the college-age population generally, since the rising birth rate has not yet had time to affect college enrollments materially."

Anticipated enrollments in public and nonpublic schools from kindergarten through Grade 8 are estimated at 34,380,000 for the 50 states and the District of Columbia, an increase of a million.

Institutions of higher education, both public and private, will have an increase of 230,000, from 3¾ million to 3,980,000.

SIX MOTHERS VICTIMS

Nine Lose Lives In Tragic Crash

READING, Minn. (UPI) —Nine persons were killed and another was critically injured Saturday in a two-car collision which scattered bodies and wreckage for 100 yards and left 39 children motherless.

The two vehicles crashed on a straight stretch of highway near this southwestern Minnesota community.

The cars hit with such impact that one overturned and burned in a ditch and the other had its top sheared off.

Six of the victims were mothers and three were men. There were seven persons in one car and three in the other.

The seven in the one car, which had its top sliced off, were traveling to their homes in Wilmont after working all night at the Campbell Soup Co., at Worthington, Minn.

Six of the seven were killed. They were Mr. and Mrs. John Voss Jr., 42 and 39, Mrs. Matt Gerber, 56, Mrs. John Schroer, 39, Mrs. Ted Voss, 49, and Mrs. Larry Bunkers, 43. Mrs. Bunkers died a short while after the crash in a Worthington hospital. The seventh passenger, Mrs. Ernie Lueck, 36, was in critical condition at the Worthington hospital.

Three persons were killed in the second car, which overturned and burned.

The victims in the second car were Robert Joe Buchman, 21, Sibley, Iowa, Mrs. James Buckner, 20, Worthington, whose husband is based with the military police in Germany, and an unidentified person, who police said was badly charred. Buchman was the owner of the car, police said.

The victim was later identified as Jack Clark, 17, who would have been a senior in high school at Worthington next fall.

Sheriff Harry Nackerud said the car owned by Buchman was "traveling as fast as it could go" on the wrong side of the road at the time of the crash.

"The Iowa car must have been almost flying," Nackerud said.

Nackerud said the Wilmont car careened into a ditch. Buchman's car rolled about 100 yards on the other side of the highway.

Police said Mrs. Schroer had nine children, Mrs. Ted Voss Seven, Mr. and Mrs. John Voss, six; Mrs. Matt Geber 12, but only one at home. Mrs. Bunkers had three children at home. Critically injured Mrs. Lueck has three children—one a baby.

The National Safety Council termed the crash "one of the worst two car accidents in the nation's history but not the worst."

The council said records show that the worst two-car auto crash occurred about 15 miles south of Slayton, Minn., on April 21, 1940. Thirteen persons died in the collision.

Name Howard Member Of FHA Group

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Appointment of Herbert E. Howard as a member of the Farmers Home Administration county committee was announced this week by Joseph H. LeBeau, Jr., the agency's county supervisor.

Two other members make up the 3 - member committee, which works with the county supervisor to see that the best possible use is made of the agency's farm credit service program consistent with local farmers' needs.

The other members are J. L. Johnson, Lake Providence, and R. W. Fletcher, Transylvania. Fletcher will serve as committee chairman during the next, or 1961, fiscal year.

Each member is appointed for a 3 - year term. Howard succeeds Felton J. Johnson, whose 3 - year term expired this year.

The committee determines the eligibility of individual applicants for all types of loans. It also reviews borrower's progress and aids the county supervisor in adapting the agency's loan policies to conditions faced by the farmers in this area.

Members are selected and appointed so that, so far as possible dirrerent areas or neighborhoods are represented.

The Farmers Home Administration makes annual or intermediate term loans to farmers who need adequate funds to buy equipment and livestock, and longer term loans to build or repair houses and other essential farm buildings, and to purchase or improve land suitable for family-type farm operations.

It also advances credit to farmers or their non - profit associations to establish and carry out approved soil and water conservation practices, and to install and improve irregation and farmstead water facilities.

Fifth Birthday For Oil Field

Its birthday present will be the 248th producer brought in since Aug. 16, 1955, when Zack Brooks Drilling Co. of El Dorado, Ark., discovered the deep lying oil reservoirs. The latest well is being completed 2½ miles southwest of the Donavan discovery well.

A record will have fallen by Tuesday. Since its fourth birthday, the field has produced about 5,250,000 barrels of crude. That is almost one million barrels ahead of the previous year and is more than 700,000 above the previous record set the year before.

The field now is accounting for more than four-fifths of all crude produced in Alabama.

"Are there any convicts in your family?" was one of the questions asked in the 1850 census. It is no longer used.

MAP SUMMARY

Sunshine dominated the weather pattern over much of the country yesterday. Generally sunny skies prevailed from the central Great Lakes region thru most of the Mississippi Valley and the plains states into the Pacific states. Although considerable cloudiness occurred in scattered sections along the Pacific coast, in the central Rockies and the northern plains. More abundant cloudiness was general from the Texas coast northeastward to New England.

Scattered rain and showers were reported from the middle Atlantic states southwestward along a weak frontal zone to south Texas while showers were developing in the upper Mississippi valley and northern plains along a cold front pushing into that section. Scattered severe thunderstorms with strong gusty winds expected for a portion of the upper Mississippi valley later in the afternoon. The only other area of rainfall at midday was in the Pacific northwest where drizzle and light rain was falling in isolated sections. Most precipitation amounts were light. Totals ranged near one half inch from the nations capital into New Jersey however.

Pleasantly cool midday temperatures in the 70s and low 80s dominated much of the weather map, extending from the middle and north Atlantic states into the Mississippi valley, the central and northern plains and the Rockies and plateau regions. Along the Pacific coast and in the extreme northern portions of the Rockies and plains cooler 60s were noted, while a few 90s were scattered through Florida and Georgia and the 100s were showing up in the desert southwest.

Today it will be cooler from the northern plateau eastward thru the northern and central plains to the Great Lakes and upper Ohio valley. Warmer and humid from the southern Appalachians into New England with continued warm and humid from conditions in the southland southeastern states and along the Gulf coast. Widely scattered showers and thundershowers may develop today, mainly in the afternoon and evening, from New England westward to the Ohio valley and southward to the south Atlantic and Gulf Coast regions. Isolated thundershowers are also expected over the Rockies and northern plains.

'Intimate' House

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Wilson, the versatile Londoner who scored internationally with "The Boy Friend," has written the book, music and lyrics for "Valmouth."

The report from the South of France, where Wilson is working, is that he wanted an intimate house for his new show rather than open on Broadway.

So it is that "Valmouth — an imaginery Edwardian watering-place — will open at the York Playhouse, off-Broadway, Oct. 5.

Two Die On Sidewalk

LYME REGIS, England (AP)— A five-ton truck ran out of control on a main street Saturday and plowed through pedestrians on the sidewalk. Two persons were killed and 13 others injured. The truck, carrying 29 Boy Scouts home from a camping trip, finally ran into a stationary railroad car on a siding and stopped. The scouts were unhurt. The dead were a girl, 3, and a woman, 70.

AND NATIONAL PLATFORM

Passman Reaffirms Dislike Of Demos

Congressman Otto E. Passman today will be returning to Washington for the remainder of the Congressional session, and he said yesterday in Monroe that he will be going as a Democrat — "just as I was 14 years ago, when I first went to Congress to serve the people" — but not, however, as a supporter of the Democratic Presidential ticket or the "extremist philosophies" espoused by the nominees.

Senators Kennedy and Johnson, the party's candidates, must "necessarily limit their claims to being Democrats to bearing the name only," he said.

He has no intention, he reasserted, of supporting the "NAACP-drafted platform planks" of the national party, some of which, he said, "not only invite, but promise to protect open violence." Similarly, he reiterated his "unyielding opposition" to the platform's "socialistic philosophies."

Congressman Passman declared it to be his "candid opinion, based upon considered judgment, that unless the people of America reject the Democratic nominees and radical platform proposals with an avalanche of protest votes, then never again in our lifetime, or the lifetime of our children, will we know America as we have known it, or as we know it today."

He warned that "with a Democratic victory minority groups would have acquired a license to trample the rights of those who have worked so hard and successfully to protect and advance the rights of all — and, sad though it would be, they would be doing so with government encouragement."

He added:

"In my opinion, a Democratic national party defeat this year is far more important than a Republican victory. If the party can be brought to its senses, maybe that will serve to reverse the radical trend which is so prevalent in our party, and those things for which we, as Democrats, have stood in the past will prevail again in the future. Therefore, my acts are in the interest of helping to discipline our party for the good of generations that are to follow us.

"Regardless of the consequences of my present position, firm belief in the principles for which I have stood all my life prompts me to think of the next generation, rather than the next election."

Traffic Crashes Fatal For Five

By UPI

At least five persons have been killed in traffic accidents in Mississippi since Friday morning, a UPI survey showed Saturday.

Mason Jack, a Merician Negro, was killed early Saturday when his car collided with another automobile on U.S. 45 near Meridian.

Injured was the other driver, Walter Grantham of Porterville.

Mrs. Willie B. Monnell, 50, of Midway City, Calif. was killed Friday night when she lost control of her car on U.S. 82 near Itta Bena and it hit a tree.

Myrtle Kent, wife of Waynesboro Negro school principal W. D. Kent, was killed and her husband injured in a two-car collision on U. S. 84 near Waynesboro late Friday.

Claims 30,000 Miles

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP)—The tiny, hereditary Kingdom of Toro in western Uganda is laying claim to 30,000 square miles of territory in the eastern Congo which adjoins its borders. But Britain, which rules Toro as part of Uganda Protectorate, "regretted" officially Friday that it could not give the kingdom its support. Toro maintains that the territory claimed—mostly in Kivu Province—was for 600 years under Toro jurisdiction until the treaty at the turn of the century altered Africa's political boundary lines.

IN EARLY LASALLE
Money Scarce

By E. W. PLUMMER
Special Correspondent

The earliest settlers in what is now LaSalle Parish depended on products of the soil and wild game for their livlihood. Money was a scarce item.

They established their homes along the shores of Old River, French Fork, Catahoula Lake, and the northern shore of Little River. This is above the lake where the highlands border on this beautiful stream in a series of picturesque bluffs.

Water navigation was necessary to these pioneers because in the 1770's when these settlements began, there were neither roads nor bridges in this territory, which was then a part of County of Rapides.

IMPORTANT

During the late 1700's and up to 1803, date of the Louisiana Purchase, Catahoula Prairie, which was located on the northern shore of Old river in the vicinity of the present traffic bridge, was the most important outpost between Black Bayou (now Trinity) and Alexandria.

The earliest resident of Catahoula Prairie of whom there is record was Nicholas Levine, a dapper Frenchman who was commandante of Fort Goerge IV, which was the center of the community. This French fort and trading post not only gave protection to the settlers from outlaws and Indians, but was a trading post where trappers could exchange their furs for ammunition and other commodities.

This fort and trading post was located on what is now the Joseph Kuhn estate one mile west of White Hall. Face brick of which it was constructed as well as both French and Spanish coins are yet found in its ruins.

PASSPORT

When a stranger wanted to go from Natchez to Alexandria, it was necessary that he have a passport from Commandante Joseph Vidal, for whom Vidalia was named, who sent a guard with him to Commandante Don Huan Herbard of Black River (now Trinity) who furnished another guard with him to Fort George IV where Commandante Nicholas Levine furnished a guard to Alexandria by way of Walkers ferry where David Jones operated a "public house," the only resting place between Fore George IV and Alexandria.

The early settlers spent very little money. A little salt, a few pounds of sugar and coffee, some cooking utensils, lead for making bullets, percussion caps for muzzle - loading guns, and gunpowder were the only indispensibles. The women wove cloth of both cotton and wool produced on the farm from which they made the family clothing on hand - operated looms. The yarn they used, both for knitting hosiery and making cloth, was spun on spinningwheels. They made their bread from corn grown on the farm and supplemented their domestic meat supply with that of deer, bear, turkeys and other wild game which abounded in the virgin forests.

The first general merchandise store of Catahoula Prairie was opened by Oliver Morgan and John Henry in the year 1807 at Rhineheardt's steamboat landing on the northern bank of Old River near the present Highway 84 traffic bridge at a point now known as Golden's boat landing.

Morgan and Henry's store was the only one of its type between Harrisonburg and Alexandria, hence was patronized by the people living within a twenty - mile radius of Catahoula Prairie.

The following bill of goods was bought from this store on March 6, 1807, by James White, a farmer and trapper who at that time was considered "well fixed":

"52½ lbs. coffee, $32.06½; 102 lbs. sugar, $20.37½; 1 demi john gin, $10.00; 21 lbs. shot, $7.87½; 13 lbs. lead, $3.25; 6 lbs. chocolate, $3.75; 3 yds. blue guinea, $2.11; 1 bu. salt, $2.50; 1 caret tobacco, $1.00; 2 bottles wine.

YEARLY SUPPLY

White's yearly supply of goods listed above shows what the people bought from stores in that era and the prices they paid for them. It is also interesting to note that such modern "necessities" as flour, meat, shortening, baking powder, shoes hats, clothing, and many other items do not appear on this bill.

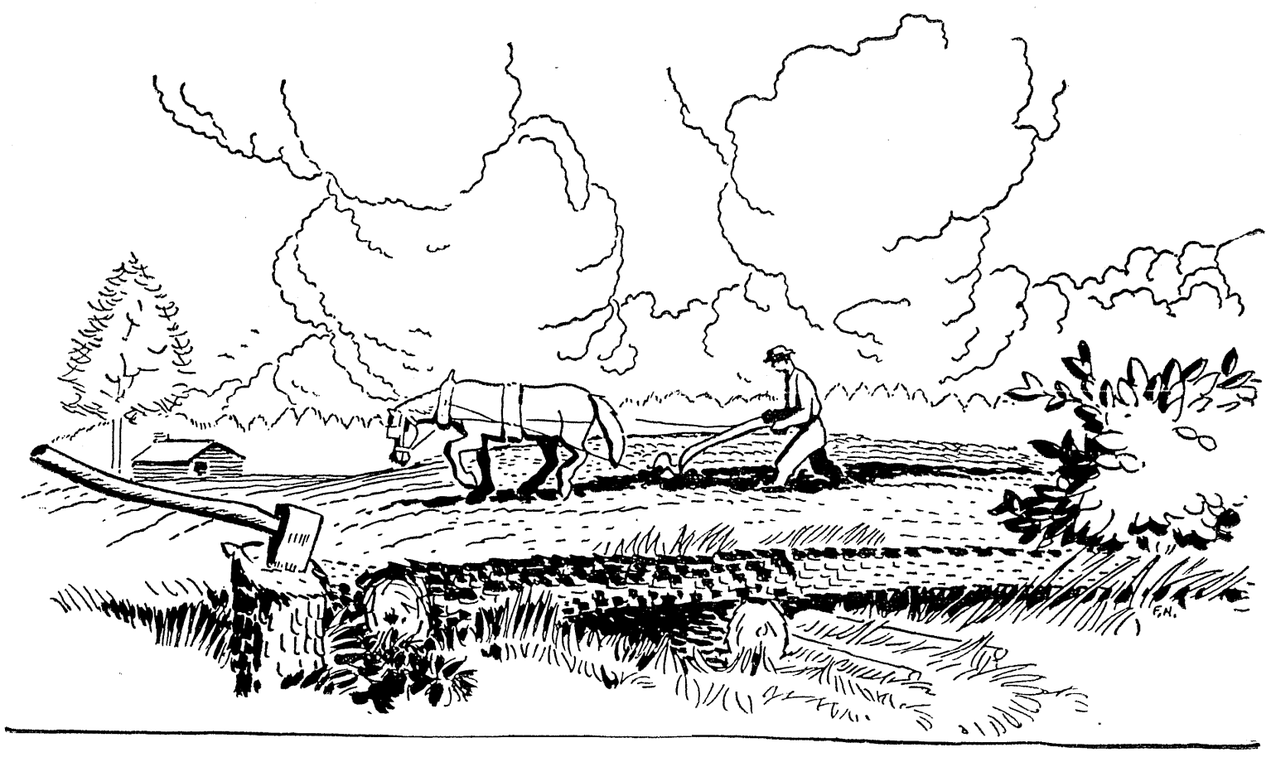
In 1835, Truman A. Breithaupt, a native of Milah, Germany, who came to Catahoula Prairie in the 1820's, built an imposing home on a beautiful prominence overlooking the fertile valleys of Old River and French Fork where he had acquired thousands of acres of land from the federal government by preemption, and named it "White Hall."

Breithaupt paid a premium price for a Negro slave who was very skilled in carpentry to do the finishing wood work, mantles, cabinets, tables, and shelving, while he, a mason skilled in ceramics, constructed kilns and burned the brick for the basement story, flues, and chimneys from native clay.

PRODUCT

Everything that went into this house except the glass windows, nails and hardware was product of the immediate surroundings, and mostly hand - made. All demension timbers used in the house - bills, floor an deeiling joints, studs, and rafters were hand - hewn to exact measurements from logs. The roof was of riven hand - drawn heart cypress shingles. The outer and inner walls and floors were of hand-planed lumber. As the name signifies, the structure was painted white. White Hall was in an almost perfect state of preservation and had its atmosphere of days gone by when it was partially demolished and converted into a modern home a few years back.

Catahoula Prairie is no more. Even the postoffice was named "Rhineheardt" (the "d" was was dropped), the church has become Pine Grove, and the school, which was established in the 1850's, has been consolidated with Jena. The whole community is now known as "White Hall."



Early Settlers In The LaSalle Parish Area Had To Be Resourceful.

SCIENTIST MAKES COMPARISON
Hurricanes 'Like Girls'

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — "Hurricanes," observes a lanky young scientist who flies into the eye of such storms, "hurricanes are as individual as the girls they are named after.

"Yet, like girls, they are all similar."

The great problem is hurricanes are unpredictable, "but now we are beginning at least to know what a hurricane is," said Dr. N. E. Laseur, professor of meteorology at Florida State University.

Dr. Laseur has flown into hurricane eyes more than 30 times in participating in the National Hurricane Research Project, directed by the Weather Bureau in Miami. Florida State is one of four universities cooperating in the project.

DARING FLIGHTS

Daring flights into the center of hurricanes began in 1943 with a flight by Col. Joseph B. Duckworth of the Army Air Corps. A year or two later, Navy and Air Force planes were making routine reconnaissance flights to locate and warn of hurricanes, and try to track them. Meteorologists rode in, too, seeking basic knowledge about these vicious storms.

Christopher Columbus ran afoul of a couple of hurricanes. Jesuit scientists half a century ago had developed some signs for predicting their approach from sea waves and swells. Weather Bureau and commercial ships' observations before World War I added more knowledge.

Boring in and through by airplane has greatly advanced understanding of hurricanes, Dr. Laseur adds, especially since development of improved instruments to measure wind, ground and air speeds, better navigational equipment, recording and photographic equipment, and radar.

RESEARCH

The research project now is leasing two DC6's and a Btu from the Air Force for specially-instrumented hurricane and related weather research.

Air Force and Navy pilots and crews and scientists now have made scores of penetrations into hurricanes. It is hazardous business. One hurricane plane has been lost in the Atlantic, and half a dozen in the Pacific.

At heights of 500 to 1,000 feet over the ocean in a hurricane, the airplane bucks with short-choppy, vibrating turbulence. At higher altitudes it may suddenly drop or rise with force equal to two or three times the pull of gravity.

Five or six miles high the clouds seen from within the eye may be gleaming white, or black and ominous, depending upon the sunlighting.

It is near the eye, around which a wall of clouds rises to as high as 10 miles, that almost all of the energy of the storm is generated. Yet the eye covers only about two per cent of all the area of the great storm.

The ring of cloud around the eye is somewhat like a circular thunderstorm, 15 to 40 miles in diameter. Lightning and thunder flash and roar.

Air is sucked in, rises as in a chimney, and flows out. The hurricane is driven by tremendous amounts of heat generated as water condenses while rising in the wall of cloud.

POWERFUL

The storm's energy is equal to that of several A-bombs exploding every second.

"Trying to break this process up by exploding an H-bomb would be like a flea biting an elephant," Dr. Laseur continues.

Weather satellites circling the earth could help locate cloud patterns, or be helpful in tracking a known hurricane, he says.

But the trouble is that, so far, even continuous tracking, by airplane or other means, doesn't tell you where the hurricane is going to go eventually. Too little is known about weather in general and all the forces involved in hurricanes. These storms are "symptoms of the entire atmosphere, and the circulation over the Northern Hemisphere."

'Turns To Gold Dust'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Florida's famous sand is turning into gold dust for many investors in the big land boom.

Paul McCutcheon, a florist, in 1946 paid $6,000 for the equivalent of three blocks in St. Petersburg, in a sink hole known as Goose Pond. In 1953, he sold two of the blocks for $250,000.

McCutcheon is happily holding on to his third block, figuring it will soon bring him another quarter of a million. Montgomery Ward has paid a cool million for 10 acres just north of McCutcheon's property.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Mero invested $9,500 in 321 acres of raw land near Daytona Beach in 1952, held it seven years and sold it to a development firm for $199,500.

WORK STARTED

Four years ago the Mackle Co. and General Development Corp., the nation's biggest community building team, paid four million dollars for 92,000 acres of prime land on the southwestern Gulf Coast and started work on the city of Port Charlotte.

What is that land worth now? "If we were offered 250 million dollars," says Frank Mackle Jr., "we wouldn't even consider it."

A sergeant mustered out of the Air Force in 1953 invested a few hundred dollars in a bowling alley and oceanfront lot at Cocoa Beach, in the flourishing Cape Canaveral area. Today he is associated with a construction company and five major hotels.

A barber who moved from Indiana in 1953 picked up six lots at Cocoa Beach for $6,000. His property is worth about $90,000 now but he isn't selling. He lives well on several thousand dollars a year he collects in rentals.

REMINISCENT

These stories seem reminiscent of the Florida boom of the '20s but the cases are hardly parallel.

In the earlier boom, purchase contracts known as binder agreements were exchanged instead of cash as land was sold and resold, with the price spiraling upward on each transaction. When the crash came, the losses were mostly on paper.

Today, hard cash goes into Florida land. Investment capital is rolling into the state in record volume. The boom is supported by thousands of new industries moving down from the north and by a population explosion.

One builder of higher priced homes demands two-thirds down and says the majority of purchasers pay the full price in cash.

All over the southern two-thirds of Florida, the boom has blossomed stupendously since the end of World War II.

In northern Florida, values have risen more conservatively. Around Jacksonville, real estate firms report that prices have merely doubled in the past decade.

In the Gulf Coast areas of the Florida panhandle, however, there have been sharp jumps in values of beach properties.

In the Fort Walton area, the value of 75-foot beach lots has jumped from $1,000 to $8,000 in 10 years. In Tallahassee, lots in the Betton Hills subdivision were sold for $800 shortly after the war but cost from $3,500 to $5,000 now.

Out-of-state buyers of Florida real estate are protected from shady operators by a state law requiring that the truth be told in advertising in other states.

The State Real Estate Commission inspects all properties advertised in the north and reports that these lands are all desirable and, for the most part, offered by reputable developers.

THEORY

The theory under the law has been that land-wise Floridians could take care of themselves in the shuffle, but this isn't always true.

In recent months, Miami promoters have been doing a good business in sales to Floridians of plots in a wild, watery Everglades tract 40 miles west of Miami. Advertising within the state did not disclose the true condition of this playground for alligators.

Florida real estate editors reported these examples of startling transactions:

Miami — Most spectacular recent deal was made by auto dealer Dick Fincher and a retired tomato shipper, James Cerniglia. They bought an 11,000-acre tomato farm and unloaded it six weeks later for a profit of $750,000.

Orlando—A lot on West Washington St. near Orange Ave., the city's main stem, was sold in 1943 for $12,000. Pieces of the 87 by 175 foot lot have been sold since 1946 for a total of $170,000 and the balance now is listed at $73,500.

HOLLYWOOD — As more industries locate in this area, prices for industrial property have soared. Five years ago a 33-acre commercial tract bore a price tag of $75,000. Recently it was sold for $315,000.

Bubbling Syllables Fading

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — The elderly Indian pronounces strange, bubbling, syllables into the microphone held by his friend. In this way one of the most cherished remnants of Nez Perce Indian pride is being saved.

The sessions with a tape recorder bring togethher Marcus Ware, Lewiston attorney with an interest in linguistics, and a Nez Perce, Corbett Lawyer.

FEW REMAIN

"We know only too well that the Nez Perce language is dying out as a spoken tongue," says Ware. 'If it is to be preserved it must be recorded now while there are still men and women of the tribe who speak it.'

The handful of Indians who can speak the "pure" language of Chief Joseph live on a reservation at Lapwai, near here.

Joseph, one of the Northwest's best known chiefs, led the Nez Perces on their last battles in the late 1870's. Considered a brilliant tactician against cavalry troop he appears in history books to have been a man of uncommon ability also in the use of language.

His frequently quoted words when he decided to surrender his tribe in 1877 were, "Hear me, my chiefs. I am tired; my heart is sick and sad. From where the sun now stands I will fight no more."

And as a defeated chief he appealed with eloquence, "I know that my race must change. We cannot hold our own with the white men as we are. We only ask an even chance to live as other men live . . . We ask that the same law shall work alike on all men. . . ."

Though the tribe that produced Chief Joseph has been known for its courage and character as far back as the journey of Lewis and Clark, its language has never been studied in the light of modern linguistics.

The tapes the two men produce are being sent to the University of California for study, Ware says. The Nez Perce syllables, some of them deeply guttural, would be difficult to record in written form. But the recorded sounds may be studied at leisure by linguistic experts.

In addition to the memories of tribal glory, the Indians have their own folk tales and legends which may be permanently set down in increasing numbers once the language is preserved.

Popcorn Poll Revived

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Now that the presidential campaign is building up, the popcorn eater will once more be tapped as a political barometer.

Almost every time he buys a bag or a box, the popcorn muncher will be registering his choice for president. According to popcorn manufacturer Jim Blevins, who originated the gimmick in 1948, that means 35 million "votes."

In 1948 when professional pollsters and just about everyone else picked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to defeat President Harry S. Truman, Blevins' popcorn poll indicated a Truman victory. In 1952 his poll accurately predicted the returns from all but one of the 48 states. In 1956, 25 million popcorn eaters called the election result right on the nose.

PEDDLES

Blevins, who peddles popcorn around the world from his Popcorn Village headquarters at Nashville and plants at Ridgeway, Ill., and North Bend, Neb., is sailing into this year's presidential poll with elaborate plans.

Here's how it works. Every time the muncher buys a box or bag of popcorn he'll have a chance to pick a red, white and blue container emblazoned with the names of either the Republican or Democratic candidates for president and vice president. Most of the sales are in movie theaters. This year the poll is being extended to supermarkets and state fairs.

Tabulations of the results will go up outside the local theaters. They are also forwarded to Blevins' headquarters for auditing.

Popcorn Village, which will have about 20 girls compiling poll results, will issue its first national poll result by Sept. 1. Five other reports will follow, with the last Nov. 1.

REFLECT

What about the huge number of children or persons under voting age who buy popcorn? They reflect the thinking at home," he said.

Political neutrals or those reluctant to commit themselves? They are extremely rare, he says, but plain boxes are provided, just in case.

The purpose of the gimmick is a reminder to vote. Blevins feels it is effective. What makes him just as happy is his theory that registering a vote in the poll supplies an impulse to buy. He expects popcorn sales during August, September and October to increase 25 per cent.

When television cut into his movie theater popcorn sales by shrinking audiences, Blevins started pushing unpopped corn. It is now a major product.

"Used to be 90 per cent of my corn went into the movie house," he says. "But I saw the movie change coming and set up a retail program so more folks would pop their own while watching television."

Blevins is an Horatio Alger type who did it with enthusiasm, pressagentry and a hybrid popcorn developed at Purdue and Iowa State. He is full of facts and figures about his favorite food. But he won't disclose whether he eats out of the Democratic or Republican box—and he won't predict poll results.

Many See Site Of Hoover Dam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hoover Dam was opened to guided tours in 1937 and people have been flocking to the place ever since. So many have viewed the big multi-purpose structure that the eight millionth visitor is expected early in September.

L. J. Hudlow, who supervises Hoover Dam for the Bureau of Reclamation, will greet the eight millionth visitor at the ticket window atop the 726-foot-high concrete dam and personally conduct him or her on a special tour. State and local officials will commemorate the occasion in a brief ceremony.

A record 472,639 persons took the guided tour through Hoover Dam last year to exceed the previous high set in 1957 by 11,645.

Louisiana's Resources And Senator Kennedy

Building Himself A Foundation

The Record

Since the first Democratic administration—meaning Senator Kennedy as President—

The voting records of Senator Kennedy and Vice President Nixon as members of both the House and Senate are available to the public. Both entered Congress as members of the House of Representatives at the same time — Lyndon Baines Johnson elected to the Senate. Further the record of the Democratic Party in the Executive Branch in the federal government for nearly 28 years is a matter of history. It is there for all to see.

Thus the question:

1. Is it better for Louisiana that Senator Kennedy has voted steadily against legislation upholding tidelands interests of the Gulf Coast states, and also against the welfare of the oil and gas industry of Louisiana and other Southern states.

2. Every vote cast by Nixon as both a member of the House and of the Senate has been for the interests of the Gulf states and also for the welfare of the oil and gas industry.

3. The many tidelands legislation in behalf of the Gulf states ever enacted into federal law came under the Eisenhower administration in 1953. It was in a full keeping of the pledge made by Mr. Eisenhower during his 1952 campaign through Texas and Louisiana, including a stop at Shreveport. Kennedy voted against this law as a Senator. Nixon as Vice President had no vote but publicly announced his support of the bill.

4. Two bills favorable to tidelands interests of the Gulf States were vetoed by a Democratic President — Harry S. Truman — in 1947 and 1948.

The long series of steps by which the federal government has sought to deprive Gulf states of mineral resources beneath their offshore waters began in 1937 under Franklin D. Roosevelt through initiation by his Secretary of Interior, Harold Ickes. This appropriation was carried on by Truman with Presidential proclamations "seizing" offshore underwater areas as well as with vetoes of legislation by Congress. Only under Eisenhower has there been White House support for the tidelands cause of the Gulf states.

In 1952 when Senator Ellender of Louisiana refused to campaign for Democrat Adlai Stevenson when the latter came out against the tidelands rights of the Gulf States. But when Eisenhower came out for those rights, Senator Kennedy, now Kennedy's running mate, announced he would campaign for Stevenson if "offset by any Democratic Texas to revolt."

Tidelands is not an issue of welfare of "big oil companies." They don't give a hoot whether they pay taxes, lease or royalty money to a state government or to a federal government. It's the same amount either way.

As of now, under a Supreme Court decision, such revenue from beyond "three miles out" from Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama goes to the federal government—with $600,000,000 in escrow. But the same decision gave Texas and Florida jurisdiction over an area of up to 10½ miles out. If Louisiana could get a similar deal it could get a portion of both present escrow and future tidelands money.

Congress can determine this by legislation as to where the measuring of "three miles out" starts. That's what makes the whole issue one of having but only a little

Tidelanders

Senate, April 2, 1952: On amendment by Hill of Alabama to earmark all tidelands revenue for federal aid to education, Nixon voted for the Hill and Kennedy for the amendment. Kennedy voted against the Holland resolution and thus to preserve the amendment.

Senate, April 21, 1952: On the above, Nixon voted for the bill and Kennedy was absent, although present earlier in the day to vote on the Holland resolution. The bill gave the states the rights to offshore mineral deposits within their boundaries.

Senate, July 10, 1953: Virtually the same bill as above (all seen constructed) following Eisenhower's campaign pledge to sign it if passed. On final passage, Kennedy voted against the bill. Nixon had by this as Vice-President but announced in the Senate that if voting he would vote for the bill.

Oil And Gas

House, August 7, 1948: On bill to free natural gas producers from Federal Power Commission control, Nixon voted for the bill and Kennedy was paired against it.

House, March 17, 1954: On a Senate bill virtually the same as above, Kennedy voted against it and Nixon was absent. The bill passed and Democratic President Truman vetoed it.

Senate, March 17, 1954: Natural gas pipeline bill prohibiting FPC from regulating utilities transporting natural gas within state boundaries if the state certifies it has regulatory judgement. The only record bill was to a resolution to kill the bill by recommitting to Committee. Kennedy voted for the resolution, meaning to kill the bill. As Vice President, Nixon had no vote.

Note: President Eisenhower expressing opposition to provisions of the bill vetoed it. Nixon as Senator stated on the floor that he had been improperly approached with offers of campaign contributions by an oil company interested in passage of the bill.

Senate, August 11, 1958: Kennedy voted against a straight cut of the oil depletion allowance from 27½ per cent down to 15 per cent, but voted for an amendment to make the cut to 15 per cent under a sliding scale in accordance with oil income.

Presidentail Action

Eisenhower, 1953: Signed the only tidelands bill to come before him — the only legislation of this type enacted into law under any administration.

Truman, 1946: Sought by presidential proclamation to place all offshore minerals deposits under federal ownership. Later ordered his Attorney General to bring suit against California to gain federal control of the offshore minerals.

August 5, 1947: Truman vetoed bill to confirm rights of states to tidelands mineral deposits. Neither Kennedy nor Nixon were in Congress when this bill was passed by the House in September 1946.

September, 1952: Democratic Candidate Adlai Stevenson affirmed his support of federal claims to tidelands. Senator Ellender of Louisiana announced that, because of this, he would not campaign for Stevenson. Senator Johnson and Speaker Rayburn were quoted in an article by Jay Walz in the New York Times, reprinted in the New Orleans States, as announcing they would campaign to offset any Texas Democratic revolt on the tidelands issue. Eisenhower made his pledge to sign a tidelands bill if elected.

January 16, 1953: As one of his last acts in office, Truman again sought to deprive states of any offshore mineral rights by proclaiming them to be naval reserves.

Casting Protest Ballots

Persons Who Voted For Norman Thomas Were Often Voting Against Others

The history of man is replete with lost causes, with high hopes that disappear like a river in a desert. There are men and women in the United States who used to vote for Norman Thomas as an expression of protest against the inadequacy to cope with problems of life in any day. Voted for Norman Thomas as a protest against the unbearable.

The first glow of the New Deal accepted many of the ideas of the reformers of Socialism, the social Democrats accepted some of the ideas of the Bakunin anarchists. Emma Goldman would be regarded as a reactionary square in 1960 by many young ladies.

What happens is that ideas perfect the day may require ridicule of the reactionary or the radical, at the Right or the Left, at those who advocate great changes and those who believe that the changes are already too great. The historic fact is that the mind of man reverts to thoughts and solutions which at the time of either held to be true. When President Eisenhower scolded those who walk neither in the Left nor the Right gutter but remain in the middle of the road, he employed a metaphor which in these days is absurd because whenever it does traffic by walking down the middle of the road would be arrested as a jay walker.

President Eisenhower was not the never fair a lost cause because he is a man of the moment, a man of destiny. Perhaps that is why he is so beloved. His very popularity satisfies a need in the hearts of many millions — the need for a man who is really a man of the people, a man who is not afraid to say what he thinks on any issue from several standpoints.

Senator Barry Goldwater is a characteristically Lost Cause. There are always such men and they become very attractive to a particular following. Robert A. Taft was such a man. He once sat up here in the Berkshires on a summer day and we were discussing his chances for the presidency. I cannot forget the intensity because at that moment Taft displayed the full characteristics of a New England Lost Cause. He would not by statement or gesture, give ground at all for his own advantage.

Barry Goldwater rose to ask his followers not to violate party unity by voting for him. That is all right, but the man will never have to win small battles when there is a great war to be fought. Franklin Roosevelt made the mistake of organizing the Progressive Party prematurely. He did not create a new party, he lost an element for the Republican party. His influence was shattered.

The fighter for a Cause always faces the question whether he is to fight from inside or go altogether to the outside and battle against the stone walls. The Republican party started as a radical party, opposed to the theory of state's rights, favoring the Hamiltonian idea of federal authority and by the time of Theodore Roosevelt coming close to a radical state with imperialistic designs. Thus, a party which started with such social radicals as Horace Greeley and John Fremont by the beginning of the 20th Century included such economic radicals as Mark Hanna and John D. Rockefeller.

Appeal To Farmer

Farm Planks In Platforms Just Shy Of 'Pie In Sky'

The farm planks in the Democratic and Republican platforms understandably were written to appeal to the American farm vote but the true test of what kind of will be done to help the farmer must necessarily rest with Congress.

As of now it is difficult to determine which party is willing to offer more since both farm planks smack just shy of a pie-in-the-sky approach. On their vagueness the two platforms would lead one to believe this economy can subsidize farm surpluses every farmer can make a decent living and full employment nobody can be laid to a minimum.

Two of only multiple choices of those sure to be yes — and all the experts have tried — had some of with a solution to this most intricate of American economic problems.

In the weeks ahead the Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates will remove some of the mystery of where they actually stand on the farm issue but here again these will have to campaign promises which must be implemented by Congress.

There is no reason to believe that some of the harsh feeling toward farmers prevalent in recent years in Congress in the part of many urban area Republicans and Democrats will not carry over in the new session of Congress getting underway in January.

The continuing fight which Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has waged with Congress over the past two years seems sure to be repeated for whomever is chosen as the successor. No major policies emanating from the Department of Agriculture are receiving Capitol Hill in the form of proposed legislation has much of a chance of arriving alive and of healthy state.

While Republican Presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon has promised to overhaul the whole of the farm program, only some time in September he has already let drop a few hints which are bound to raise Democratic hackles.

Before leaving Chicago and the Republican fold he talked to the farm problem in an effort to farmers but it Government plan was designed to increase farm [illegible]

Democratic Vice Presidential nominee Lyndon Johnson, are in general agreement that this country will have to make great use of food surpluses to help underdeveloped areas abroad and to build strategic reserves for national and international emergencies since it is rather difficult to eliminate surpluses by encouraging farmers to plant less when need this is an good way out for all concerned.

The two parties also are agreed on a substantial land-conservation program as a means of reducing surpluses. So this means that regardless of who occupies the White House in January farmers are likely to come in for a huge windfall for returning some of their crop land to trees and grass. This, of course, assumes that party pledges will be carried out and Congress is willing to appropriate the money. When the candidates have had their say on these grave issues in November may be possible to make a clear-cut choice. But they want a farm program that is relatively free from control by voluntary programs or are they ready to go into a managed economy with production and price controls?

Pleasure In Spending

Self Made Millionaire Not As Happy As Heir To Money

NEW YORK (AP)—Executive [illegible] of a basement flat.

He or [illegible] a man who inherited money. He is [illegible] a spender.

Money is one of the most great pleasures of life and it is [illegible] it. Few [illegible] of the great [illegible] is to take [illegible] a fat [illegible] money [illegible] paid [illegible] for [illegible] never [illegible] a better [illegible] payment.

There are a number of ways of acquiring money and [illegible] are a means to a more [illegible] enjoy the fruit you get from it. The average man's system of [illegible] money. This proves again the instinctive wisdom of the common man. He knows what is best for him.

There are those who boast that only money earned by the sweat [illegible] a man and give him character. But this is [illegible] if it's a family [illegible] it could either cast of character and sometimes we wind up with [illegible] much of both.

Show me a self-made millionaire and, in most cases, I'll show you a man with a padlock on his pocketbook who spends with a limited sense of joy because he is too aware of how much toil and lost sleep his money cost him. What he really enjoys more is bragging about how poor he was as a youth, and how many sacrifices he had to make to become rich. He has become a moneyed martyr.

But show me a man who has inherited a million dollars, and I'll show you a man who will get five million dollars worth of mileage out of his fortune. Spared the agony of having had to earn it, he finds double pleasure in every dollar he spends.

The average man in this life is a stranger at the next payday and the next pay hike.

If he's a [illegible] at work and [illegible] a $10 raise, he starts [illegible] it going at a $100 clip. When he does get the extra ten [illegible] it's less an indulgence [illegible] of living. He has already [illegible] to $5 a week beyond his means.

I am no better off than I was before the money.

Here we come to the key to the [illegible] money into [illegible] You only [illegible] it around in circles—and it's gone.

Inherited money [illegible] with that way. Suppose you have a penny and with that penny [illegible] much money he rules it to the [illegible] of trees.

Naturally, when he passes to his eternal reward you will be [illegible] in the will. But how much will you get?

Who knows how much one old miser has really got squirreled away? you muse. Maybe he'll leave me $100,000.

Fulbright Hopes Lodge To Resign U.N. Post Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) said Saturday he hopes that Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican vice presidential nominee, will resign soon as U. S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, added nothing would contribute more to showing U. S. unity than for President Eisenhower to name Adlai E. Stevenson as Lodge's successor.

Fulbright told the Senate he can't escape the feeling that Lodge, a former senator from Massachusetts, must find it most difficult to keep his mind on his U. N. duties in view of the election campaign that lies ahead.

He observed that Lodge had just named a press officer for his campaign and said this is clear evidence that the chief U. S. spokesman at the U.N. is preoccupied with the coming campaign.

Guide To Good Reading

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

The reading public of Ouachita Parish is excited over the fact that a Monroe man has had a first novel published this past week. The author is Jack Ansell and the title of the book is "His Brother the Bear." This is quite an occasion and people are eagerly looking forward to reading this book. It has it's setting in a Louisiana town, similar to Monroe and many people will find familiar references in the writing. It is well written and has secured very favorable reports from the literary critics. It was published by one of the largest publishing firms in the country and they believe that it will be immensely popular. We are very proud of Mr. Ansell and the library is well - equipped to fill requests for this title. Another new book of fiction which will be well - received is "The Numbered Account" by Ann Bridge. The author has been writing stories of international adventure and intrigue for many years and this one would be as good as her former titles. Many of the patrons of the Ouachita Parish Public Library enjoy reading mystery stories, an exciting one is "Follow Me" by Helen Reilly. It has it's setting in New York City and in Sante Fe, New Mexico. It is a story of greed and love of money and how it affected a number of otherwise very nice people.

New non - fiction titles will interest a wide variety of readers. A beautiful new book is "The Tomb of St. Peter" written by Margherita Guarducci. Many readers have expressed a desire for more information about Zen. A new title on this subject is "Zen Comes West" written by Christmas Humphreys. In a presidential year a very timely book is "The People's Choice" written by William B. Brown and published by the L.S.U. press. Mr. Brown discusses the influence of campaign biographies and the image which they wish to present to the people. A particularly beautiful new book is "This American Earth" written by Ansel Adams and photographed by Nancy Newhall. Have you ever though that you would like to live in a Cooperative apartment as many city dwellers do? If so, you would be interested in "The Co-op Apartment" by Harold N. Vogle. In the field of economics a new book is "Capital, Interest and Profits" by Burton S. Keirstead. A branch of our government which does very valuable work is "The United States Secret Service" a new book about them has been written by Walter S. Bowen. A particularly valuable new book is "Life Insurance" written by Dan D. McGill. This book should be read by the person selling it and also by the buyer. Two new books in the field of mathematics are: "An Introduction to modern Mathematics" by Robert W. Sloan and "A Contract Approach to Abstract Algebra" by W. W. "How To Make Fishmounts and Other Fish Trophies" by Edward C. Migdalski will be widely used by men who have this sort of hobby. Many people will want to see a new book called "New Hope for your Hair" by Irwin I. Lubowe.

"Small Fruits for your Home Garden"' by Harold Clarke is a book which will interest all who do this type of gardening. "Poultry Production" by Clarence C. Bundy will help poultry raisers. "The Common Sense Book of Puppy and Dog Care" by Harry Miller contains invaluable information. Another book for the farmer is "Beekeeping" by John E. Eckert. If your home needs small repairs the library has a book for you. It is called "How-To for Home Owners" and was written by Marvin T. Forster. "Today's Business Machines" by Harrison Fisher is a very excellent title, which should be used by a great many people. People engaged in the advertising business will want to see "A Handbook of Public Relations" by Howard Stephenson. "Petroleum Engineering; Drilling and Well Completions" by Carl Gatlin is a very fine technical book.

The field of fine arts has been enriched by a number of lovely books "Writings and Buildings" by Frank Lloyd Wright is a complete account of his philosphy. "Normand's Parallel of the Orders of Architecture, Greek, Roman and Renaissance" is a distinct addition to the library collection. Books of coins are always in demand. The latest one is called "Guide Book of U. S. Coins, 1961" and was written by Richard S. Yeoman.

HIS BROTHER, THE BEAR

Local Man's First Book Seems Good

HIS BROTHER, THE BEAR By Jack Ansel (Doubleday, $3.95).

This is an interesting novel, to say the least, and it is provocative about a decisive day in the lives of the Julian Black family in a town called Mannerville, Louisiana.

The decisive day was a day when Julian Black, who had been raised a devout Jew, but then who had been caught up by snobbish values of social success, would finally have to choose between two ways of life.

No mater what his choice was, Julian knew he would have to answer to the acid recriminations of his wife, Evelyn, who had her own reasons for marrying into the Jewish community and her own reasons for despising her husband.

But Black could not have foreseen how the course of his life would be altered when his irresponsible son returend and when his daughter fell radiantly in love with the son of a man Black had wronged.

How Black met and solved these various programs, plus the background and side events in the lives of people involved with Julian makes for interesting reading throughout most of the book.

However, there are parts that drag a little, but on the whole, the book is well done and is excellent for a first book.

After editing his high school newspaper, Ansell studied journalism at the University and languages at Louisiana State University before the Army interruped his college career when he was 18. In the Army, he was stationed in the Phillippines, where he served as a member of the counter intelligence corps.

At one time, Ansell wrote a column for his hometown newspaper and also was a television executive.

Colette Was Her Name; Fairly Good

COLETTE. By Elaine Marks. Rutgers. $5.

On this book jacket is a photograph of Colette. In the background sits the inevitable cat. The woman herself — novelist, dramatist, short-story writer, newspaperwoman, essayist, critic, beautician, actress, nature-lover, wife and mistress — wears a black coat, a shawl around her neck, and two rings on the somewhat pudgy fingers which, bent, rest against the point of her chin. A ball of frizzy black hair surmounts the round face. The eyes, made up heavily, look out at you with a most complex air: challenging, quizzical, mercilessly penetrating, and almost embarrassingly inviting.

Colette was born in 1873 in a small village, and her 17 years there gave her a sound bourgeois core. She died in 1954. Her first novel came out in 1900, and her last big work in 1949, with some 15 volumes in all. She was married three times, to Willy, who thought her writing so good he unscrupulously cribbed it but who did get her into the writing habit; to Henri de Jouvenel, who would be French delegate to the League of Nations and ambassador to Rome; and to Maurice Goudeket, 17 years her junior, author of "Close to Colette" published here three years ago. During her marriage to de Jouvenel her only child was born, Colette, who appears in her writing as Bel Gazou.

I remember when Colette's name stood in this country for writing that was so frank and salacious — and from a woman, too! — that Americans blushed to be caught reading it; they thought of Colette and La Vie Parisienne in the same breath. In the last decade or so, thanks to translations, and to the pioneering advocacy of Glenway Wescott, among others, we realize that here is, as Miss Marks notes astutely, an eye which, however impure the objects it regards, is itself pure. She is a "looker," not reflective, philosophical, or even moral, but a remarkably dependable recorder. Her "indisputable masterpieces" are "La Maison de Claudine" ("My Mother's House"), "Sido" and "La Naissance du Jour" ("A Lesson in Love").

Lord Fancy Is Story Of Fight Game

LORD FANCY By Leslie Turnery White (Doubleday, $3.95).

Lord Fancy is a novel of eighteenty - century England, when all the sportsmen from the Prince of Wales down were caught up in the excitement of boxing — not only the fights and the fighters, but also in the heavy wagering involved. At that time, none of the odds-makers knew of a young man named Darcy Scott, secretly trained by Matt Burnham, England's ex-champion, but now rotting in an English prison where he had been unjustly thrown.

There would be many obstacles in Darcy's path — and he would need all the help he could get from his uncle, a notorious highwayman, and from London's influential Duchess of Montross — before that climactic day when he would stand in the ring face to face with The Slasher, the most feared fighter in England.

Pilgrims In Paradise Is Top Reading

PILGRIMS IN PARADISE By Frank G. Slaughter (Doubleday, $3.95).

As usual Slaughter's new books are always eagerly awaited. This one is no exception and lives up to all that is expected in his work.

It was a cold winter day in the England of 1647, and Paul Sutton, a young doctor, began to feel the lure of the tropics. But when he signed on as medical officer to a shipload of pilgrims bound for the Bahamas, the beckoning attractions spelled far more than escape — for Paul knew that the pilgrims' leader, his own brother, was a religious fanatic.

The Sot-Weed Factory Long One At Least

THE SOT-WEED FACTOR, by John Barth (Doubleday): In this fat novel (almost 800 pages) we encounter all the elements that could and do make for long, enjoyable reading. A young 17th century Englishman, naive for his years and poetically inclined, feels the urgings of discovery and adventure hard upon him. Today we might call him accident - prone as he blunders his way through all kinds of scrapes with characters ranging from pirates to prostitutes. Some of the action is set in the author's well - beloved Maryland of colonial days. The story is at times gay, witty and sympathetic. A sot-weed factor? Just another name for a tobacco peddler.

The Cord Of Steel Good

THE CHORD OF STEEL, by Thomas B. Costain (Doubleday): Since Costain was brought up in the little town of Brantford in Ontario, Canada, he has had more than a passing interest in the fact that Alexander Graham Bell made Brantford one of the testing places for his invention — the telephone. In this easily read and warmly sympathetic little book Costain tells the story of Bell and his revolutionary contribution to the modern world.

A Summary Of The World

Reds Watching U. S. Election Closely

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

World communism watches intently—and warily—as Americans prepare to choose a new president. It knows that resistance to communist global ambitions is personified by the United States.

What faces the man upon whom Americans will confer the awesome responsibilities of national and world leadership in November?

The cold war's course cannot be neatly charted on a graph of gains or losses. Each camp has its troubles. But if nuclear war is ruled out as a solution of the struggle, the decisive arena throughout the world is the political one. In that arena, the challenge to American world leadership adds up to something like this:

LATIN AMERICA

The far left, fanatical anti-Yankee fever of Cuba's rulers imperils the U.S. position among its next door neighbors. Cuba threatens to become a launching pad for Communist political missiles aimed at generating chaos and applying pressure wherever Latin American governments try to remain friendly with the United States. A backlog of popular good will toward the United States seems to have swindled.

When Nazism threatened to ride high south of the border, a determined U.S. program, coupled with a good neighbor policy, headed it off. But Washington concentrated its post-World War II attention on guarding Europe. Even after Western Europe was able to stand on its feet, Latin America's problems were shunted aside. Washington encouraged the Common Market in Europe, but, said critics, it ignored similar ambitions in Latin America.

Other critics of U.S. policy complained the United States consistently supported whatever regimes grabbed power, no matter by what means—that all a dictator had to do was to declare himself anti-Communist and all else would be overlooked. To the rising, angry generation, the United States often seemed a timid colossus, cowed by the Red threat, always on the defensive, forever promising but seldom matching deeds to promises.

Only after Cuba's Fidel Castro raised a real threat of physical soviet intrusion in the hemisphere did the United States look anxiously toward a program to help erstwhile good neighbors to help themselves. By then the United States had been battered and abused by Castro. Was this the only way, many a Latin American asked, to get North American consideration?

Today, by best available estimates, there are only a quarter million hard core Communists in all Latin America. But their influence grows steadily. On the U. S. doorstep, 30,000 dedicated Cuban Communists play a dominating role in a violently anti-Yankee regime. About 40,000 in Venezuela and a like number in Brazil are encouraged by reverses the United States has sustained in Cuba and elsewhere. Latin American governments obviously fear popular pressures generated by the left in Castro's name, and feel that backing the United States against Castro could be risky.

MIDDLE EAST

U.S. Middle East policy has sustained one painful setback after another in the five years since formation of the Baghdad Pact. U.S. support of the pact indicated to many a Middle Easterner that Americans were preoccupied above all with military alignments. To the impatient rising generation, hating the past and all it had stood for, it seemed that pressure groups too often interfered with American policy making.

Washington supported the unpopular government of Nuri al Said in Baghdad. When a violent revolt struck Iraq, the Baghdad Pact was an object of Middle East ridicule, deprived even of a name.

To young Middle Easterners, moving steadily into leadership positions in newly independent lands, there seemed little American understanding of basic area woes, complaints and struggles against the past. To them it seemed the United States considered even military neutrality to be against American interests.

Today, the Communists, too, are nursing a grievous wound in the Middle East. They have been set back severely in oil-rich, turbulent Iraq. This represents a gain for the West, though the United States had little to do with the political tides in that country since its July 1958 revolution. Yet, the threat remains of a Communist grab in Iraq, when and if the Kremlin considers itself strong enough to sustain communism in a state with which the U.S.S.R. has no borders.

Soviet economic penetration in the United Arab Republic of Syria and Egypt has been heavy and determined. The U.A.R. now depends upon Moscow for military equipment. Much of its economic program, including the key Aswan Dam project scorned by the United States, depends upon Moscow.

In the vast, strategic Middle East, long a target of Soviet ambitions, the United States enjoys the support of Turkey, Iran, Israel—a tiny nation surrounded by bitter enemies—and the shaky throne of litle Jordan. On the Soviet frontier, the United States has the support of the Shah of oil-rich Iran, but many of Iran's young men are disillusioned and unhappy, prime targets for a renewed Soviet drive for influence.

There are only about 12,000 hard-core Communists, and about 15,000 others who will do their bidding, in the whole Middle East. But events in recent years have made American prospects in the area far from glittering. In the minds of many Arab leaders the Russians have managed to separate collaboration with the Soviet government from support of the Communist movement, to the obvious detriment of Western interests.

ASIA

The United States had its eyes blackened by the youthful revolt against ancient Syngman Rhee in South Korea and the anti-Eisenhower rioting in Japan. South Korea remains a friend of the United States, but the Rhee regime's collapse hurt U.S. prestige among the multitude of Asians who considered Rhee closely tied to Washington.

Asia, constantly aware of the vast Red Chinese mainland, clings to ideas of neutrality, finding the Communist phrase 'peaceful coexistence" attractive. An estimated 1.5 million hard-core Communists in non-Red Asia, drawing support from perhaps 15 million others, is a potent force in an area where fears are openly expressed among non-Communist leaders that U.S. mistakes could bring hydrogen war to the sprawling, long-suffering continent.

AFRICA

Impatience for full independence without preparation, lack of sufficient numbers of educated people to manage their affairs, angry memories of colonialism, all make Africa an alluring prospect for communism in terms of future chaos with which to divide and harass the West. As an organized party, the Communists are almost non-existent in black Africa, but their agents and imported agitators are constantly busy. The Kremlin never loses a chance to dazzle Africans by promises of support and roars at the colonial West.

WESTERN EUROPE

Possibly 3.5 million Communist attracting about 12 million votes in various elections—the bulk in Italy and France—lost influence in much of Western Europe as living standards climbed. But they still represent a powerful cold war force.

Soviet policy successfully has caused strains in Western Europe's relations with the United States. The Russians have been busy trying to generate anxiety to compromise as an alternative to the threat of nuclear war. This brings nagging, criticisms, divisions and the contradictions in which Soviet Communists place much faith in their drive to isolate the United States.

GREAT CITIES OF THE WORLD

New York Great Place For The Visitor, But Not Living

Editor's Note — It's a great place to visit, but who'd want to live there: New Yorkers have been shrugging off that tired insult for years. But a time comes when the record should be put straight. That's exactly what AP writer Saul Pett does in this story, one of a series on great cities of the world.

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP) — As Peter Stuyvesat said to the Indian maiden, "Some day, baby, I'll buy you this town."

Three hundred odd years later, New York, N.Y., still does that to people. It remains the capital of the big promise, the big potential, big deal, big dream.

This is the secret of the town's special excitement, the feeling that something big could happen to you any moment. A man is as big as his anticipation, however vague. In New York, you're always anticipating.

If you don't feel it, you're a tourist. Catch a few shows, have a brief ball, but go back where you came from, where you'll probably live longer, anyway, but who calls that living?

For years I've been coming to the same office building every morning. And every evening, I come out on the sidewalk to the same surprise. Someone suddenly has turned on the night. The sky is dark and the buildings are bouncing with light, and everything, in that first look at a Manhattan evening, seems adventuresome and mysterious.

There is an unspoken magic, a lure, an invitation, and all things seem possible. And, as always, there is the excitement of motion of secretaries scurrying down the street, rushing home to dress, the excitement of a town getting up to go somewhere—the promise of a big evening.

Maybe you're not actually going anywhere, maybe you're just plunging into a hot, impossibly crowded subway or dragging along on a commuter train. But for one moment, at least, in that first look at evening, you haven't felt drab, and that's a considerable thing to say for any town.

Maybe we New Yorkers don't see as many shows or catch as many concerts and art exhibits as you visiting foreigners do here. Maybe we don't visit the Statue of Liberty more than once or take in the view from the Empire State or ride a hansom cab through Central Park. Maybe not, but we know they're there, and that is a special feeling.

Sure, this town is frenetic and the pavements steam like a packed Turkish bath in summer and a one-inch snowfall can tie up the whole place in winter and the traffic is ulcerous and commuting a drag and the prices are murderous and we lost two out of three ball clubs and stickball has been replaced by a new sport called mugging or felonious assault and Mike Quill threatens to stop the subways New Year's Eve or a strike of tugboats could cut off the island's food or the Hungarians are raising a ruckus in front of the Russian consulate but this town is always in crisis and we're used to it.

Life is hard in any frontier town and that's what New York is, a frontier town, maybe our last. This is the vertical city that knocks so many people flat, and each birthday seems a triumph of survival. But people come here to get away from something or because they got a big dream. Who comes here just to live? You got to have a compelling reason to put up with the discomforts.

And the town is full of people with a compelling reason, with a big dream of swimming to the top, in the theater, in art, in publishing, finance, advertising, fashion. This is what makes it so neurotic and why we have, up in the Seventies off Park Avenue, more psychoanalysts than any other town.

Maybe we're actually not getting anywhere. But we're trying. We're not gestating. We're pushing. This is the frenzy but it is also the special vitality of New York, N.Y., and if you don't sense it maybe you'd be better off at a Rotarian sing in Keokuk, Iowa, or in the never-never land of Los Angeles, which is a city, some say, in Southern California.

This special surge, this push. Maybe Frenchmen feel it in Paris and Englishmen in London but surely in New York, it has reached a unique height. Has any other city in the world developed the four-martini lunch to such a wonderfully insane, totally human degree?

The four-martini lunch, when mice walk like men. The long, long talk, the nonsectarian confessional, the big brave dialogue, the big threats, the overflowing paranoia, the soaring euphoria. The $9,000-a-year man with the perfectly logical set of reasons why he should take over his boss' $30,000 job. The evangelical girl with the latest revelation from her analyst. The determined understudy, sure but not completely sure she could handle the lead better than the star. The determined star, sure but not completely sure, she's still better than the understudy. The man whose wife doesn't understand him, and the man whose wife does. The tired, the hungry, the tempest-tossed masses yearning to be free—at $25,000 a year.

This is one kind of New York but there are many others in this greatest free show in the world. The home of the kind man and the con man; the Chrylser Tower leaping up into the sky, like the beak of great swordfish; the home of the cold calculating eye and the absent-minded handshake; the stenographers waiting in line for gallery seats at the Met, hungry for beauty; the pimply-faced high school boy doing his geometry on the subway.

The busy belle of the cocktail party who pecks you on the cheek while studying the rest of the room over your shoulder; the Harlem mother sunning the family bedding in a tenement window; the ocean queens snug in thin Hudson River beds; the tortured integrity talk in Madison Avenue bars; the air view of Manhattan at night, as dazzling as a jeweler's tray; the hot dog man under his orange umbrella in the Fulton fish market; the dyspeptic halfbacks pushing racks of clothes through the chaos of the garment center; the girls, the girls, the girls—the lovely models bouncing up Fifth Avenue on a spring morning, the little actresses smoking out in the alley on a rehearsal break, the ladies strolling through the United Nations in their saris and kimonos; the daily world war of the subway rush; the quiet peace of the city streets on a sunny Sunday morning, scrubbed to pristine innocence; the roar at Yankee Stadium; the huge, the wild, the wonderful, the crazy whirl of motion and sight and sound and push and dream of New York, N.Y.

Can you match it anywhere?

ALONG BROADWAY

New Season Will Feature Musicals

Twenty-six arrivals are booked in every available playhouse for the box office race that starts next month. A dozen others have set everything but an opening date.

Playwright Arthur Laurents is going to double by staging his new script. Other writers on the boards are Tennessee Williams, Ira Levin, Brendan Behan, Mary Chase, Frenchmen Jean Anouilh and Eugene Ionesco. Five shows are based on bookshelf bestsellers.

The musical influx starts Sept. 12 with "Vintage '60," an intimate revue. On the 29th the London-Paris hit "Irma la Douce" arrives with most of the West End company including star Elizabeth Seal.

"Tenderloin," based on a novel about bawdy old New York, debuts Oct. 17 with Evans at the top of the cast in his first Manhattan musical. The show is being shaped by Abbott and the rest of the songwriting-producing team that collaborated on the current smash "Fiorello!"

Following in on Nov. 3 is "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," with songs and lyrics by Meredith Willson of "The Music Man" fame. Tammy Grimes and Harve Presnell are starred.

Another hit-making combination fervently seeking a second jackpot is readying "Camelot" for Nov. 17 premiere. Based on a tongue-in-cheek Arthurian novel by T. H. White, "Camelot" has a score by Frederick Loewe and Alan Jay Lerner. The director is Moss Hart. The leading lady is Julie Andrews. All previously joined forces in "My Fair Lady."

TV's dynamic Lucille Ball joins the melody lineup Dec. 15 in "Wildcat," with songs by Cy Coleman and book by N. Richard Nash.

Five dramas with considerable overseas success are also booked, and 20 addition foreign items are being eyed by producers for what could become an exotic stampede on Broadway.

Arriving Sept. 20 is Brendan Behan's "The Hostage" with its English cast; two days later Shelagh Delaney's "A Taste of Honey" comes in with Angela Lansbury and Joan Plowright. Joan Littlewood, who directed both plays in London, is devoting herself here to the Behan opus.

"Farewell, Farewell Eugene," a Yankee-written comedy that went abroad for first major success, unveils Sept. 27 with Margaret Rutherford in the spotlight.

Other imports are Anouilh's "Becket" with Olivier and Quinn on Oct. 6; and Ioncesco's "Rhinoceros" with Ei Wallach and Zero Mostel on Nov. 9.

Louisiana's Resources And Senator Kennedy

Some of the top Democratic party leaders and state officials in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama are claiming that the only way these states can get a fair deal from Washington on their tidelands oil claims is to elect a Democratic administration—meaning Senator Kennedy as President.

The voting records of Senator Kennedy and Vice President Nixon as members of both the House and the Senate prove exactly the opposite. (Both entered Congress as members of the House at the same time — 1946. Each later was elected to the Senate.) Further, the record of the Democratic Party at the Executive level in the federal government for nearly a quarter of a century has been one of depriving Gulf states of their offshore mineral rights.

The facts are:

1. As a member of the House and of the Senate Kennedy has voted steadily against legislation upholding tidelands interests of the Gulf Coast states, and also against the welfare of the oil and gas industry of Louisiana and other Southern states.

2. Every vote cast by Nixon as both a member of the House and of the Sentate has been for the interests of the Gulf states not only on tidelands but on welfare of the oil and gas industry.

3. The only tidelands legislation in behalf of the Gulf states even enacted into federal law came under the Eisenhower administration in 1953. It was in a full keeping of the pledge made by Mr. Eisenhower during his 1952 campaign through Texas and Louisiana (including a stop at Shreveport). Kennedy voted against this bill as a Senator. Nixon, as Vice President, had no vote but publicly announced his support of the bill.

4. Two bills favorable to tidelands interests in the Gulf States were vetoed by a Democratic President — Harry S. Truman, in 1946 and 1948.

The long series of steps by which the federal government has sought to deprive Gulf states of minerals resources beneath their offshore waters began in 1937 under Franklin D. Roosevelt through initiation by his Secretary of Interior, Harold Ickes. This opposition was carried on by Truman with Presidential proclamations "seizing" offshore underwater areas as well as with vetoes of legislation by Congress. Only under Eisenhower has there been White House support for the tidelands cause of the Gulf states.

In 1952 when Senator Ellender of Louisiana refused to campaign for Democrat Adlia Stevenson when the latter came out against the tidelands rights of the Gulf States. But when Eisenhower came out for those rights, Senator Johnson, now Kennedy's running mate, announced he would campaign for Stevenson to "offset any Democratic Texas oil revolt."

Tidelands is not an issue of welfare of "big oil companies." They don't give a hoot whether they pay bonus, lease or royalty money to a state government or a federal government. It's the same amount either way.

As of now, under a Supreme Court decision, such revenue from beyond "three miles out" from Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama goes to the federal government—with $300,000,000 in escrow. But the same decision gave Texas and Florida jurisdiction over an area of up to 10½ miles out. If Louisiana could get a similar deal, it could get a portion of both present escrow and future tidelands money.

Congress can determine this by legislation as to where the measuring of "three miles out" starts. That's what makes the whole issue one of having not only a Congress that will pass a bill but a President who will sign it.

Kennedy already has voted in Congress against Louisiana's tidelands rights (and those of other states). Nixon already has voted for such legislation. Eisenhower signed the only tidelands legislation passed. Truman vetoed all tidelands legislation. That's the picture as to the two candidates—and the White House background.

But there's more:

The present Louisiana administration took over a government headed for bankruptcy. Harsh cutting of proposed budgets was necessary to provide a balanced budget. The future of the Mr. Louisiana taxpayer may be just this:

1.—Either we get some portion of the tidelands money by an act of Congress and approval of whoever is President, or

2.—We face the eventual need of new state taxes, or

3.—We give up public services which the people clearly have shown in their voting record they don't want to give up.

Next, there is the vital problem of the oil and gas industry.

It employs 80,000 persons in Louisiana, puts forth 25% of the state's industrial payroll. At an average of three to a family, that means 240,000 Louisiana people are dependent on it directly or indirectly for all or part of their own welfare. Its welfare is vital to all of Louisiana's welfare.

Take a look at the adjoinging tabulation of the voting records of Kennedy and Nixon in the House and Senate on oil and gas legislation and see which is most likely to give this important cog in Louisiana's economy a fair deal if elected President. Kennedy has voted steadily against the industry's welfare — and thus against Louisiana's. Nixon voted steadily for the industry's welfare and thus for Louisiana's.

The Morning World has been informed by top Democratic Party leaders, or high state officials, or both, in Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi that "the word" is being circulated that Lyndon Johnson, Kennedy's running mate, privately has pledged himself to "go down the line" to get a satisfactory tidelands bill if he and Kennedy are elected — and that House Speaker Sam Rayburn has added his promise to the Johnson pledge. This "Johnson commitment" reportedly was made to Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama party or state officials at Los Angeles after Johnson ran out on his southern backers to join Kennedy.

What kind of claptrap is this?

Of course Johnson and Rayburn will "go down the line" for proper tidelands and oil and gas legislation! They will do so no matter who is elected — Nixon or Kennedy They always have—Under Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower. Their votes in such matters are "Texas votes" and no one ever accused Johnson and Rayburn of voting against Texas industrial interests.

So will Ellender and Long of Louisiana, "go down the line," and Stennis and Eastland of Mississippi — no matter who is elected president. We can't speak for those two so-called "liberal" New Dealers of Alabama, Senators Hill and Sparkman.

But Johnson can't commit Kennedy.

Those voting records are signposts pointing to the beliefs, the philosophies, the intent of both men on such issues.

The "tidelands" and related issues are vital to Louisiana. The Morning World has so stated more than once in current political discussions. We are glad to see political leaders on either side bringing up such issues. But, we want the truth brought out — not mere political pap.

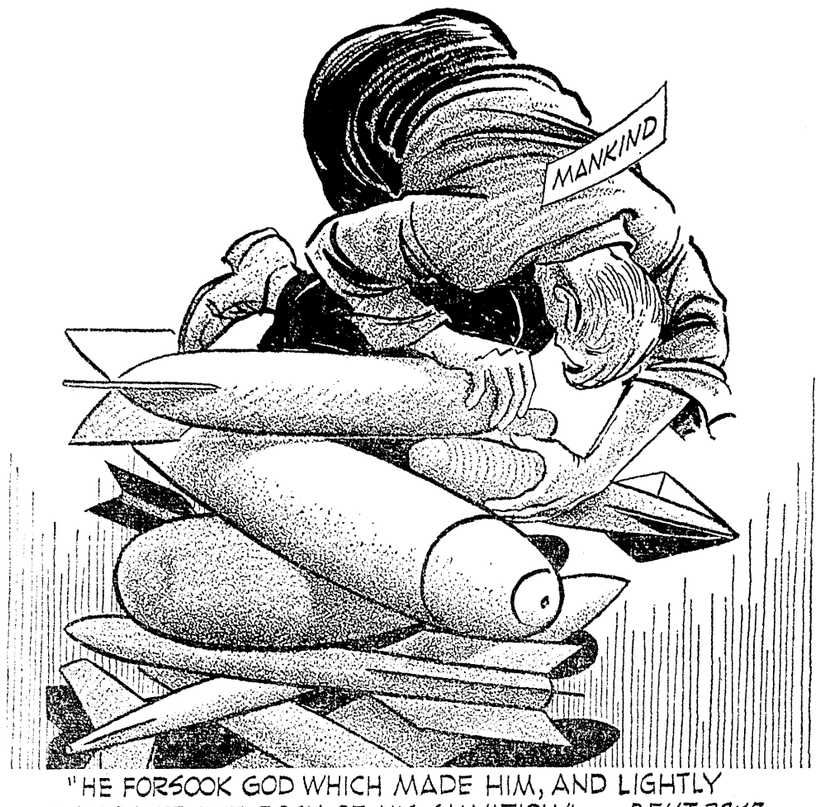
Building Himself A Foundation



"HE FORSOOK GOD WHICH MADE HIM, AND LIGHTLY ESTEEMED THE ROCK OF HIS SALVATION"— DEUT. 32:15

The Record

Here are the voting records of Vice President Nixon and Senator Kennedy as members of the Senate on tidelands, oil and gas legislation as compiled by the trade journal, World Oil: and also the presidential records as compiled by the Morning World from several sources:

Tidelanders

Senate, April 2, 1952: On amendment by Hill of Alabama to earmark all tidelands revenue for federal aid to education, Nixon voted for the Holland motion to kill the amendment. Kennedy voted against the Holland resolution and thus to preserve the amendment.

Senate, April 2, 1952: On the above bill, Nixon voted for the bill and Kennedy was absent, although present earlier in the day to vote on the Holland resolution. This bill gave the states the rights to offshore minerals deposits within their boundaries.

Senate, July 30, 1953: Virtually the same bill as above had been re-introduced following Eisenhower's campaign pledge to sign it if passed. On final passage, Kennedy voted against the bill. Nixon had no vote as Vice-President but announced in the Senate that if voting he would vote for the bill.

Oil And Gas

House, August 5, 1949: On bill to free natural gas producers from Federal Power Commission controls, Nixon voted for the bill and Kennedy was paired against it.

House, March 31, 1950: On a Senate bill virtually the same as above, Kennedy voted against it and Nixon was absent. The bill passed and Democratic President Truman vetoed it.

Senate, March 15, 1954: Natural gas pipeline bill prohibiting FPC from regulating utilities transporting natural gas within state boundaries if the state certifies it has regulatory judgment: The only record bill was on a resolution to kill the bill by recommitting to Committee. Kennedy voted for the resolution, meaining to kill the bill. As Vice President, Nixon had no vote.

Senate, February 6, 1956: Harris-Fulbright natural gas bill: Kennedy voted against. As Vice President, Nixon had no vote. President Eisenhower, expressing approval of purposes of the bill, vetoed it when a Senator stated on the floor that he had been improperly approached with offers of campaign contributions by an oil company interested in passage of the bill.

Senate, August 11, 1958: Kennedy voted against a straight cut of the oil depletion allowance from 27½ per cent down to 15 per cent, but voted for an amendment to make the cut to 15 per cent under a sliding scale in accordance with oil income.

Presidentail Action

Eisenhower, 1953: Signed the only tidelands bill to come before him — the only legislation of this type enacted into law under any administration.

Truman, 1954: Sought by presidential proclamation to place all offshore minerals deposits under federal ownership. Later ordered his Attorney General to bring suit against California to gain federal control of its offshore minerals.

August 1, 1946: Truman vetoed bill to confirm rights of states to tidelands mineral deposits. (Neither Kennedy nor Nixon were in Congress when this bill was passed by the House on September 20, 1945.

Setember, 1952: Democratic Candidate Adlai Stevenson affirmed his support of federal claims to tidelands. Senator Ellender of Louisiana announced that, because of this, he woud not campaign for Stevenson. Senator Johnson and Speaker Rayburn were quoted in an article by Jay Walz in the New York Times, reprinted in the New Orleans States, as announcing they would campaign to "offset any Texas Democratic revolt" on the tidelands issue. Eisenhower made his pledge to sign a tidelands bill if elected.

January 16, 1953: As one of his last acts in office, Truman again sought to deprive states of any offshore minerals rights by proclaiming them to be naval oil reserves.

Casting Protest Ballots

The history of man is replete with lost causes, with high hopes that disappear like a river in a desert. There are men and women in the United States who used to vote for Norman Thomas as an expression of protest against the inadequacy of both political parties. I have, in my day, voted for Norman Thomas as a protest against inadequate candidates.

The lost cause is not always lost. The New Deal accepted many of the ideas of the revisionist Socialists; the Soviet Communists accepted some of the ideas of the Bakunin anarchists. Emma Goldman would be regarded as a reactionary square in 1960 by many young ladies.

What happens is that ideas never die and whereas the fashion of the day may require ridicule of the reactionary or the radical, at the Right or the Left, at those who advocate great changes and those who believe that the changes are already too great, the historic fact is that the mind of man reverts to thoughts and solutions which at one time or another held to be true. When President Eisenhower extolled those who walk neither in the Left nor the Right gutter but remain in the middle of the road, he employed a metaphor which in these days is absurd because whoever blocks traffic by walking down the middle of the road would be arrested as a jay walker.

President Eisenhower would never favor a lost cause because he is a man of the moment, a man of fashion. Perhaps that is why he is so beloved. His very passivity satisfies a public that wearies of heavy thinkers — the President is really a man of the people: an average man, born and brought up in an average small town, who has had some extraordinary breaks after pursuing an average army career. To the American people, he is O.K. because he is like that. His press conferences do not touch the heartstrings as Roosevelt's fireside chats did, but then he speaks without too much grammar, no big words and sometimes he gets his words mixed up — so who really cares?

Senator Barry Goldwater is a characteristically Lost Causer. There are always such men and they become very attractive to a particular following. Robert A. Taft was such a man. He once sat up here in the Berkshires on a summer day and we were discussing his chances for the presidency. I cannot forget the incident because at that moment, Taft displayed the full characteristics of a New England Lost Causer. He would not, by statement or gesture, give ground even for his own advantage.

Barry Goldwater rose to ask his followers not to violate party unity by voting for him. That to is normal with the man who never tries to win small battles when there is a great war to be fought. Theodore Roosevelt made the mistake of organizing the Progressive party prematurely. He did not create a new party; he lost an election for the Republican party; his influence was shattered.

The fighter for a Cause always faces the question whether he is to fight from inside or go altogether on the outside and battle against the stone walls. The Republican party started as a radical party, opposed to the theory of state's rights, favoring the Hamiltonian idea of federal authority and by the time of Theodore Roosevelt coming close to a national state with imperialistic designs. Thus, a party which started with such social radicals as Horace Greeley and John Fremont by the begnning of the 20th Century included such economic radicals as Mark Hanna and John D. Rockefeller.

SYLVIA PORTER

Appeal To Farmer

The farm planks in the Democratic and Republican platforms understandably were written to appeal to the American farm vote but the true test of what can or will be done to help the farmer must necessarily rest with Congress.

As of now it is difficult to determine which party is willing to offer more since both farm planks stop just shy of a "pie-in-the-sky" approach. In their vagueness the two platforms would lead one to believe this country can abolish farm surpluses, every farmer can make a decent living and government subsidy can be held to a minimum.

This is only wishful thinking, of course, since no one yet — and all the experts have tried — has come up with a solution to this most intricate of American economic problems.

In the weeks ahead the Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates will remove some of the mystery of where they actually stand on the farm issue but here again these will only be campaign promises which must be implemented by Congress.

There is no reason to believe that some of the harsh feeling toward farmers prevalent in recent years in Congress on the part of many urban area Republicans and Democrats will not carry over in the new session of Congress getting underway in January.

The continuing fight which Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has waged with Congress over the past 7½ years shows every sign of being repeated by whomever is chosen as his successor. No major policies emanating from the Department of Agriculture and reaching Capitol Hill in the form of proposed legislation has much of a chance of avoiding some kind of head-on clash.

While Republican Presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon has promised to withhold details of his farm program until some time in September he has already let drop a few hints which are bound to raise Congressional hackles.

Before leaving Chicago the Vice President said he believed the farm problem is not due to farmers but to Government policies designed to increase farm production in war years. Granted, this is partly true. But Nixon did not stop there. He went on to say that the Government therefore has an obligation to indemnify farmers just as the Government indemnified manufacturers in settling war contracts.

To this the question is naturally asked, "What does this have to do with the farm problem in 1960? The war has been over for eight years." Certainly, the Government is not going to indemnify manufacturers who overproduce in 1960 so why should it pay off farmers who overproduce when there is no war-induced emergency?

In a broad sense, Democratic Presidential nominee John F. Kennedy is probably committed to a farm program in which there will be greater — not less — Federal participation. He may try to get the jump on his opposition by sponsoring some form of emergency legislation in the few weeks of Congress remaining. This would have to be rush - type legislation which the Republicans could not ignore since they also hope to make time with the farmers.

Both candidates, as well as Democratic Vice Presidential nominee Lyndon Johnson, are in general agreement that this country will have to make great use of food surpluses to help underdeveloped areas abroad and to create strategic reserves for national and international emergencies. Since it is rather difficult to eliminate surpluses by encouraging farmers to plant only what is needed this is an easy way out for all concerned.

The two parties also are pledged to a substantial land-retirement program as a means of reducing surpluses. So this means that regardless of who occupies the White House in January farmers are likely to come in for a huge windfall for retiring some of their crop land to grass and trees. This, of course, assumes that party pledges will be carried out and Congress is willing to appropriate the money.

When the candidates have had their say on these grave issues the voters in November may be in a position to make a clear-cut choice. Do they want a farm program that is relatively free and supported by voluntary programs or are they ready to go into a managed economy with more and more controls?

Pleasure In Spending

Self Made Millionaire Not As Happy As Heir To Money

Never trust a man who knocks money. He is bound to be a hypocrite.

Money is one of the truly great pleasures of life, and the man who turns against it has lost one of the great tools to finer living.

It is still true that money in itself can't buy happiness—and never could. But can you name a better down payment?

There are a number of ways of acquiring money, and how you acquire it determines to a considerable extent the fun you get from it. The average man's dream of utter glory is to inherit money. This proves again the instinctive wisdom of the common man. He knows what is best for him.

There are those who insist that only money earned by his own sweat enobles a man and gives him character. But this is for most of us a terribly tedious way to build either cash or character, and sometimes we wind up without much of either.

Show me a self-made millionaire and, in most cases, I'll show you a man with a padlock on his pocketbook who spends with a limited sense of joy because he is too aware of how much toil and lost sleep his money cost him. What he really enjoys more is bragging about how poor he was as a youth, and how many sacrifices he had to make to become rich. He has become a moneyed martyr.

But show me a man who has inherited a million dollars, and I'll show you a man who will get five million dollars worth of mileage out of his fortune. Spared the agony of having had to earn it, he finds double pleasure in every dollar he spends.

The average man in this life is a prisoner of the next payday and the next pay hike.

If he is making $90 a week and expecting a $10 raise, he starts right in living at a $100 clip. When he finally gets the extra ten bucks, it makes no difference in his scale of living. He has already been living $10 a week beyond his means.

"I'm no better off than I was before," he moans.

Here we have the key trouble with money you earn yourself. You only get to spend it once—and it's gone.

Inherited money doesn't usually work that way. Suppose you have a crusty old uncle who has so much money he hides it in the crotches of trees.

Naturally, when he passes to his eternal reward, you will be mentioned in the will. But how much will you get?

"Who knows how much the old miser has really got squirreled away?" you muse. "Maybe he'll leave me $100,000."

So you and your wife start planning what you'll do with the dough. In these daydreams you take a trip around the world, buy a Rolls-Royce, break the bank at Monte Carlo—do 1,001 things you could never do on your own income. You spend the money a hundred different ways, each time enjoying it more.

When you do finally get the request, even if it turns out to be a paltry $750, you've had more fun in advance with the money than your thrifty uncle could in a dozen lifetimes.

The moral is, don't always try to do things the hard way. It is the unexpected windfalls that make this world a wonderland.

Don't let false pride stand in your way. If you know how to inherit money, do so. You won't be sorry.

Fulbright Hopes Lodge To Resign U.N. Post Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) said Saturday he hopes that Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican vice presidential nominee, will resign soon as U. S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, added nothing would contribute more to showing U. S. unity than for President Eisenhower to name Adlai E. Stevenson as Lodge's successor.

Fulbright told the Senate he can't escape the feeling that Lodge, a former senator from Massachusetts, must find it most difficult to keep his mind on his U. N. duties in view of the election campaign that lies ahead.

He observed that Lodge had just named a press officer for his campaign and said this is clear evidence that the chief U. S. spokesman at the U.N. is preoccupied with the coming campaign.

Guide To Good Reading

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

The reading public of Ouachita Parish is excited over the fact that a Monroe man has had a first novel published this past week. The author is Jack Ansell and the title of the book is "His Brother the Bear." This is quite an occasion and people are eagerly looking forward to reading this book. It has it's setting in a Louisiana town, similar to Monroe and many people will find familiar references in the writing. It is well written and has secured very favorable reports from the literary critics. It was published by one of the largest publishing firms in the country and they believe that it will be immensely popular. We are very proud of Mr. Ansell and the library is well - equipped to fill requests for this title. Another new book of fiction which will be well - received is "The Numbered Account" by Ann Bridge. The author has been writing stories of international adventure and intrigue for many years and this one would be as good as her former titles. Many of the patrons of the Ouachita Parish Public Library enjoy reading mystery stories, an exciting one is "Follow Me" by Helen Reilly. It has it's setting in New York City and in Sante Fe, New Mexico. It is a story of greed and love of money and how it affected a number of otherwise very nice people.

New non - fiction titles will interest a wide variety of readers. A beautiful new book is "The Tomb of St. Peter" written by Margherita Guarducci. Many readers have expressed a desire for more information about Zen. A new title on this subject is "Zen Comes West" written by Christmas Humphreys. In a presidential year a very timely book is "The People's Choice" written by William B. Brown and published by the L.S.U. press. Mr. Brown discusses the influence of campaign biographies and the image which they wish to present to the people. A particularly beautiful new book is "This American Earth" written by Ansel Adams and photographed by Nancy Newhall. Have you ever though that you would like to live in a Cooperative apartment as many city dwellers do? If so, you would be interested in "The Co-op Apartment" by Harold N. Vogle. In the field of economics a new book is "Capital, Interest and Profits" by Burton S. Keirstead. A branch of our government which does very valuable work is "The United States Secret Service" a new book about them has been written by Walter S. Bowen. A particularly valuable new book is "Life Insurance" written by Dan D. McGill. This book should be read by the person selling it and also by the buyer. Two new books in the field of mathematics are: "An Introduction to modern Mathematics" by Robert W. Sloan and "A Contract Approach to Abstract Algebra" by W. W. Sawyer "Search for the Past" by James R. Beerbower is an excellent new work in the field of paleontology. Alma Moore has written a very fine book called "Grasses; Earth's Green Wealth. "How To Make Fishmounts and Other Fish Trophies" by Edward C. Migdalski will be widely used by men who have this sort of hobby. Many people will want to see a new book called "New Hope for your Hair" by Irwin I. Lubowe.

"Small Fruits for your Home Garden"' by Harold Clarke is a book which will interest all who do this type of gardening. "Poultry Production" by Clarence C. Bundy will help poultry raisers. "The Common Sense Book of Puppy and Dog Care" by Harry Miller contains invaluable information. Another book for the farmer is "Beekeeping" by John E. Eckert. If your home needs small repairs the library has a book for you. It is called "How-To for Home Owners" and was written by Marvin T. Forster. "Today's Business Machines" by Harrison Fisher is a very excellent title, which should be used by a great many people. People engaged in the advertising business will want to see "A Handbook of Public Relations" by Howard Stephenson. "Petroleum Engineering; Drilling and Well Completions" by Carl Gatlin is a very fine technical book.

The field of fine arts has been enriched by a number of lovely books "Writings and Buildings" by Frank Lloyd Wright is a complete account of his philosphy. "Normand's Parallel of the Orders of Architecture, Greek, Roman and Renaissance" is a distinct addition to the library collection. Books of coins are always in demand. The latest one is called "Guide Book of U. S. Coins. 1961" and was written by Richard S. Yeoman.

HIS BROTHER, THE BEAR

Local Man's First Book Seems Good

This is an interesting novel, to say the least, and it is provocative about a decisive day in the lives of the Julian Black family in a town called Mannerville, Louisiana.

The decisive day was a day when Julian Black, who had been raised a devout Jew, but then who had been caught up by snobbish values of social success, would finally have to choose between two ways of life.

No mater what his choice was, Julian knew he would have to answer to the acid recriminations of his wife, Evelyn, who had her own reasons for marrying into the Jewish community and her own reasons for despising her husband.

But Black could not have foreseen how the course of his life would be altered when his irresponsible son returend and when his daughter fell radiantly in love with the son of a man Black had wronged.

How Black met and solved these various programs, plus the background and side events in the lives of people involved with Julian makes for interesting reading throughout most of the book.

However, there are parts that drag a little, but on the whole, the book is well done and is excellent for a first book.

After editing his high school newspaper, Ansell studied journalism at the University and languages at Louisiana State University before the Army interruped his college career when he was 18. In the Army, he was stationed in the Phillippines, where he served as a member of the counter intelligence corps.

At one time, Ansell wrote a column for his hometown newspaper and also was a television executive.

Colette Was Her Name; Fairly Good

COLETTE. By Elaine Marks. Rutgers. $5.

On this book jacket is a photograph of Colette. In the background sits the inevitable cat. The woman herself — novelist, dramatist, short-story writer, newspaperwoman, essayist, critic, beautician, actress, nature-lover, wife and mistress — wears a black coat, a shawl around her neck, and two rings on the somewhat pudgy fingers which, bent, rest against the point of her chin. A ball of frizzy black hair surmounts the round face. The eyes, made up heavily, look out at you with a most complex air: challenging, quizzical, mercilessly penetrating, and almost embarrassingly inviting.

Colette was born in 1873 in a small village, and her 17 years there gave her a sound bourgeois core. She died in 1954. Her first novel came out in 1900, and her last big work in 1949, with some 15 volumes in all. She was married three times, to Willy, who thought her writing so good he unscrupulously cribbed it but who did get her into the writing habit; to Henri de Jouvenel, who would be French delegate to the League of Nations and ambassador to Rome; and to Maurice Goudeket, 17 years her junior, author of "Close to Colette" published here three years ago. During her marriage to de Jouvenel her only child was born, Colette, who appears in her writing as Bel Gazou.

I remember when Colette's name stood in this country for writing that was so frank and salacious — and from a woman, too! — that Americans blushed to be caught reading it; they thought of Colette and La Vie Parisienne in the same breath. In the last decade or so, thanks to translations, and to the pioneering advocacy of Glenway Wescott, among others, we realize that here is, as Miss Marks notes astutely, an eye which, however impure the objects it regards, is itself pure. She is a "looker," not reflective, philosophical, or even moral, but a remarkably dependable recorder. Her "indisputable masterpieces" are "La Maison de Claudine" ("My Mother's House"), "Sido" and "La Naissance du Jour" ("A Lesson in Love").

Lord Fancy Is Story Of Fight Game

Lord Fancy is a novel of eighteenty - century England, when all the sportsmen from the Prince of Wales down were caught up in the excitement of boxing — not only the fights and the fighters, but also in the heavy wagering involved. At that time, none of the odds-makers knew of a young man named Darcy Scott, secretly trained by Matt Burnham, England's ex-champion, but now rotting in an English prison where he had been unjustly thrown.

There would be many obstacles in Darcy's path — and he would need all the help he could get from his uncle, a notorious highwayman, and from London's influential Duchess of Montross — before that climactic day when he would stand in the ring face to face with The Slasher, the most feared fighter in England.

Pilgrims In Paradise Is Top Reading

PILGRIMS IN PARADISE By Frank G. Slaughter (Doubleday, $3.95).

As usual Slaughter's new books are always eagerly awaited. This one is no exception and lives up to all that is expected in his work.

It was a cold winter day in the England of 1647, and Paul Sutton, a young doctor, began to feel the lure of the tropics. But when he signed on as medical officer to a shipload of pilgrims bound for the Bahamas, the beckoning attractions spelled far more than escape — for Paul knew that the pilgrims' leader, his own brother, was a religious fanatic.

The Sot-Weed Factory Long One At Least

THE SOT-WEED FACTOR, by John Barth (Doubleday): In this fat novel (almost 800 pages) we encounter all the elements that could and do make for long, enjoyable reading. A young 17th century Englishman, naive for his years and poetically inclined, feels the urgings of discovery and adventure hard upon him. Today we might call him accident - prone as he blunders his way through all kinds of scrapes with characters ranging from pirates to prostitutes. Some of the action is set in the author's well - beloved Maryland of colonial days. The story is at times gay, witty and sympathetic. A sot-weed factor? Just another name for a tobacco peddler.

The Cord Of Steel Good

THE CHORD OF STEEL, by Thomas B. Costain (Doubleday): Since Costain was brought up in the little town of Brantford in Ontario, Canada, he has had more than a passing interest in the fact that Alexander Graham Bell made Brantford one of the testing places for his invention — the telephone. In this easily read and warmly sympathetic little book Costain tells the story of Bell and his revolutionary contribution to the modern world.

A Summary Of The World

Reds Watching U. S. Election Closely

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

World communism watches intently—and warily—as Americans prepare to choose a new president. It knows that resistance to communist global ambitions is personified by the United States.

What faces the man upon whom Americans will confer the awesome responsibilities of national and world leadership in November?

The cold war's course cannot be neatly charted on a graph of gains or losses. Each camp has its troubles. But if nuclear war is ruled out as a solution of the struggle, the decisive arena throughout the world is the political one. In that arena, the challenge to American world leadership adds up to something like this:

LATIN AMERICA

The far left, fanatical anti-Yankee fever of Cuba's rulers imperils the U.S. position among its next door neighbors. Cuba threatens to become a launching pad for Communist political missiles aimed at generating chaos and applying pressure wherever Latin American governments try to remain friendly with the United States. A backlog of popular good will toward the United States seems to have swindled.

When Nazism threatened to ride high south of the border, a determined U.S. program, coupled with a good neighbor policy, headed it off. But Washington concentrated its post-World War II attention on guarding Europe. Even after Western Europe was able to stand on its feet, Latin America's problems were shunted aside. Washington encouraged the Common Market in Europe, but, said critics, it ignored similar ambitions in Latin America.

Other critics of U.S. policy complained the United States consistently supported whatever regimes grabbed power, no matter by what means—that all a dictator had to do was to declare himself anti-Communist and all else would be overlooked. To the rising, angry generation, the United States often seemed a timid colossus, cowed by the Red threat, always on the defensive, forever promising but seldom matching deeds to promises.

Only after Cuba's Fidel Castro raised a real threat of physical soviet intrusion in the hemisphere did the United States look anxiously toward a program to help erstwhile good neighbors to help themselves. By then the United States had been battered and abused by Castro. Was this the only way, many a Latin American asked, to get North American consideration?

Today, by best available estimates, there are only a quarter million hard core Communists in all Latin America. But their influence grows steadily. On the U. S. doorstep, 30,000 dedicated Cuban Communists play a dominating role in a violently anti-Yankee regime. About 40,000 in Venezuela and a like number in Brazil are encouraged by reverses the United States has sustained in Cuba and elsewhere. Latin American governments obviously fear popular pressures generated by the left in Castro's name, and feel that backing the United States against Castro could be risky.

MIDDLE EAST

U.S. Middle East policy has sustained one painful setback after another in the five years since formation of the Baghdad Pact. U.S. support of the pact indicated to many a Middle Easterner that Americans were preoccupied above all with military alignments. To the impatient rising generation, hating the past and all it had stood for, it seemed that pressure groups too often interfered with American policy making.

Washington supported the unpopular government of Nuri al Said in Baghdad. When a violent revolt struck Iraq, the Baghdad Pact was an object of Middle East ridicule, deprived even of a name.

To young Middle Easterners, moving steadily into leadership positions in newly independent lands, there seemed little American understanding of basic area woes, complaints and struggles against the past. To them it seemed the United States considered even military neutrality to be against American interests.

Today, the Communists, too, are nursing a grievous wound in the Middle East. They have been set back severely in oil-rich, turbulent Iraq. This represents a gain for the West, though the United States had little to do with the political tides in that country since its July 1958 revolution. Yet, the threat remains of a Communist grab in Iraq, when and if the Kremlin considers itself strong enough to sustain communism in a state with which the U.S.S.R. has no borders.

Soviet economic penetration in the United Arab Republic of Syria and Egypt has been heavy and determined. The U.A.R. now depends upon Moscow for military equipment. Much of its economic program, including the key Aswan Dam project scorned by the United States, depends upon Moscow.

In the vast, strategic Middle East, long a target of Soviet ambitions, the United States enjoys the support of Turkey, Iran, Israel—a tiny nation surrounded by bitter enemies—and the shaky throne of litle Jordan. On the Soviet frontier, the United States has the support of the Shah of oil-rich Iran, but many of Iran's young men are disillusioned and unhappy, prime targets for a renewed Soviet drive for influence.

There are only about 12,000 hard-core Communists, and about 15,000 others who will do their bidding, in the whole Middle East. But events in recent years have made American prospects in the area far from glittering. In the minds of many Arab leaders the Russians have managed to separate collaboration with the Soviet government from support of the Communist movement, to the obvious detriment of Western interests.

ASIA

The United States had its eyes blackened by the youthful revolt against ancient Syngman Rhee in South Korea and the anti-Eisenhower rioting in Japan. South Korea remains a friend of the United States, but the Rhee regime's collapse hurt U.S. prestige among the multitude of Asians who considered Rhee closely tied to Washington.

Asia, constantly aware of the vast Red Chinese mainland, clings to ideas of neutrality, finding the Communist phrase 'peaceful coexistence" attractive. An estimated 1.5 million hard-core Communists in non-Red Asia, drawing support from perhaps 15 million others, is a potent force in an area where fears are openly expressed among non-Communist leaders that U.S. mistakes could bring hydrogen war to the sprawling, long-suffering continent.

AFRICA

Impatience for full independence without preparation, lack of sufficient numbers of educated people to manage their affairs, angry memories of colonialism, all make Africa an alluring prospect for communism in terms of future chaos with which to divide and harass the West. As an organized party, the Communists are almost non-existent in black Africa, but their agents and imported agitators are constantly busy. The Kremlin never loses a chance to dazzle Africans by promises of support and roars at the colonial West.

WESTERN EUROPE

Possibly 3.5 million Communist attracting about 12 million votes in various elections—the bulk in Italy and France—lost influence in much of Western Europe as living standards climbed. But they still represent a powerful cold war force.

Soviet policy successfully has caused strains in Western Europe's relations with the United States. The Russians have been busy trying to generate anxiety to compromise as an alternative to the threat of nuclear war. This brings nagging, criticisms, divisions and the contradictions in which Soviet Communists place much faith in their drive to isolate the United States.

GREAT CITIES OF THE WORLD

Editor's Note — It's a great place to visit, but who'd want to live there: New Yorkers have been shrugging off that tired insult for years. But a time comes when the record should be put straight. That's exactly what AP writer Saul Pett does in this story, one of a series on great cities of the world.

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP) — As Peter Stuyvesat said to the Indian maiden, "Some day, baby, I'll buy you this town."

Three hundred odd years later, New York, N.Y., still does that to people. It remains the capital of the big promise, the big potential, big deal, big dream.

This is the secret of the town's special excitement, the feeling that something big could happen to you any moment. A man is as big as his anticipation, however vague. In New York, you're always anticipating.

If you don't feel it, you're a tourist. Catch a few shows, have a brief ball, but go back where you came from, where you'll probably live longer, anyway, but who calls that living?

For years I've been coming to the same office building every morning. And every evening, I come out on the sidewalk to the same surprise. Someone suddenly has turned on the night. The sky is dark and the buildings are bouncing with light, and everything, in that first look at a Manhattan evening, seems adventuresome and mysterious.

There is an unspoken magic, a lure, an invitation, and all things seem possible. And, as always, there is the excitement of motion of secretaries scurrying down the street, rushing home to dress, the excitement of a town getting up to go somewhere—the promise of a big evening.

Maybe you're not actually going anywhere, maybe you're just plunging into a hot, impossibly crowded subway or dragging along on a commuter train. But for one moment, at least, in that first look at evening, you haven't felt drab, and that's a considerable thing to say for any town.

Maybe we New Yorkers don't see as many shows or catch as many concerts and art exhibits as you visiting foreigners do here. Maybe we don't visit the Statue of Liberty more than once or take in the view from the Empire State or ride a hansom cab through Central Park. Maybe not, but we know they're there, and that is a special feeling.

Sure, this town is frenetic and the pavements steam like a packed Turkish bath in summer and a one-inch snowfall can tie up the whole place in winter and the traffic is ulcerous and commuting a drag and the prices are murderous and we lost two out of three ball clubs and stickball has been replaced by a new sport called mugging or felonious assault and Mike Quill threatens to stop the subways New Year's Eve or a strike of tugboats could cut off the island's food or the Hungarians are raising a ruckus in front of the Russian consulate but this town is always in crisis and we're used to it.

Life is hard in any frontier town and that's what New York is, a frontier town, maybe our last. This is the vertical city that knocks so many people flat, and each birthday seems a triumph of survival. But people come here to get away from something or because they got a big dream. Who comes here just to live? You got to have a compelling reason to put up with the discomforts.

And the town is full of people with a compelling reason, with a big dream of swimming to the top, in the theater, in art, in publishing, finance, advertising, fashion. This is what makes it so neurotic and why we have, up in the Seventies off Park Avenue, more psychoanalysts than any other town.

Maybe we're actually not getting anywhere. But we're trying. We're not gestating. We're pushing. This is the frenzy but it is also the special vitality of New York, N.Y., and if you don't sense it maybe you'd be better off at a Rotarian sing in Keokuk, Iowa, or in the never-never land of Los Angeles, which is a city, some say, in Southern California.

This special surge, this push. Maybe Frenchmen feel it in Paris and Englishmen in London but surely in New York, it has reached a unique height. Has any other city in the world developed the four-martini lunch to such a wonderfully insane, totally human degree?

The four-martini lunch, when mice walk like men. The long, long talk, the nonsectarian confessional, the big brave dialogue, the big threats, the overflowing paranoia, the soaring euphoria. The $9,000-a-year man with the perfectly logical set of reasons why he should take over his boss' $30,000 job. The evangelical girl with the latest revelation from her analyst. The determined understudy, sure but not completely sure she could handle the lead better than the star. The determined star, sure but not completely sure, she's still better than the understudy. The man whose wife doesn't understand him, and the man whose wife does. The tired, the hungry, the tempest-tossed masses yearning to be free—at $25,000 a year.

This is one kind of New York but there are many others in this greatest free show in the world. The home of the kind man and the con man; the Chrylser Tower leaping up into the sky, like the beak of great swordfish; the home of the cold calculating eye and the absent-minded handshake; the stenographers waiting in line for gallery seats at the Met, hungry for beauty; the pimply-faced high school boy doing his geometry on the subway.

The busy belle of the cocktail party who pecks you on the cheek while studying the rest of the room over your shoulder; the Harlem mother sunning the family bedding in a tenement window; the ocean queens snug in thin Hudson River beds; the tortured integrity talk in Madison Avenue bars; the air view of Manhattan at night, as dazzling as a jeweler's tray; the hot dog man under his orange umbrella in the Fulton fish market; the dyspeptic halfbacks pushing racks of clothes through the chaos of the garment center; the girls, the girls, the girls—the lovely models bouncing up Fifth Avenue on a spring morning, the little actresses smoking out in the alley on a rehearsal break, the ladies strolling through the United Nations in their saris and kimonos; the daily world war of the subway rush; the quiet peace of the city streets on a sunny Sunday morning, scrubbed to pristine innocence; the roar at Yankee Stadium; the huge, the wild, the wonderful, the crazy whirl of motion and sight and sound and push and dream of New York, N.Y.

Can you match it anywhere?

ALONG BROADWAY

New Season Will Feature Musicals

Twenty-six arrivals are booked in every available playhouse for the box office race that starts next month. A dozen others have set everything but an opening date.

Playwright Arthur Laurents is going to double by staging his new script. Other writers on the boards are Tennessee Williams, Ira Levin, Brendan Behan, Mary Chase, Frenchmen Jean Anouilh and Eugene Ionesco. Five shows are based on bookshelf bestsellers.

The musical influx starts Sept. 12 with "Vintage '60," an intimate revue. On the 29th the London-Paris hit "Irma la Douce" arrives with most of the West End company including star Elizabeth Seal.

"Tenderloin," based on a novel about bawdy old New York, debuts Oct. 17 with Evans at the top of the cast in his first Manhattan musical. The show is being shaped by Abbott and the rest of the songwriting-producing team that collaborated on the current smash "Fiorello!"

Following in on Nov. 3 is "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," with songs and lyrics by Meredith Willson of "The Music Man" fame. Tammy Grimes and Harve Presnell are starred.

Another hit-making combination fervently seeking a second jackpot is readying "Camelot" for Nov. 17 premiere. Based on a tongue-in-cheek Arthurian novel by T. H. White, "Camelot" has a score by Frederick Loewe and Alan Jay Lerner. The director is Moss Hart. The leading lady is Julie Andrews. All previously joined forces in "My Fair Lady."

TV's dynamic Lucille Ball joins the melody lineup Dec. 15 in "Wildcat," with songs by Cy Coleman and book by N. Richard Nash.

Five dramas with considerable overseas success are also booked, and 20 addition foreign items are being eyed by producers for what could become an exotic stampede on Broadway.

Arriving Sept. 20 is Brendan Behan's "The Hostage" with its English cast; two days later Shelagh Delaney's "A Taste of Honey" comes in with Angela Lansbury and Joan Plowright. Joan Littlewood, who directed both plays in London, is devoting herself here to the Behan opus.

"Farewell, Farewell Eugene," a Yankee-written comedy that went abroad for first major success, unveils Sept. 27 with Margaret Rutherford in the spotlight.

Other imports are Anouilh's "Becket" with Olivier and Quinn on Oct. 6; and Ionescesco's "Rhinoceros" with Ei Wallach and Zero Mostel on Nov. 9.

Reminders On Beauty

By MILDRED SWIFT

Excuse me! And thank you for reminding me. The calls, they really came reminding me to remind you not to gather seed pods, grasses, etc. (for winter drying) along the roadsides. Leave these for people to enjoy as they're driving around.

CONTINUED

Yes, continued from last Sunday — methods of drying plants for winter use. Certain materials dry better if put in a vase in about an inch of water and let stand until the water evaporates. Dusty miller, asperistra and berried plants are lovely done by this method.

Gingko, maple and croton leaves hold color if dipped in melted paraffin and pressed with a warm iron between sheets of paper.

Some leaves such as magnolia, holly, dracena and rubber plant may be varnished or painted.

I've already given you the method for skeletonizing magnolia leaves.

Cattails are dipped in a varnish mixture (½ varnish, ½ thinner) then hang these upside down on the clothesline to dry. A clothespin holds one nicely. It takes two dippings to preserve these. They're beautiful dipped in thinner and flat paint or enamel in a color to match your room. It usually takes three or four dippings to get a good clear color. Let each dipping dry overnight.

A ROSE JAR

There are many interesting revivals in the current fashion collections. One of these is the rose jar which was so popular back in grandmother's day. In fact, it's such a charming custom, it should never go out of style. A rose jar with it's pleasing spicy fragrance, not only will keep your closet and clothes delicately scented, but it will make a lovely gift.

I found these instructions. Just gather the rose petals before the sun is high and spread them on a table in the shade. When they're dry from dew, arrange in one-half inch layers in a storage jar with a cover, sprinkling each layer with a pinch of salt. Add petals day by day, stirring thoroughly every morning until they measure two quarts when pressed down solidly.

Ten days after the last addition, mix together in a dish:

½ tablespoon ground mace
½ tablespoon cloves
½ tablespoon allspice
1 tablespoon cinnamon
4 tablespoons powdered orris root.

Fill your rose jar alternately with your rose petals and the above mixture. If you can get rose geranium or orange flower oil (I doubt finding these) add a drop of either to each layer.

Complete the jar by pouring two tablespoons of toilet water over the whle mixture. You can get pretty, inexpensive glass jars in the 5 and 10 cent store. If you're planning to give a rose jar as a gift, tie a pretty ribbon in a bow at the top.

IMPOSSIBLE SPOTS

There are some spots in the garden that are just impossible to reach with the lawn mower—so we don't want to grow grass there. You can use a ground cover, confining it to the area by a neat row of brick at the edge.

One of your prettiest covers is adjuga reptans or carpet bugle. It multiplies rapidly, hugs the ground, bears rosettes of leaves and small deep blue flowers. This plant likes the shade. It blooms in the spring.

IVY — There are many varieties. The variagated is gorgeous. All varieties are excellent for trailing effect. Grows in sun or shade and is good under trees—slow grower.

LIROPE or LILY TURF—Blue flowers, grass like foliage, any soil. Sun or shade. Makes a dense carpet — variegated variety more showy.

HONEYSUCKLE (yellow) Excellent cover for deep slopes where soil is not too good. It grows in full sun or half shade.

MAIDENHAIR FERN — Semi-shade — will grow in acid soil. Excellent for under planting azaleas and camellias.

VIOLETS — Partial shade — rich soil.

ANOTHER TREATMENT

Another treatment for those hard-to-mow places is to fill in with gravel or white shell. Confine this with a neat row of brick or the gravel will get out in your lawn to nick your mower. Then, pot plants can be placed on the gravel.

Another place rocks or gravel could be used is around a tree in a patio. We are told not to hard surface up to the trunk of any tree. With a nice square or circle left around the base of the tree, then rocks used to fill this, the roots of the plant can get their needed water. Pot plants can also be placed here and make a beauty spot.

GARDEN JOBS

During dry spells, mist your camellias late in the afternoon. The foliage needs a certain amount of moisture.

Leave grass clippings on the lawn. In this hot sun they're gone in a day or two. They decay and add organic matter to the soil. If you rake these clippings, you are depleting the soil of some of its best qualities.

Raise your lawn mower. The grass is not growing so fast now.

Feed amaryllis, using a fertilizer low in nitrogen. Remember the first number is the nitrogen. Feed again in September.

WATER EVERYWHERE

Into each life some rain must fall — which always poses a question of fashion — what will I wear? If your old poplin raincoat is "pooped;" if your trusty plastic coat has a split here and there — then it's time to splash into fashion with a new raincoat that will gladden instead of saddden your rainy days.

First off — we'll see the new seven-lights or tunic length. We'll find rain suits and rain capes high on the preferred list. There are roomy silhouettes and glamorous linings; there are fur trimmings and interesting buttons.

What fabrics will we find on the raincoat rack? Cotton duck and all-weather jersey, suede cottons and geometric prints, the ever-popular poplins, wool plaids and twills. Colors range from lemon yellow to gold, from pink to terra cotta, from willow green to black olive and of course, there will be beige, black and white.

Many rain coats are designed for fair as well as foul weather. Wear — the cotton tapestry coats, chesterfield style — the water repellent taffetas and jerseys. There's no reason to look droopy and soupy on a rainy day.

HINTS

Correct care of outdoor furniture will enhance its appearance and lengthen its life. If your outdoor furniture is made of aluminum, wax it occasionally and oil the hinges. Wrought iron and plastic furniture should be washed with mild detergent and water and rinsed with clear water then dried.

Careful wringing to avoid unnecessary wrinkles and the correct degree of dampness can save endless time while ironing. Don't forget that it's important to sprinkle as evenly as possible with lukewarm water when dampening. Double thicknesses such as collars and cuffs, may be sprinkled more heavily. Roll up garments to distribute moisture evenly.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Your Open House programs for next week are: Monday, Aycock will show you some tips on placing of telephones; Tuesday that same gentleman will show you how to take care of your lawn mower: Wednesday, flower arrangements; Thursday, Margaret Hays with La. Power and Light will bring you one of her fine recipes; Friday, Mrs. Paul Bourg from Hodge will make flower arrangements. You've seen her on Open House before and loved her work.

See you next Sunday.

Use Sawdust For Mulch

By AUDREY DAWSON

Sawdust is a cheap garden mulch but you may get a poor response for growth of plant because of depletion of soil nitrogen. When undecomposed, sawdust mixed with the soil under favorable conditions of temperature and moisture, it immediately starts to decompose just as do other plant materials. This breakdown is brought about by many species of soil bacteria and fungus. These micro organism require nitrogen, which the sawdust supplies only in traces. So, if extra nitrogen isn't supplied along with the sawdust, it will rob soil of nitrogen that should go to the plants, and the plants will suffer. So, you may need to add a little nitrogen to the soil.

FARM, HOME WEEK

Yours truly will leave early tomorrow morning for Baton Rouge to attend Farm and Home Week. Homemakers from Ouachita who will attend are: Mrs. Loyd Coon, Mrs. Pete Griggs, Mrs. Frank Buce, Mrs. Marion Huntsman, Mrs. Cleburne White, Mrs. H. Pogue, Miss Jo Ann White, Mrs. Marvin Shipp, Mrs. J. T. Bennett, Mrs. D. A. Mears, Mrs. Arlon Rawls, Mrs. L. J. Bower, Mrs. W. J. St. John, Mrs. Frank Mardis, Mrs. J. H. Pender, Miss Melba Neighbors, Mrs. C. C. Street, Mrs. O. J. Hamm, Mrs. W. F. Carson, and Mrs. Truman Wright. Mrs. Truman Wright will represent the parish in the state dress contest.

BIRD LOVERS

If you like native birds, and want to attract them to your garden, here's an excellent idea. Yours truly saw last week in the garden of Miss Pearl LeFevre at 2702 South Grand Street, that she had bought several baby chick feeders and punched holes in the bottom so as not to hold water. She used one coat hanger, opened it at the top and put through either end of feeder. Then placed top of coat hanger over a limb. This is an excellent and inexpensive way to attract the beautiful native birds to the garden. Of course many different feeds from bird seed to baby chick feed can be placed in the feeders.

JUST TALKING

Yours truly has heard the expression "a baker's dozen" ever so many times and never knew from whence it came - so, perhaps this note would be of interest to you. In England during the Middle Ages, bread was often distributed by women who bought it from the baker and peddled from house to house. These door to door sales ladies would pay the baker for only 12 loaves, yet receive 13 to sell. The price of the extra loaf became the seller's commission or pay hence the expression. "A baker's dozen" for the number 13 came into use.

Even back in 1900 banks had an "eye for the ladies." For their convenience one New York bank in that year provided a special row of tellers as well as desks and telephones. Today many banks court the fair sex with upholstered chairs, colorful murals, flower boxes, piped - in music and soft lights.

NEWS IN CLOTHING

A new zipper called zephyr is an all nylon and color dyed through. It is adventured as being small, light and flexible, very strong and practically snag proof. Check this month's issue of popular magazines for more about this.

A textured nylon thread for sewing wash and wear fabrics is being market tested by one of our big thread companies at retail and industrial levels. Because it is texturized, the slipperyness usually associated with nylon is not present.

One thread company is working on a process of shrinking mercerized thread before it is put on the spool for sale. This will help prevent those after laundering puckered seams on garments of wash and wear fabrics.

A THOUGHT

No task is too difficult, no day too long, no effort too tiresome, just so long as we know there is going to be appreciation at the end of the trail.

SOUTHERN GARDNER

Many Shades Of Crocuses

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

At this time of the year, we like to remind Southern gardeners about the fall and winter crocuses that can be grown so easily in our gardens. These crocuses are in many ways more beautiful than spring kinds. The color range runs through near blue into many shades of lavender to almost pink. There are white species, too, and al sorts of yellow varieties.

In the last few years, the bulb dealers have begun to offer us several of the autumn blooming crocuses and some of the real winter blooming ones. Frequently, they are advertised with the colchicums which flower in September and October. Remember, however, that colchicums have much larger flowers than crocuses, and that colchicum leaves come in large tufts with the daffodil foliage in the Spring.

GREAT NUMBER

There are a great number of wild crocuses in Europe and Asia Minor, and nearly all of them bloom from September until February. It just happens that the Dutch bulb people developed the few species that bloom in late winter and early spring instead of the fall and winter kinds. Our open winters and beautiful sunshiny days during September, October, November, December, January, and February are ideal for crocuses. The flowers are very hardy to frost because most of the species are from high mountains where they have to bloom in the snow and ice.

There is nothing tricky about growing crocuses. They like good garden soil with a little bone meal in it. Plant them from four to six inches deep just as soon as you get them because they really should have been planted in July. They are especially beautiful when planted along the edges of beds of flowers almost in the walk. This is a good place for them for two reasons: larger plants will not hide them and they are not likely to get dug up in cultivating the beds.

Since we are just beginning to develop the fall and winter species, these crocuses still have, mostly, their Latin names. The first one to bloom — sometimes as early as August — is advertised as Crocus zonatus because the little lavender pink flowers have a zone of golden markings inside the flowers of one kind. Soak the flat little corms an hour or so before you plant them, and they will crupt into big bunches of long - stemmed tiny flowers in a few days.

Fortunately, the October and November blooming Crocus speciousus has been developed into several kinds including white ones. These are all easy to grow almost anywhere in a garden except in wet places. The blue-violet, long stemmed flowers open almost flat in autumn sunshine and astound people who have never seen fall crocuses.

Begin with the two species mentioned above, and your appetite will soon be whetted for the winter crocuses. Some of these are Crocus sieberi, Crocus tomasinianus and Crocus chrysantha. The last named is yellow and has numberous named varieties, best of which is "E. A. Bowles."

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Mixed Exhibit Is Interesting

By MARY JARDINE

By GLADYS M. KULCKE
Guest Writer

The Highland Park Garden Club members exhibited a most interesting and pretty show of summer flowers and vegetables. These arrangements were made for paneled rooms of the home.

Mrs. Bill Briggs made a triangle line design in an oblong, black pottery container. The vertical and horizontal lines were formed by branches of variegated euonymus. This line was filled in by yellow marigolds. The large ones were placed near the axis, decreasing in size out and up the lines, giving a sense of transition. Orange marigolds were placed near the axis of the design, backed by magnolia leaves.

ARRANGEMENT

Mrs. W. A. Lewis placed a black boat shaped, pottery container on a black wooden base for her mass arrangement. Orange and yellow marigolds and zinnias formed a loose mass arrangement with Gatsia and Gold Dust Acuba foliage.

Mrs. H. F. Dossett used complimentary colors of rose-red and green in her arrangement. Magnolia leaves were clustered in a round, black, footed, pottery bowl. The zinnias were placed diagonally in a vertical line. A semi-fan shaped design made with iris foliage gave a background for the zinnias. A striking color combination.

Mrs. W. B. Hollingsworth Jr. used an old metal lamp, that had been finished in dull black, for her container. She used red caladium leaves most effectively with white zinnias. Grey - green Santalina was used on one side of the triangle design for balance. Fatsia foliage was placed at the back of the arrangement giving depth. Mrs. Fae Tyler entered a most interesting composition of summer vegetables with sansevieria and four kinds of squash, acorn, patty pan, crook neck and zucchini squash and parsley were used in the composition.

The acorn squash was placed in the principle position, the other vegetables were placed to one side, with parsley placed at the base of the design. The sansevieria was placed in a diagonal position extending out of the container. The white patty pan squash were used as an accessory. They were grouped on the opposite end of the tan colored, boat shaped container.

ENHANCE

Flower arrangements can enhance the beauty of the home in many ways. They give warmth and a lived in look to a home. A welt decorated room may seem cold without living plants or flowers. Flower arrangements play an important part in interior decoration of the homes. Cigarette boxes, ash trays, or art objects may serve as interesting accessories to floral design. The manner in which you place these objects in relation to flower arrangements makes for interesting and beautiful effects.

The shape and height of the design usually depends on the piece of furniture it is placed on or near. A round table might suggest a spiral design. A tall narrow wall space may suggest a tall vertical arrangement.

Two Stamps In Liberty Series Added

Another in the "Champion of Liberty" stamps has been announced. The set of two stamps, 4 cents and 8 cents, will honor Baron Karl Gustaf Emil Mannerheim, famous Finnish soldier and statesman and will be issued Oct. 26 in Washington, D.C.

Each stamp will show the legend "Gustaf Mannerheim — Liberator of Finland" and the dates of his birth and death 1867-1951, around the likeness of Mannerheim on a medallion.

Other stamps in this series soon to be issued are the Ignacy Jan Paderewski stamp on Oct. 8 and the Giuseppe Garibaldi stamp on Nov. 7.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations of the Mannerheim stamps may send addressed envelopes to the Postmaster, Washington, 13, D.C., with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed. Each envelope must be marked, in pencil, in the upper right corner indicating the denomination to be affixed. Requests should be sent prior to Oct. 26.

The outside envelope to the Postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Covers Mannerheim Stamp."

The American Topical Assn. of Stamp Collectors reports that animals, plants and flowers rank highest among the 15 most popular subjects on stamps. The association polled its 5,012 members who collect stamps covering some 300 topics. The top 15 subjects, United Nations and agencies, sports and Olympics, fine arts, medical, maps and globes, Americana, ships, religion, trains, Scouts, stamp centenaries, rotary and International Geophysical Year.

U.S. Tourist Confused

OTTAWA (AP) — A confused American tourist telephoned the Ottawa Evening Citizen Friday to check his map-reading ability. He found an official Alberta-British Columbia boundary sign on the local bridge joining Ontario and Quebec. The newspaper sent police, who blamed pranksters and took the sign away.

Ike, Herter Parley Set For Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has summoned Secretary of State Christian A. Herter to the White House Monday, a few hours before Herter departs for a conference of hemisphere foreign ministers in San Jose, Costa Rica.

Charges that the Soviet Union and international communism have become an increasing threat to the United States and to hemisphere nations in general, as a result of growing Moscow-Havana friendship, will be studied at the conference.

The threat by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to rain rockets on the United States if the United States abuses Cuba was a major factor in the agreement to call the conference. Another factor was a charge by Venezuela that the Dominican Republic had plotted an attempt to assassinate President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela June 24.

An indication of the importance the Eisenhower government attaches to Communist activities in this hemisphere, with the flowering friendship between the Soviet Union and Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime, is seen in some quarters in the fact that Charles E. Bohlen has been named an adviser on the U. S. delegation to Costa Rica.

Bohlen, now special adviser to Herter on Soviet Union affairs, spent nine years in Moscow on diplomatic assignments, the last as ambassador from 1953 to 1957. He is considered the government's top expert on the Soviet Union.

Only last Thursday Secretary Herter told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee of the United States' deep concern about Soviet propaganda and other pressures in Latin America and elsewhere. Most of Herter's 2½-hour appearance before the committee was devoted to Latin America, newsmen were told.

Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday that if Cuba should become a Soviet satellite, such as European countries which have fallen into the Communist orbit, it would be something that "would call for very definite action."

The Herter-Eisenhower conference, the White House announced, will take place at 11 a. m. EDT, Monday, after a Cabinet meeting called for 9 a.m.

The average census-taker will visit 350 to 400 households and count from 1,000 to 1,200 persons in a two-week period beginning the night of March 31.

The Following Newspaper Item Tells Why The American Hospital Association Says BLUE CROSS Does The Best Job Of Providing Hospital—Medical—Surgical Care at LOWER COST TO YOU!

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL, Wednesday, May 25, 1960

Hospital Group Urges Federal Employes Select Blue Cross

CHICAGO—The American Hospital Association urged Federal employes to select Blue Cross for their health insurance, marking the first time the association has made such a recommendation to a group.

Some 2,000,000 Government employes next month will pick their health insurance coverage under the Federal Employee Health Benefit Act. The workers will have a choice of a Government-wide service plan offered by Blue Cross and Blue Shield, an indemnity plan drawn up by commercial insurance companies and a number of localized, employer-sponsored plans. In addition to choosing the type of plan, employes will also select the level of benefits.

A.H.A. said it broke from its previous pattern of not making recommendations "because this is the first time that a large number of employes must individually select their own health insurance. In most cases, this choice is made by highly trained specialists employed by unions or management."

Under service programs such as Blue Cross coverage is provided in terms of days of hospital care and certain medical services. The indemnity plans make a dollar allowance, and in many cities these indemnities fail to purchase as many hospital days of care as in other cities, the association maintained.

Labor Chief Asks Larger Jobless Pay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell called Saturday for larger and longer payments under the federal-state unemployment insurance system.

He timed his call to the system's 25th anniversary. He said it "has made a signal contribution to wage earners and the economy but could make a greater one in the years ahead if prompt action were taken to correct its weaknesses."

Mitchell noted that the program now gives some protection to 45 million workers and has bolstered purchasing power in communities having trouble with unemployment.

But, he said: "There are still 13 million wage earners without unemployment protection."

"The maximum benefit amount provided in most state laws also is still too low to permit the great majority of workers to receive 50 per cent of their usual earnings, as has been repeatedly recommended by President Eisenhower," he added.

"Duration in most states is short of the President's recommended goal of 26 weeks for every person who qualifies for benefits and who remains unemployed that long."

This was a reference to the fact that under the present system, while most states have 26-week maximums or more, not all jobless workers can get benefits for the whole period.

LSU Alumni OK Scholarship Fund Program

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The Louisiana State University alumni council approved plans for the inauguration of a scholarship fund granting $800 to 12 incoming freshmen this fall at a meeting yesterday.

In approving plans for this much needed freshman assistance program, called the Alumni Federation Freshman Scholarship Program, the council set the basis for selection on demonstrated academic performance and character for students who need and deserve some financial assistance in obtaining a university education.

The scholarships will be nonrenewable after the freshman year and are open to applicants of either sex, in any academic field and to out of staters as well as Louisiana residents.

In other action, the council voted unanimously to direct its executive committee to prepare and release a resolution expressing the alumni federations opposition to constitutional amendment No. One which affects the structure and composition of the universities board of supervisors.

Set In Hawaii

NEW YORK (AP) — The musical "13 Daughter," set in Hawaii in the last century, is scheduled to open on Broadway Feb. 9.

The book, music and lyrics all come from Eaton "Bob" Magoon Jr., who reportedly based the plot in part on a factual event in his background.

The musical deals with a young and ambitious Chinese mandarin who came to Hawaii to marry a princess. It was prophesied that the princess would bear no sons and 13 daughters, none of whom would marry, because her marriage to a foreigner defied tradition.

Football Whistles Blowing

Football ends summer vacations for many high school athletes this week. The training mill starts about the same time generally over the state, and the first official games for most schools are scheduled for September 8 or 9. Some make their start a week later.

Some schools of this section of the state have already conducted their physical examinations and will start their athletes training tomorrow. Others have the physicals slated tomorrow and will follow with workouts the next day. Some, like Neville of Monroe, are permitting their athletes to take their physicals privately with their family physicians, and will plunge into regular work tomorrow

Ouachita Parish, that heretofore has had its football teams limited to the Twin Cities, will find the new Sterlington High School doing business in a small football way this year as a non - contender in the state Class B championship race.

Sterlington hasn't yet announced a representative schedule, but Coach Guy Carroll, who built fine teams at Rayville and LaGrange of Lake Charles, is ready to start Sterlington up the road of football fortune. After physical exams tomorrow morning, beginning at 8:30, Sterlington will start work Tuesday.

Neville's state double - A champions will do all their training at home this season, issuing equipment at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, and going immediately to the practice field. Coach Bill Ruple plans two - a - day workouts beginning at 9 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Coach Bob Ellen will work Ouachita's triple - A Lions on their home field tomorrow, Tuesday, and Wednesday. Then the Lions will depart for Camp Ki - Ro - Li for eight or ten days of morning and afternoon work.

The West Monroe Rebels after workouts at 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on the home front tomorrow and Tuesday, will leave Wednesday for their grid encampment near Hammond — Camp Singing Waters. Coach Cecil Pirkey has made four scrimmage dates with Baker, Denham Springs, Hammond, and Istrouma before returning home August 27 to host the annual West Monroe Jamboree, set for September 2. Between 33 and 40 boys are expected to make the Camp Singing Waters trip.

Season openers for area teams will be:

Sept. 9 — Neville at West Monroe, Winnfield at Bastrop, Jena at Jonesboro, Minden at Ruston, LaSalle at Sicily Island, Delhi at Mangham, Bernice at Farmerville, Ferriday vs. Block at Jonesville, Columbia at Oak Grove, Rayville at Holly Ridge, Vicksburg at Tallulah, Newellton at Winnsboro, Benton at Arcadia, Lake Providence at Eudora, Ark., Davidson at Crowville, St. Francisville at Vidalia.

Pre-Hunting Shoot

The Pine Hills Gun Club, in its inaugural year, conducts a pre - hunting season club shoot and party next Sunday for its members. This first such event for the club will divide the shooters into classes A, B. or C for trap and skeet, according to their known shooting ability. Fifty targets each will be offered shotgunners at the traps or on the skeet range. Or they can enter both divisions of shooting.

Thirteen trophies will be awarded, and special prizes will be given for breaking colored targets. An informal buffet party for members and their guests will be held at the main lodge of Bancroft Camp in the evening following the shoot. Mail reservations for the shoot and buffet are already being taken by Dr. R. W. Dickenhorst, club secretary and treasurer.

Sports Cars Organized

Sports car owners of the Monroe area, now organized into an association called Scuderia Washitaw, will conduct a rally today with a "shortest distance" event, beginning at the Twin Cities Shopping Center on Louisville Avenue.

So far the club stresses automobile safety and insists that today's event is not a race, that speed plays no part whatever is the outcome of the event. The car drivers will be permitted to take their time about getting to where they're supposed to go. It's the machine that can plot the best shortcuts while observing traffic regulations and make it home with the least mileage recorded that wins the event. The last machine reporting in may be the winner.

The drivers will be given area maps and told their destination when they report for today's start.

Last week they made their official contest start with what they called a "gimmick gymkhana." It turned out pretty successful, won a lot more enthusiasm among sports car owners, and should bring a bigger turnout today.

Vols Battle Cats For Second Spot

West Monroe entertains Sterlington at Confederate Park this afternoon at 2:30 in a game that could decide the runnerup spot in the La-Ark League.

Ruston, which sewed up the regular season title Friday night by walloping West Monroe, 14-1, invades hapless Bastrop in the day's only other league action.

With the top four teams already assured of a playoff spot, the only business remaining is the order in which they finish. Only a half-game currently separates fourth place Sterlington with Monroe and West Monroe, knotted for second.

A West Monroe victory today would give Sterlington its 13th loss and virtually seal a fourth place finish for the Cats. However, a victory by the invaders, coupled with a Monroe loss to Dubach Monday night, could give them the runnerup spot.

The Shaughnessey playoffs are scheduled to get underway next Sunday with Ruston meeting the fourth place club and the second and third place teams tangling in the semifinals.

Maris' Triple, Sacrifice Net Only Marker

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees put together a triple by Roger Maris, a sacrifice fly by Mickey Mantle and lefty Whitey Ford's three-hit pitching for a 1-0 victory over the Washington Senators Saturday. The victory enabled the Yanks to retain their slim lead in the American League.

The Orioles defeated the Boston Red Sox 8-7 in a night game in Baltimore. They trail the Yanks by just four percentage points.

Rookie Don Lee and Ford were locked in a pitching duel when Maris led off the seventh with a triple for the fourth hit off the young Washington right-hander. After missing a home run by inches on a foul, Mantle sent to a high fly to Bob Allison in right. Maris had no trouble scoring.

Ford did not allow a hit until Allison singled for the first of his two hits with two out in the sixth. The little Yankee southpaw faced the minimum of 17 men during the streak. He gave up a walk to Jose Valdivielso in the third, but the Senators' shortstop was picked off.

In posting his eighth victory in 15 decisions, Ford never was in trouble until the ninth when Allison led off with a ground rule double into the left field stands. He got Reno Bertolia on a foul, then walked Harmon Killebrew. But Jim Lemon was his seventh strikeout victim, and Billy Gardner ended the threat by grounding out.

An Old Timers' Day crowd of 45,040, honoring the All-Star teams of 1939, sent the Yankee Stadium attendance for the season over the million mark for the 15th straight year. The season total for 50 games on 44 dates was boosted to 1,039,671.

Pilarcik Bats Baltimore To 8th Straight

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pinch hitter Al Pilarcik's two-out single in the ninth drove in the tying and winning runs Saturday night as the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Boston Red Sox 8-7 for their eighth straight victory.

Winning in the ninth inning for the second night in a row, Baltimore stayed four percentage points behind the league-leading New York Yankees in the American League pennant chase.

Held without a homer for the first time in nine games, Baltimore made good use of the shorter hits in the free-scoring contest before 23,672 fans.

Only one of Baltimore's 11 hits went for extra bases. That was pinch hitter Bob Boyd's one-out double in the ninth following a walk to another pinch hitter, Clint Courtney.

Sturdivant, the fourth Boston pitcher, entered the game in the seventh after the Red Sox scored three times to take the lead for the first time. He retired seven men in a row, four on strike outs, before he walked Courtney.

Banks Hits 32nd In 4-2 Cub Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Second baseman Jerry Kindall belted a home run and single Saturday and Ernie Banks hit his 32nd homer to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 4-2 victory over Philadelphia.

Kindall's drive into the lower left field stands in the sixth after two were out was the clincher. It was his second of the year. Banks gave the Cubs an insurance run in the eighth when he drove one of reliever Art Mahaffey's pitches into the upper left field stands.

Kindall scored the Cubs' first run in the fifth inning when he beat out an infield single, moved to third on Elvin Tappe's double and came home on Richie Ashburn's single. Bob Will's outfield fly in the same inning scored Tappe from third with the Cubs' secon drun. Tappe had advanced on Ashburn's single.

Bob Anderson picked up his sixth victory against seven defeats, allowing nine hits and both runs in the seven innings he worked. He was chased in the eighth inning when the Phillies got their second run.

Tony Curry opened the eighth with his second double of the game and moved to third on Pancho Herrera's short single Don Elston came on. Tony Gonzalez lifted a fly ball to center and Al Heist dropped it, but he still was able to get Herrera at second on a force play with Curry scoring. Elston then struck out Lee Walls and Gonzalez was thrown out stealing.

Johnny Buzhardt, a former Cub, was charged with the loss. He is now 4-10. He gave up five of the Cubs' seven hits before being lifted for a pinch - hitter in the seventh.

Clemente Dizzy After Beating Cards

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Roberto Clemente, the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates' fleet - footed and hard-hitting right fielder, said Saturday, "I have a little headache—I'm a little bit dizzy."

Clemente was smiling when he made the remark in the Pirates' dressing room after driving in all of the runs in a 4-1 victory over second-place St. Louis.

The Puerto Rican outfielder, who singled twice and homered, went hitless Friday night in his return to the lineup as the Cards defeated the Pirates 9-2.

He had been out of action for nearly a week as a result of injuries suffered when he crashed headlong into a wall in a game against San Francisco.

"I still feel a little dizzy and I couldn't sleep all of last night," Clemente declared. "But even if I felt a little dizzy, I sure banged out them hits, didn't I."

Several Pirates laughed as Clemente reviewed the game. He has a habit of playing well when he says he does not feel in top shape.

Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh, who has often said his team has the ability to snap back, declared:

In the Cardinal dressing room, Manager Solly Hemus sat quietly. He took the defeat hard. He said:

"Our young pitcher, Ray Sadecki, just didn't have it today and Haddix pitched himself quite a ball game. Tomorrow we'll wind up the five-game series with a doubleheader. We'll be in there trying to take them both. Don't worry about that."

NL Wins, 2-0, In Annual Old Timers Game

NEW YORK (AP)—They rolled back the page of baseball history in a nostalgic pageant Saturday when the New York Yankees presented their annual Old Timers' Day. On this, the 21st anniversary of the first Old Timers fete here, the 1939 All-Star teams were honored.

The Nationals, who lost by 3-1 in 1939, won a two-inning rematch 2-0 as Manager Gabby Hartnett turned the tables on Manager Joe McCarthy.

Billy Herman of Chicago, who had two of the six NL hits, doubled off Red Ruffing and scored on a single by Joe Medick of St. Louis. The latter stole second while Tommy Bridges of Detroit was pitching and scored on a single by Ival Goodman, Cincinnati outfielder. Babe Phelps, Brooklyn catcher, and Cincy shortstop Lon Frey also hit safely.

The Americans made two singles. Bob Johnson, former Philadelphia Athletic outfielder, hit one and ex-Yank third baseman Red Rolfe the other.

Other honored guests, other than the men who played the mid-summer classic in 1939 included Mrs. John McGraw, Mrs. Babe Ruth, Mrs. Lou Gehrig and Mrs. George Stirnweiss, widow of the Yankee second baseman who lost his life in a train crash two years ago.

Three former members of the Washington club, Ossie Bluege, Joe Judge and Goose Goslin also were honored.

Most touching moment came when Tony Martin, Hollywood singer, sang Auld Lang Syne in honor of the 1939 All-Star players who have passed away (Arky Vaughn, Morrie Arnovich, Mel Ott and Frankie Hayes, Ruth and Gehrig). The crowd of about 45,000 joined in the refrain and also gave ex-President Herbert Hoover a great ovation when Martin sang "Happy Birthday." Hoover celebrated his 86th birthday earlier in the week and threw out the first ball Saturday.

Each player was presented with an engraved silver plater as a memento of the occasion and all were guests of the Yankee owners, Del Webb and Dan Topping, at a banquet Saturday night.

Chinese May Stage Walkout At Olympics

Teng Chuan Kai, president of Formosa's Olympic committee, said he placed a telephone call home 24 hours ago but it had still not come through.

"The decision on whether we stay in the Olympics is up to Taipei officials," he said. "We will just do what they say."

Teng said no immediate walkout was contemplated, but he indicated it might become a possibility if the International Olympic Committee (IOC) turns a deaf ear to Nationalist Chinese demands at sessions opening here Aug. 19.

Formosa wants to compete at the Olympics as the official team of the Republic of China. The IOC has ruled it must compete either as Taiwan or Formosa — strictly geographical terms which avoid stepping on the toes of the Red Chinese.

Haddix Halts St. Louis Win Streak At 6

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Hot-hitting Bob Clemente and Dick Groat led Pittsburgh to its first victory in the last three games with St. Louis Saturday, 4-1, and the Pirates regained a four-game edge over the Cardinals in the National League race.

Clemente homered and singled twice, driving across all the Pirates' runs. Groat collected a triple, double, two singles and a walk. He scored twice.

Left-hander Harvey Haddix went the distance for Pittsburgh in halting the Cardinals' victory streak at six. He spaced seven hits, struck out five and walked two. His season record stands now at 7-7.

Nineteen-year-old Ray Sadecki started for St. Louis and absorbed his sixth defeat against six triumphs. He left in the fourth in favor of Ronnie Kline. Bob Grim relieved in the seventh.

Haddix gave the Cards their run in the first on Julian Javier's double and Bob Nieman's single, then blanked them the rest of the way. Javier's double was the only extra-base blow.

The Cardinals' lead was short-lived as Pittsburgh came back in its half of the first for a run on Groat's triple and Clemente's single.

Packers Tip Pittsburgh In 20-13 Scrap

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, striking with a second half aerial attack, directed by Lamar McHan, opened their exhibition season Saturday night with a 20-13 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

A crowd of 17,400, watching the first pro football game in New Orleans in 12 years, saw veteran McHan and Paul Hornung pass for one touchdown apiece. Hornung also kicked two field goals.

The teams traded a pair of first half field goals and were tied 6-6 at the half.

The Packers came to life when McHan, a seven-year pro veteran, came in as quarterback at the start of the third quarter. McHan capped an 80-yard scoring drive with a 22-yard touchdown pass to Max McGee, formerly of Tulane.

Minutes later, the Packers' Hank Gremminger intercepted a pass from Bobby Layne and dashed 50 yards to the Steelers' 14.

Hornung, the NFL scoring king, flipped a 10-yard touchdown pass to Boyd Dowler to give Green Bay a 20-6 lead.

Pittsburgh closed out the scoring in the fourth quarter, marching 80 yards in 17 plays as Layne's passes and running by John Henry Johnson sparked the drive. Johnson went over from the 4.

All-Star Game Of East-West Players Planned

CHICAGO (AP)—An East-West bowl game involving the nation's top collegiate football stars will be staged in Philadelphia next summer, the president of the American Football Coaches Assn. said Saturday.

President Rip Engle said the match between two 30-man squads of collegians would be held in late June or early July and would be televised.

Both the National and American football leagues have approved the project, he said.

McCORMICK BEATEN

Roach, Buhl Lead Braves Past Frisco By 4-2 Count

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Mel Roach drove in three runs on a homer, a single and a squeeze bunt Saturday as the Milwaukee Braves beat the San Francisco Giants 4-2.

Fireballing right - hander Bob Buhl held the Giants to six hits as he registered his 11th victory against six losses. The Braves got 13 off loser Mike McCormick, now 10-8.

Roach, who drove in three runs with a double in the Braves' 4-2 victory Friday night, contributed to an unearned run by the Giants in the second inning Saturday when he dropped a double play ball.

He promptly rebounded by lofting a homer, his second of the year, over the left field fence in the third, and driving in a tie-breaking tally in the fourth after Henry Aaron walked, stole second and took third on Bob Schmidt's wild throw.

Then in the seventh, after singles by Billy Bruton, Del Crandall and Aaron had produced one Milwaukee run, Roach executed a squeeze bunt to push Crandall across with a counter that wrapped up the game.

Brosnan Pitches, Bats Cincy Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim Brosnan pitched—and hit — Cincinnati out of trouble in the eighth inning Saturday, producing a tight relief stint that helped the Reds seal a 6-2 victory over Los Angeles.

Young Jim O'Toole, who took the victory, had held Los Angeles under tight check until the sixth inning, but tired quickly.

Control specialist Brosnan inherited the job and cut down the next three men. Norm Larker flied out, Duke Snider struck out and Frank Robinson ran hard to snare Charlie Neal's fly.

Brosnan also drove in two runs with a double in the Reds' three-run uprising in the eighth.

Wally Post had started the rally with a single and Gordie Coleman doubled him in. An intentional walk to Ed Bailey set up Brosnan's blow.

Plum Sparks Cleveland To 28-14 Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Quarterback Milt Plum threw three touchdown passes and set up the fourth score Saturday night as the Cleveland Browns ended their Briggs Stadium jinx with a 28-14 victory over the Detroit Lions in a National Football League exhibition game.

It was the first Cleveland triumph on Detroit's home grounds since Coach Paul Brown brought his team into the NFL in 1950. The Browns lost on 10 previous appearances.

The Lions never really got rolling after the Browns' lightning fast start and had to settle for single touchdowns in the second and fourth periods.

Plum completed 14 of 18 passes and threw a 40-yard touchdown pass to Ray Renfro on the first scrimmage play.

Five minutes later he passed 8 yards to Gern Nagler for the second touchdown and then set up the third score with four completions that brought the Browns to the Detroit 16. Jim Finally drove over from the 1.

The Lions, trailing 21-0, drove 74 yards in nine plays with Nick Pietrosante going over from the 1 in the opening minutes of the second period. A second Detroit drive, this one also for 74 yards, ended when Terry Barr fumbled as he crossed the goal line with Cleveland recovering for a touch back.

Averill Dealt To White Sox

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Braves announced Saturday that utility player Earl Averill has been acquired by the Chicago White Sox from Milwaukee's Louisville farm in the American Association.

In exchange, Louisville obtained infielder Don Drohovich, another player to be named later and an undisclosed amount of cash. Averill plays every position except shortstop and pitcher.

Averill was with the Chicago Cubs until a month ago when he was acquired by Milwaukee.

Bills Wallop Broncos, 31-14, In Exhibition

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Veteran Tommy O'Connell scored once and passed for two other touchdowns Saturday as the Buffalo Bills beat the Denver Broncos 31-14 for their first exhibition victory in the American Football League.

O'Connell hit Dick Brubaker from 30 yards out and Norm King from 14 yards away after his own score on a 1-yard sneak as the Bills grabbed a 21-0 lead in the first half.

Frank Tripucka, a proven pro with both National League and Canadian experience, whipped Denver along on two scoring drives. One of them moved 74 yards in the second quarter with Bob McNamara plunging the final yard. The other covered 69 yards in the third period with Gene Mingo carrying the final 7 yards.

Richie Lucas of Penn State, the Bills' first draft choice, turned in the game's crowd-pleaser, an 88-yard kickoff return that led to a Buffalo touchdown early in the second half.

Palys Holds Batting Lead In Southern

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Birmingham outfielder Stan Palys, maintaining a steady .373 batting gait for two weeks, led the Southern Assn. in four department Saturday and was pressing the leaders in at least two others.

The veteran Baron kept the No. 1 spot in hits with 158, triples with 12 and total bases with 289. He has been leading the hitters for average by a huge margin since the early weeks of the 1690 season. And according to figures released Saturday by Friend News Service, Palys is pushing also for the top spot in homers and runs batted in. He owned 25 home runs, one less than leader Tim Harkness of Atlanta, and he totaled 99 runs batted in compared with 104 for pace setting Leo Posada of Shreveport.

Palys, a cinch to win his second Dixie batting title, is also near the top in doubles with 31. Bob Burda of Memphis is the No. 1 man with 33.

Jim Koranda of Atlanta and Jay Hankins of Shreveport deadlocked for the lead in runs with 89 apiece. Atlanta's Gnee Wallet set the pace in stolen bases with 11.

Atlanta stayed in front in team batting with a robust .280 figure, followed by Shreveport at .276 and Nashville at .271. Chattanoga and Little Rock were locked in a virtual tie for the lead in team fielding. Chattanooga had an averge of .9716 and Little Rock .9715.

AFTER RECORD PERFORMANCES

Nieder, Sime Put On U.S. Squad

WALNUT, Calif. (AP) — Taking note of two record performances, U.S. Olympic officials Saturday named Bill Nieder and Dave Sime to the formidable U.S. team.

Nieder, an Army lieutenant, bettered his pending shot put record of 65-7 with a 65-10 heave Friday night at Mt. San Antonio College as the squad held a final tune before leaving California. The recognized world mark of 63-4 is currently held by a teammate, Parry O'Brien.

And Sime ran the 100 meters in a blistering :10.1, equalling a world recognized record held by three men, but also better in 10 flat recently by Armin Hart of Germany and Harry Jerome of Canada.

Afterward, team officials said Nieder will replace the injured Dave Davis of San Fernando Valley State, whose best mark Friday night was 59-8½. Davis had edged Nieder in the recent qualifying meet at Palo Alto, Calif. Davis, whose right wrist is heavily taped, will go to Rome as an alternate, ineligible to compete unless a starter is disabled.

Nieder, former strong boy of Kansas University, flew home to his station Friday night without knowing he would go to Rome as a contestant. Officials telephoned him Saturday at the San Francisco Presidio to relay the news.

The official announcement said: "After the observation of all team members the past three weeks, it is the opinion of the staff that the injured wrist of Dave Davis will not permit him to compete at Rome."

Sime, former Duke University star, and Paul Winder of Morgan State had tied in the 100 meters at the qualifying meet in Palo Alto, Calif.

Team officials said Winder will go to Rome as a member of the 400-meter relay team. Others named to that team: Sime, Ray Norton, Frank Budd, Hayes Jones and Stone Johnson.

They said the 1,600-meter relay squad will consist of Jack Yerman, Earl Young, Otis Davis, Ted Woods, Jerry Siebert and Glenn Davis.

Officials broke with tradition last week by substituting John Kelley of Groton, Conn., for Bobby Cons, of Culver City, Calif., in the marathon squad. Cons had won a berth in the qualifying meet. He will go to Rome as an alternate.

Massey Back In B&B Ring Monday Night

Veteran New Orleans wrestler Al Massey returns to B&B Arena tomorrow night to take part in a threebout card involving six grapplers.

Al, who alternates between villain and hero, meets Ken Cooper in a 60 - minute, best - of - three-falls match. Jessica Rogers and Nell Stewart, two members of the so - called weaker sex, meet in another hour - limit, two - falls - to - win scrap. Bo Morrow and Tony Jiminez tangle in the evening's other show.

Massey is a gent who has been around a long time and knows all of the trade's tricks — legal and illegal. He'll be meeting a local favorite in Cooper, a clean wrestler who has been taking some bad beatings lately.

Miss Stewart took the measure of Jessica Rogers in two quicks falls last week. Miss Rogers dived through the ropes and was counted out before she could return to action in the second fall. The defeat was the second Nell has dealt to Jessica here and Miss Rogers is determined to win this time even if she has to quit acting like a lady.

Morrow is another local favorite while Jiminez is a guy they love to hate. Tony is favored to beat his less - experienced foe.

Winnfield Sets Fall Practice

WINNFIELD, La. (Special) — Winnfield's defending district 1-A champions will open fall football practice Monday.

First game for Coach Charles Newman's Tigers will be against Bastrop Sept. 9.

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Jim Parker, 275 - pound all - league tackle for the Baltimore Colts, doesn't provide many laughs for the oppsoition on the football field, but he is the "chief clown" for the Colts' basketball club during the off-season.

12 LETTERMEN RETURN

Indians To Face Same 10 Opponents In '60 Campaign

Northeast Louisiana State College's football Indians will be attempting a comeback this fall against the same 10 opponents who held them to a pair of victories in 1959.

Jack Rowan will be starting his third year as athletic director and head football coach at Northeast and will be seeking to settle the score with the eight squads that defeated the Tribe last season.

Twelve 1959 lettermen will heed the call to two - a - day practice, which begins Sept. 1. Rowan has no returning '59 lettermen at fullback and at the all-important quarterback slot but is depending on some top - flight squadsmen, transfers and freshmen to step in and lighten the load at those positions.

Top contenders for fullback are Ed Thomas, who was elected as one of the tri - captains by the squad last spring, and Terry Head, a 1958 letterman at halfback. Quarterback candidates are led by Don Wattigny, a Tulane transfer; Peter Vincient, a transfer from Sunflower Junior College; and James Braun, a 1959 squadsman.

Rowan will be leaning heavily on these returning lettermen:

These squadsmen are also expected to make a strong bid for berths this fall:

Halfbacks — Donnie Brunson and Morris Douglas.

Also fighting for positions will be these transfers:

Halfbacks — Al Ott (Louisiana State University), Ferdy Cruce (University of Alabama), Don Blackweldor (Wingate Junior College) and Dewey Smith (LSU).

Season tickets for Northeast's four home games go on sale Monday, Aug. 22, at the college and at downtown locations. Fans who held season tickets last year will be given preference in obtaining the same locations if they contact the Athletic Department in Brown Hall before Aug. 22.

Season tickets sell for $7, which represents a $1 saving over the regular reserve - seat price of $2 a game.

Here is the 1960 Northeast schedule:
Sept. 17 Arkansas State at Monroe
Sept. 24 Arlington State at Arlington, Tex.
Oct. 1 East Texas State at Commerce, Tex.
Oct. 8 Northwestern State at Monroe
Oct. 15 McNeese State at Lake Charles
Oct. 22 Southeastern Louisiana College at Hammond
Oct. 29 University of Southwest Louisiana at Lafayette
Nov. 5 Delta State at Cleveland, Miss.
Nov. 12 Jacksonville (Ala.) State at Monroe
Nov. 19 Louisiana Tech at Monroe

Facing the same 10 opponents last season, Northeast defeated Arlington State 26-21 and Southwestern 34-20 but dropped the other eight games.

CHISOX OVER A'S

Sievers' Homer Paces 8-3 Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — Roy Sievers' three-run homer paced a 13-hit attack which led the Chicago White Sox to a 8-3 victory over the Kansas City Athletics Saturday.

Sievers' blast, his 23rd, capped a five-run fourth inning and put the third-place White Sox ahead to stay after Kansas City had grabbed an early three-run lead.

Dick Donovan, taking over for starter Frank Baumann in the fourth inning, pitched five-hit ball the rest of the way and gained his fifth triumph against a single loss.

Kansas City scored an unearned run in the second on an error and a double by Ken Hamlin. A single by Bill Tuttle and doubles by Ray Jablonski and Dick Williams made it 3-0 in the third. Chicago picked up a run on a walk, a hit batsman and a single by Nellie Fox in the third and locked up the game with five runs in the fourth.

Al Smith opened the fourth with a double and scored on a single by Luis Aparicio. Sherm Lollar walked, but Donovan forced Aparicio at third on an attempted sacrifice. Jim Landis bunted safely and Lollar scored when Briggs threw the ball past first base. Fox grounded out before Sievers unloaded his homer.

The drive set off the exploding scoreboard but its cries were nothing compared with the wails of the tremendous gathering of little leaguers who were guests of the management. The game drew 14,189 paid customers, but the stands were jammed with an additional 34,072 boys in their baseball uniforms.

Nash Accepts Scholarship To Kentucky

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Charles Nash, Lake Charles High School's all-America basketball player, will attend the University of Kentucky.

Nash and Adolph Rupp, cage coach at Kentucky, announced the decision Saturday.

"We are just tickled to death to get Cotton," Rupp said.

Nash said he picked Kentucky from among more than 50 college and universities offering scholarships because of its basketball reputation and fine schedule Kentucky teams play, and because he was impressed with the school and the campus.

Nash won all-America honors during his senior year at Lake Charles High School, and last year was the state's leading class AAA scorer, notching 1,227 points in 37 games, an average of 33.2 points per game. He was twice chosen on Louisiana all-state teams while at Lake Charles and last season was picked as the state's player of the year.

IT'S NO WONDER

Wilkinson & Co. Received Grid Schooling As Linemen

By FRED HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

Football games are won or lost in the line according to the coaches' creed. No wonder most of the game's finest teachers—headed by Bud Wilkinson—did their playing up front.

Wilkinson enters his 14th season at Oklahoma as the dominant figure among active major college mentors. His Sooner steamroller has won 121 games, tied 3 and lost only 13 for a .903 percentage.

As a guard, Wilkinson was a key figure in two straight unbeaten seasons at Minnesota, 1934-35.

Actually, six of the current eight leading coaches learned the fundamentals they preach as linemen.

John Vaught of Mississippi is runner-up to Wilkinson in the success column, an Associated Press rating of the top 25 coaches reveals (based on a minimum of 55 games).

Vaught was an All-America guard and captain at Texas Christian in 1932.

The others:

4. Woody Hayes, Ohio State (Tackle, Denison, 1932-34).

6. Ben Schwartzwalder, Syracuse (Center, West Virginia, 1930-32).

7. Ralph Jordan, Auburn (Center, Auburn, 1929-31).

8. Paul Bryant, Alabama (End, Alabama, 1933-35).

Third-ranked Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech was a quarterback at Tennessee while Dartmouth's Bob Blackman, No. 5, could not play varsity ball because of polio.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, Pop Warner, Knute Rockne, John Heisman, Percy Haughton, Jock Sutherland, Earl Blaik, Bob Neyland, Howard Jones, Fritz Crisler, Frank Leahy, Lou Little, Wallace Wade to name a few.

"Desire" and "second effort" have become watchwords at Oklahoma under Wilkinson. A player injured in a Sooner scrimmage traditionally is greeted by the cry of his teammates: "Why don't you do a few push-ups while you're resting on the ground?"

The boundless drive Wilkinson has instilled in his players has paid off in three national championships, four unbeaten seasons and an unbroken string of 13 Big Eight Conference crowns—one of them shared.

Though the versatile Wilkinson switched to quarterback in 1936 as a Minnesota senior, he still is best known for his development of sturdy forward walls. Nine of the 11 All-Americas he has tutored were linemen.

Seven Wilkinson pupils are head coaches in the collegiate field today, including Darrell Royal of Texas, Jim Owens of Washington, Wade Walker of Mississippi State and Jack Mitchell of Kansas.

Vaught, who introduced the Split-T offense to the deep south after arriving at Mississippi in 1947, has directed the Rebels to three Southeastern Conference crowns and seven bowl dates.

Perhaps no man better illustrates the unsung-to-successful story of the lineman-coach than Paul (Bear) Bryant.

Bryant was Alabama's "other starting end"—guarding the opposite flank from all-time great Don Hutson. A rugged individual, Bryant lost yardage on an end around in the Rose Bowl against Sanford, pleaded for another chance—and on the next play caught a Dixie Howell pass to put the ball on the 4-yard line in a 29-13 conquest. On another occasion, Bryant played against bitter rival Tennessee (25-0) with a broken leg.

In the coaching profession, Bryant quickly became known as the master of reconstruction. He has rebuilt Maryland, Kentucky, Texas A&M and Alabama from mediocrity to the front ranks during his tenures.

Leo Selected Most Valuable For All-Stars

CHICAGO (AP)—Jim Leo, 220-pound end from the University of Cincinnati, Saturday was named the most valuable player of the College All-Stars in their game with the Baltimore Colts.

He was top choice among 10 candidates selected by sports writers covering the 27th annual contest.

Leo polled five more votes than Jim Houston, Ohio State's great defensive end, and six more than quarterback Don Meredith of Southern Methodist.

Others receiving votes were: Prentice Gautt, Oklahoma halfback who ran 60 yards with a screen pass from Meredith for the All-Stars' only touchdown; end Gail Cogdill, Washington State; Charles Britt, Goergia; center Charles Ellzey, Mississippi Southern; guard Jerry Stalcup, Wisconsin; halfback Dick Bass, College of Pacific; and tackle Lou Cordileone, Clemson.

As the All-Star squad broke up Saturday, only one player remained behind. Tackle Bob Denton from College of Pacific was kept in Alexian Brothers Hospital as a precautionary measure after suffering a slight concussion from a blow on the head in the third quarter.

End Monty Stickles of Notre Dame, who had a shoulder injury, and Colt tackle Jim Parker, who had a fractured hand, were released. Parker may miss one Colt exhibition but is expected back in the lineup in 10 days.

Miss-Lou Meet Postponed, Set For Monday

FERRIDAY, La. (Special) — Finals of the Miss-Lou baseball tournament originally slated for last night have been rescheduled for Monday night because of rain.

The postponement caused cancelation of the previously scheduled consolation game between the Natchez National League all-stars and the Vidalia all - stars.

The games Monday night will send Ferriday against Ridgecrest at 5 p.m. in a nine - year - old contest and Natchez American League against Ferriday at 7:30 in the Miss - Lou title game.

DICKEY IN MOST FAMOUS

Martin-Brewer Fisticuffs Recall Other Big Melees

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The recent fisticuffs between Cincinnati's Billy Martin and Chicago's Jim Brewer, in which the Cubs' rookie pitcher was hospitalized with a fractured orbic bone, recall other fights in the majors.

One of the briefest and costliest fights was between catcher Bill Dickey of the Yankees and outfielder Carl Reynolds of the Senators.

The usually mild-mannered Dickey precipitates a riotous Fourth of July outbreak in Washington in 1932 when, after being bowled over by Reynolds on a play at the plate, he got up and felled Reynolds with a right, breaking Carl's jaw in two places.

It cost Dickey a $1,000 fine and a 30-day suspension. Reynolds was out six weeks because of the injury.

John McGraw, the late manager of the Giants, once drew a $1,000 fine and a five-day suspension for slugging Bill Byron, an umpire, after a game. McGraw probably had more fights, and drew more fines, than anybody in baseball, including Leo Durocher.

Former American League President Will Harridge once fined Chicago Manager Lew Fonseca and three of his players $1,350 for their part in a fight with Umpire George Moriarty. The fight took place in the runway under the Cleveland stands in 1932.

The fight was the result of a challenge by Charley Berry, now an AL umpire, after he had accused the umpire of missing a strike. Moriarty, in retaliation, offered to fight the whole Chicago team. In the melee that followed, the umpire was floored and spiked after breaking his hand knocking out pitcher Milt Gaston.

Two of the longest fights in recent years took place in the American League. Harridge meted out $850 in fines to six players following a mob scene at Busch Stadium on June 13, 1953, in which Martin—then a Yankee—was involved.

Clint Courtney of the Browns set off the fireworks with a spikes-high slide into Phil Rizzuto of the Yankees. Players swarmed out of both dugouts and there were fights all over the field. At the end, Courtney's lips were puffed, Rizzuto's right leg was bruised, and Umpire John Stevens, trying to act as peacemaker, suffered a dislocation of his left shoulder.

In 1952, Martin and Courtney clashed after Billy knocked off Clint's glasses with a hard tag at second base. The same year Martin had two fights with Jimmy Piersall, then with the Red Sox. One of the fights took place under the stands at Fenway Park. Piersall, knocked down twice, later had a battle with teammate Maury McDermott in the Red Sox clubhouse.

A sizzling bout, in which Larry Doby of the White Sox flattened Art Ditmar of the Yankees with one punch, touched off a wild mob scene in Cosmiskey Park, June 13, 1957. Doby had accused Ditmar of throwing at him and insults followed. Martin tackled Doby and a free-for-all followed. The chief casualties were Enos Slaughter of the Yankees and Walt Dropo of the White Sox. Each suffered numerous welts and bruises.

Harridge slapped fines of $150 each on Doby, Slaughter and Martin. Dropo and Ditmar were assessed $100 apiece.

The same day there was a donnybrook at Ebbets Field as Johnny Logan of the Braves tangled with Don Drysdale of the Dodgers. Logan sustained a cut over his left eye and Drysdale had visible welts on his neck and shoulder. But the worst casualty was big Gil Hodges who was spiked on the thigh acting as peacemaker.

Back in 1932, a free-for-all between the Yankees and Senators set off a demonstration in which fans poured down from the bleachers to take part.

Ben Chapman of the Yankees started it with Buddy Myer off Washington at second base. Both were heaved out and Chapman had to leave by way of the Washington dugout.

There he became involved in a fight with Senator pitcher Earl Whitehill. This set off a club against club battle, which was finally ended by police. Only Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig refused to get into the fight.

"No sense in breaking your hands," shrugged Ruth.

TRACK HISTORY MADE

Stitches Fail To Halt Record Jump

WALNUT, Calif., (AP) — The slender biochemistry student forgot the three stitches in his leg, roared down the runway, sprang lightly off the edge of the broad-jump pit—and sailed into history.

When he came down, Ralph Boston was 26 feet 11¼ inches away from where he started his jump —3 inches farther than Jesse Owens' great leap in May 1935, the oldest track and field record of them all.

Boston, although he had spiked himself in the leg on an earlier jump, achieved a double distinction Friday night in the U.S. team's pre-Olympic meet at Moun San Antonio College. He became the first broad jumper in history to clear 26 feet four times in one meet.

The 21-year-old Tennessee A&I senior from Laurel, Miss., leaped 26-0¾, 26-6, 26-1½ and 26-11¼ on his second, third, fourth and fifth tries. He did not take his sixth trial.

He said of his record-breaking leap:

"Jesse said it was all right to break it. He's tired of it."

In Chicago, Owens, agreed graciously:

"I'm happy to see the record broken, and I'm just thankful that it stood up this long."

Both Owens and Boston are Negroes.

Hal Connolly, Southern California Striders, 230 feet, 9 inches in the hammer throw (bettering his own record of 225-4, set in 1958).

Bill Nieder, Army, 65 feet, 10 inches in the shot put (betting his pending record of 65-7, set last August).

The team of Eddie Southern, Earl Young, Otis Davis and Jack Yerman, 3:05.6 in the mile relay (bettering record of the U.S. national team of 1956). The second team in Friday night's relay — Cliff Cushman, Ted Woods, Jerry Seibert and Glenn Davis — also broke the record, finishing in 2:06.1.

The other world records were tied:

Rink Babka of the outhern California striders equalled the mark of Poland's Edmund Piatkowski by throwing the discus 196 feet, 6½ inches. And Dave Sime of the Duke Track Club tied a record held by three men, running 100 meters in 10.1 seconds.

A month ago, after return-Palo Alto, Calif., Boston told a newsman: "I feel I've got a pretty good chance at it (the record).

"I have a faulty approach to the board. But if I can get a good run and hit the board like I should I've got a chance."

His school is noted for its outstanding programs — particularly in basketball and track. His coach, Raymond Kemp, calls Boston "the most consistent jumper in the country."

The crew-cut college student also has equaled or bettered the Olympic standard in the high jump and high hurdles.

Claim Gamblers Loan Stars Cash

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Quinn, general manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, said Saturday he has written Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, passing along information from a judge that visiting players had borrowed money from a convicted gambler.

"I have no other comment," Quinn said repeatedly when asked for elaboration. "Any other comment will have to come from Frick."

Judge Ethan Allen Doty of Common Pleas Court said he phoned Quinn Friday and told him he thought Frick should investigate the alleged practice here, determine whether it exists elsewhere, and outlaw it wherever found for the good of the game.

Doty characterized it as "a very unhealthy situation for professional sports."

On Aug. 1 Doty sentenced Harold Friedman, former owner of the Moon-Glo Cafe, to 2-to-5 years in prison after a jury had convicted him of attempting to bribe former Phillies' pitcher Humberto Robinson in 1959. Robinson, now with Buffalo of the International League, testified that Friedman offered him $1,500 to throw a game to Cincinnati.

Friedman is free on $20,000 bail pending an appeal to the Pennsylvania Superior Court.

Friedman testified at his trial last June that he lent money from time to time to visiting players. None of the players was named. Friedman produced a letter purportedly from a player thanking Friedman for lending him money.

At Doty's request, Richard A. Sprague, assistant district attorney who prosecuted Friedman on the bribery charge, wrote Quinn formally asking the general manager to inform Frick of the matter.

"In my opinion," the letter said, "while no crime has been committed, I question whether professional ball players should be under obligation to a convicted gambler."

Perry Scores 15th Win As Tigers Bow

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim Perry gave up seven scattered hits Saturday in winning his 15th game —a 2-1 decision over the Detroit Tigers. He has lost five.

A double by catcher Bob Wilson provided all the runs the 24-year-old Cleveland Indians' right-hander needed in maintaining his stride as the winningest pitcher in the American League.

Perry allowed only three hits—two singles by Chico Fernandez and one by Charlie Maxwell—in the last six innings. He struck out four batters and walked only one. An error by third baseman Ken Aspromonte robbed him of a shutout.

Frank Lary also went the distance in losing his 12th game in 22 decisions.

The victory was only the third in nine games for the Indians under Manager Jimmie Dykes and all have been turned in by Perry.

Cleveland scored its two runs in the second inning. Jim Piersall led off with a single to left field and Tito Francona followed with a single to right. Both runners advanced on a wild throw by right fielder Rocky Colavito and scored on Wilson's double to left.

The Tigers' run came in the third. With one out, Ossie Virgil grounded to third base and went all the way to third on Ken Aspromonte's wild throw to first. He scored on a single to right field by Norm Cash.

Joy Riders, Aged Twelve, Wreck Auto

West Monroe police yesterday lectured two miniature car thieves (both 12-years-old) after they ended a wild 200 mile joy ride by running their "borrowed" auto into a ditch.

The youths, both of West Monroe, told officers they went from their home to Shreveport and back to within five miles of West Monroe before wrecking the car which belonged to one of the boys father.

It all started early yesterday morning when a West Monroe man notified officers his car had been stolen and his son was missing.

A bulletin was put out on the missing auto, but failed to turn up the vehicle. About 3 p.m. the missing boys calmly walked into their homes as if nothing had happened.

The man who reported the missing car began questioning his son and discovered the youths had wrecked the vehicle in a ditch near Cheniere Inn just outside West Monroe. The auto was not badly damaged.

At the police station the youths told how they had stopped at a service station near Shreveport and bought gas. They said they also drove around Shreveport some before coming back home.

The boys, who would have to stand on a chair to measure five feet, said at no time were they questioned by the service station attendant. They also said they were never stopped by the police.

The boys were released in the custody of their parents. It was not known late yesterday if juvenile authorities would take action against them.

We have never denied—indeed, have boasted—a chavinistic love of Monroe and vicinity. This feeling, we assert, is shared by all who have lived here, native or newcomer. For instance this week it was our pleasure to have visits from three former residents, none of whom were born in Monroe, but all of whom lived here long enough to consider this "home" for visiting purposes.

MAXINE BOARDMAN, who moved to Franklin early in the summer, has been visiting in the CLARK BOARDMAN home for two weeks. On Wednesday ETHEL EASTERLING honored Maxine with a luncheon at Bayou DeSiard country club. Daisies centered the green-covered table on the club porch. Chicken amandine with rice and banana ribbon cake comprised the meal served to ten guests.

Another former Monroyan, BETTY FRINK, has been here from Shreveport this week with her children, SUSAN and GARY. They spent the first few days with the DON LOMAXES and then the latter part of the week with the HARRELL LARYS. . . . Friday afternoon, Pat entertained with an informal conversational hour in Betty's honor. Fifteen guests attended. Pink roses were used on the table, where coffee was served with tiny sandwiches and cookies.

BERNILE HOUSE and her son PETE, who moved from Monroe to Houston several years ago, visited here, dividing their time among several old friends. They were overnight guests of JUANITA WILSON, AURELINE SLADE, and FRANCES ADCOCK . . .On Tuesday, after a swim in the Wilson pool, a group of six were guests of SARA RHYMES for lunch at Bayou DeSiard country club. . .Wednesday's hostess was MARTHA GRANT, who invited six for lunch in the club's Reef room.

The DAN SARTORS, newcomers to Monroe, have been honored at several intimate dinner parties in the last few weeks. Saturday night the FRED SARTORS and the DICK PIPES were hosts at a cook-out supper at Ransom's camp. Hamburgers and barbecued beans were served from an outdoor buffet table centered with zinnias in a bean pot. The group played badminton before supper, and cards after dark. Eighteen couples attended.

Just a few more weeks left this season for Monroe's favorite type of summer festivity — the boating party. Friday night the ALLEN JONESES invited twenty couples for an evening on the water. Supper was served up the river.

Last night BARBARA and JERRY SUGAR entertained with open house in their home. As she greeted the guests, the hostess was wearing a latedress of black chiffon. . . . Wisteria, white chrysanthemums, and eucalyptus in a gold and crystal fan-shaped container was the centerpiece on the refreshment table. Among the delicacies included on the menu were lobster mousse, "prairie fire", clam dip, tangy cheese balls, and a Lazy Susan of raw vegetables with a sour cream dip. Approximately forty guests were present.

Leaving today after a two weeks visit is MISSY MITCHELL of Opelousas, who has been the guest of the LARRY FOXES. During her stay, a round of parties have been given by and for the junior high set. JUANITA PORTER invited a group for a Monopoly party Saturday afternoon, honoring Missy and MARY LEE LACOUR, who was visiting her grandmother, MRS. A. S. TIDWELL.

Thursday IRENE FOX entertained twelve girls with swimming at Bayou DeSiard country club, followed by hamburger supper in the snack bar. . .ELIZABETH and CLAIRE SCHONLAU were hostesses for a cookout at home, and CARROLL HUSTED's compliment was a swimming party. . .On Tuesday night, the group had a pallet party at the home of KAKI MOUK.

TRAVELERS, HO—

Comings and goings are many at this time of year. Due home today are the JOHN EBYS with LINDA EBY, CHRIS EBY, LEAH EBY, and MALISE MAPP. They have been vacationing at Santa Rosa Island since Tuesday.

The BOB BRIGHTS have returned from a vacation in the Smokey Mountains.

Leaving yesterday were LOUISE and CHARLES BIRD and their daughters, KATHERINE and LINDA. They plan a two week tour of the West, mainly Disneyland.

Flying home like a veteran was BUDDY DENT, who arrived home yesterday after a two week visit with his grandmother, MRS. W. E. DENT, SR., in Jackson, Miss.

BETTY B. and JACK TOM JACKSON and three of their children, JOHN, WOODY, and JENNY, are due home today from a five-day visit at Gulf Hills Dude Ranch in Ocean Springs, Miss.

Vacationing in New Orleans are the BILL GOLDSMITHS and JAY. They are guests of the PAUL GODCHAUX's.

Gone for an indefinite stay: ALICE and LEE CARBREY, LEE, and LIZ. They are in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, where they will remain for several months.

NELL and JIM FAUCETT, JIMMY, and LESLIE, are in Alabama this week. They will visit relatives in Gadsden and Uniontown.

Today's poem, "Pet Parade" by Kay Nelson:

When Susan was little, we did not foresee
That buying a goldfish the day she was three
Would lead to a turtle the year she was four
An then to a cat, who had kittens galore.
We gave her a parakeet when she was six,
And next year her Granny bought two baby chicks
That lived in our kitchen until they grew up.
Then Susan announced it was time for a pup.
Well, after the puppy we added a duck,
And later came rabbits—a doe and a buck.
I can't say that Herman, the polecat, was nice,
But he was a darling, compared to Sue's mice.
We got her a horse when she entered her teens,
But now that she's older, she's hung up her jeans.
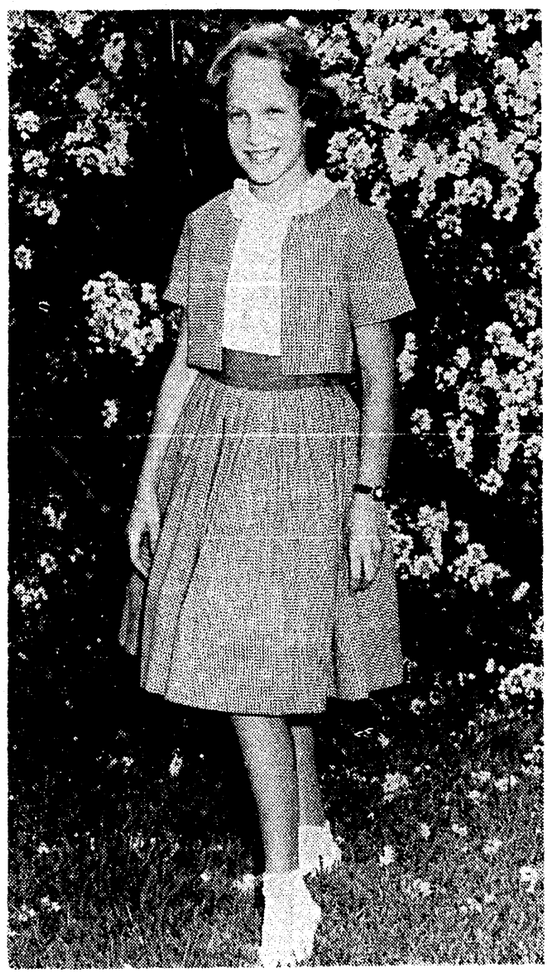
She's getting her husband to buy her a mink.



MISSY MITCHELL, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Mitchell of Opelousas, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fox for the past two weeks.

Clinton Scene Of Hamilton-Landrum Vows

Miss Janell Landrum, daughter of Mrs. Monroe Landrum and the late Mr. Landrum of Clinton, Mississippi, and Dr. Joe H. Hamilton Jr., son of Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Hamilton of Tallulah, were married at the First Baptist church in Clinton, on August 5. The Rev. Hamilton, father of the groom performed the ceremony.

Following a reception at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. McLemore in Clinton, the couple left for a trip to Nassau. On their return they will reside in Nashville, Tennessee, where Dr. Hamilton is a member of the faculty at Vanderbilt University.

The bride is a graduate of Mississippi College. The groom was graduated from Mississippi College, and received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at Indiana University.

Thigpen-Parks Vows Spoken In Little Rock

Miss Era Lee Parks of Monroe, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Joseph A. Young of Jacksonville, Arkansas; became the bride on August 13, of Lt. Larry Eugene Thigpen of Lake Charles, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Thigpen of Atlanta, Georgia.

"Because" and "I Love You Truly" were sung by Dick Daneke, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Barbara Vancil.

The bridesmaids, Miss Rachael Ann Maines of Natchitoches, and Miss Diane King of Monroe, wore dresses identical to that of the maid of honor. Each carried a long-stemmed red rose. Little Miss Sarah Endom of Ellisville, Mississippi, was the flower girl. Her dress was pale pink.

James G. Thigpen, Jr., acted as best man, with Captain Calvin I. Brown of Lake Charles; and Jule W. Parks, brother of the bride, of Jacksonville, Arkansas; as ushers.

Wash Bites

Medical experts advise that bites from those annoying little insects called chiggers should be washed thoroughly with soap and water. Allow the lather to remain on the skin ten minutes before rinsing. Then, an anti-itch preparation can be applied.

Make-Up Magic

If you feel that your make-up looks smoother and more glamorous after a mid-day touch-up than it did when you applied the original make-up, then you are not applying enough make-up in the beginning.

Many women believe that, in order to create a natural looking make-up, their beauty requisites must be applied sparingly and therefore they fail to apply enough for true beautification. For results that are both natural-looking and glamorous, it is important that you give your complexion full foundation make-up coverage. Cover every blemish and blend the make-up to an even tone. Take enough time to apply your eye make-up correctly, and shape your brows carefully for an attractive expression. Your lipstick, as well, should be applied with care and artistry, using enough color to give your lips a smooth, full contour.

Make-Up Hints

If you have wondered what other make up colors should be worn when you apply the new brown lipsticks, here is the way you may look your most beautiful.

For rouge, use the lightest coral tones, and very little of those. Don't, for heavens' sake, wear a bluish - toned rouge. (And don't, for the same reason, wear blue clothes with this symphony-in-brown make-up.)

Wear the coffee lipstick colors alone — one has a hint of pink, the other orange — or wear them as a twosome, outlining one with the other.

Miss Gwen John Weds James Michael Yerger

Miss Gwendolyn Hope John became the bride of James Michael Yerger in a double ring ceremony performed Friday night in the First Methodist Church by the Rev. George W. Pomeroy. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike John, Jr. of Monroe. Mr. and Mrs. William P. Yerger, also of Monroe, are parents of the groom.

The soft glow of tapers lighted the altar scene flanked by arrangements of white gladiola and Fuji mums. Green ivy swags, accented with white satin bows were draped along the altar rails. William P. Yerger, Jr., brother of the groom and Mack McGee, cousin of the groom served as candlelighters.

Nuptial music was rendered by Miss Mary Jo Ellington, organist, of Rayville. Miss Barbara Bourdier, of Lafayette, sang "With This Ring" "If I Could Tell You" and "The Wedding Prayer".

While the traditional wedding march was being played, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her gown featured a fitted bodice and button back, fashioned of candlelight satin, overlaid with imported lace and encrusted with irridescent sequins and seed pearls. Lace edged the scooped neckline and short sleeves of her gown, and was repeated in the flowing bouffant skirt. Her veil of French illusion was attached to a small cap made of matching lace with sequin and pearl trim. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and stephanitis centered with a purple throated white orchid placed on a white Bible.

Miss Gail John, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor Bridesmaids were: Misses Martha Riser, Mary Emma Wilson, and Kay Worley, all of Monroe; Miss Nancy Glisson of Baton Rouge; and, Miss Joan Templeton of Bastrop. Their identical white pure silk organza dresses featured softly draped fichu continuing into a panel over the front of the full short skirt. They wore tiny half hats with circular nose - veils of white silk illusion; and, shoes of white satin. Each carried a bouquet of purple asters placed upon a white lace and satin fan.

The groom's uncle, James Lloyd McGee of Jackson, served as best man, while groomsmen and ushers were Terry Reeves, Jim Altick, Dan Keith, Glenn Hardin, Howard John and William P. Yerger, Jr. all of Monroe; and Ronald Calhoun of Louisville, Kentucky.

Mrs. Earl Mulhern, aunt of the bride and Mrs. R. C. Ellen, presided over the bride's book. Little Miss Merrijane Yerger, sister of the groom, passed the rice bags.

The serving tables were centered with large arrangements of white gladiolas and mums, flanked by silver candelabra. Those assisting in pouring were Mrs. Glenn Hardin, Mrs. Charles A. Riddle, Mrs. Raymond John, all aunts of the bride; Mrs. James Lloyd McGee, aunt of the groom, Mrs. James S. Harbuck, Mrs. Earnest Strauss, Mrs. C C. Lucky and Mrs. Clay Albright. Teagirls were Misses Jinny and Judy Bass of Baton Rouge, Misses Ruth Ann Boggs, Louise Gray, Linda Lou Robison and Mrs. Terry Reeves all of Monroe.

For travelling, the bride chose a bone sheath with turquoise trim and the matching sweater. Her costume was complimented by bone accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

Following a trip to the Gulf Coast, the couple will be at home in the College Manor apartments at 800 McGuire Avenue in Monroe.

Among the out of town guests attending the wedding were: Mrs. C. A. Riddle Sr. Grandmother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Girl Scout News

Looking back over the camp season, the second year Intermediates can remember a happy and busy session under the leadership of Mrs. John M. Edwards, of Farmerville, assisted by Mrs. J. G. Norris, Julia Faye Anthony, and Mrs. Woodrow Downs. Basing their ten-day program on Rambler and Outdoor Safety badge requirements, the girls sampled activities they would not have thought of trying otherwise. One was to plan a nature trail, labeling names and interesting facts about plants. Near Trail's End, the unit site, is a piece of ground that has never been cleared. With axes and hoes, the girls cleared a path, labeled the hawthorne bushes, the cat vine, the trees, and even a patch of poison ivy. Of course, all visitors to the unit on closing night were expected to follow the trail.

The list of campers in this unit shows several interesting facts. First, nine of the girls, Debra Beaver, Kay Odom, Barbara Parrino, Carol Patterson, Leigh Russell, Nettie Scallan, Susan Stone, Sally Taylor, and Carol Waschka, are from Troop 5. With Martha Keeling and Ann Murphy attending the first session, this makes 11 out of 13 in the troop attending, some for the fourth summer.

Girls of this unit who attended the first session and remained for the second because they were having such a good time were: Marilyn Maxwell, Deolores Schneider, Katherine Coon, and Janie Hicks. Beverly Albritton, Jane Downs, and Johnette Edwards were from Farmerville. Others in the unit were: Mary Ann Atkinson, Carolyn Cascio, Phyllis Hamel, Betty Heard, Pamela Hudson, Barbara Kurtz, Mona LeBlanc, Gwen McPhail, Sarah Zeagler.

Looking into troop representation at camp we find 8 out of 10 girls from the newly-formed Troop 56, Mrs. J. T. Smith, leader. Martha Shipman attended first session, Jackie Smith, both sessions, while Carolyn Files, Mary Ann Hart, Nina Hunt, Ellen Mintz, Mary Mintz, and Suzanne Patterson were enrolled in the second session. A fine start, we'd say, for a new troop!

The record for high percentage of troop attendance goes to Troop 1, however, with 7 out of 8 of their members attending, some for their seventh summer. These girls, who will go into Senior Scouting are: Carol Culpepper, Jane Edwards, Milann Gannaway, Dianne Halley, Mary Murphy, Becky Parkerson, Deas Parrish. We're looking forward to good program aides from this group.

Another troop with high percentage of representation is Troop 17, West Monroe Junior High, with eleven out of fourteen members as follows: Carolyn Brooks, Jamie Corley, Mary Einhorn, Phyllis Henry, Pamela Kull, Jeanie Nolan, Anita Roberson, Jayne Wallace, Jateen Kelley, Martha and Mary Clampit. Reaching the Pioneer unit this summer, many of them can remember starting as a Brownie at day camp.

RJH Auxiliary Junior Girls Unit Meets

The Junior Girl's Unit to the Rodney J. Hobbs Auxiliary 1809 held their regular meeting, with the president, Mary Claire Hanson, presiding.

The president requested that the members collect old costume jewelry, old zippers, old nylon hose and pieces of ceramic tile. The articles will be sent to the Veteran Hospitals in Alexandria and Shreveport.

The members will also again collect comic books and magazines for the local Crippled Children Clinic.

Each member was asked to sell 3 boxes of Get Well and Sympathy cards as a fund raising project. The fund is used to carry out the rehabilitation work sponsored by the Junior Girl's Unit.

Plans were made with the Advisory Council off the Rodney J. Hobbs Auxiliary 1809 to start a marching unit, and the first meeting will be held at Bernstein Park on Saturday August 20, at 9:30 a.m.

Arithmetic

Fresh Dill

If you are lucky enough to find fresh dill in your market, you'll find it is delightful added to potato salad, potato soup, stuffed eggs or chicken broth.

Household Tips

Ever prepare doughnuts with yeast? You'll find they have, an open light texture different from the regular baking powder variety.

Standard recipes for popovers call for two eggs to one cup of flour, but if your eggs are small it is wise to use three of them. Eggs help stretch popovers so they are high and airy.

Note to new cooks: to truss a chicken before roasting, tie the center of a piece of string to the bird's tail; then tie the legs and tail firmly together. The wing tips should be brought back of the bird over the neck skin. Roast the bird on a rack.

When you are making a frozen dessert in your refrigerator, set the control for fast freezing.

Ashcraft-Tipton Vows Pledged In Bastrop

In a ceremony performed Saturday in the First Baptist church of Bastrop, Wyche Washburn Ashcraft of Monroe claimed as his bride, Miss Peggy Jean Tipton. Mr. Ashcraft is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Wyche Ashcraft of Monroe.

"Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Mrs. John Snell, accompanied on the organ by Miss Margaret Ann Burt. During the pre-nuptial concert, guests were seated by the ushers, J. L. Furlow, Jr., Howard Hobson, Robert Harrison, and Floyd Miller of Monroe, and William Foster, cousin of the bride, of Amite.

The bride entered the sanctuary on the arm of her brother, Benjamin R. Tipton, Jr., who gave her in marriage. Her wedding gown of white satin was styled with yoke and long sleeves of Chantilly lace. A scalloped lace panel was appliqued on the full satin skirt. Holding her shoulder length veil of illusion was a tiny cap fashioned of pearls from her maternal grandmother's wedding gown. She carried an Italian lace handkerchief and a bouquet of tube roses centered with a white orchid.

The bride was attended by Miss Jean Stark, maid of honor, and Mrs. Stowe Harbin and Mrs. Richard Reynolds as matrons of honor. They wore identical dresses of pastel blue organza over satin, with shawl collars and bouffant skirts. Shoulder length veils of light blue were held by petal caps of organza embroidered with pearls. Their bouquets were pale pink Lycoris Squamagiera.

Mr. Ashcraft served as his son's best man, and groomsmen were Lestor Martin, cousin of the groom, and Richard Reynolds

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the church parlor following the wedding. Mrs. Tipton chose for her daughter's wedding a mauve silk dress with which she wore matching slippers, a sequin hat, and a corsage of white orchids.

The refreshment table was covered with a floor length white satin cloth, with swathes of net caught with nosegays. Pale pink roses and August lilies in a crystal epergne were flanked by crystal candlesticks holding pink candles. The wedding cake, embossed with pink rosebuds, was topped with bride and groom figurines. Mrs. A. B. Foster, of Amite, and Mrs. L. D. Long of Monticello, Ark., aunts of the bride, served punch.

Those who assisted at the reception were Mrs. Clyde Burt, Mrs. J. T. Bilberry, Mrs. John Williams, Mrs. R. A. Marlott, Mrs. Donald Johnston, Miss Margaret Burt, Miss Janet Marlott, Miss Diane McBride, Miss Margie Gilbert from Gilbert, Miss Daveen Barksdale, Miss Linda Kinebrew and Miss Diane Kinebrew of Wilmot, Ark., Miss Katherine Martin, Miss Lawrence Hill of Monticello, Ark., Mrs. Ben Tipton, Jr., Mrs. W. P. Stephenson and Mrs. David Kinebrew of Wilmot, Ark.

Before the couple left on their wedding trip to the Gulf Coast, the bride changed into a navy silk shantung suit, with which she wore a white feather hat, navy accessories, and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. On their return, they will live in Bastrop.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher A. Ashcraft of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Keely Greer of Dalton, Georgia; Mr. and Mrs. Barney B. Brown of Little Rock, Ark., Mrs. Pearl Pumphrey and Mrs. Bobby Kidd Walker from Gibsland; Miss Sally Field of Alexandria; Mr. and Mrs. John Snell of New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Foster and William, Amite; Mr. and Mrs. Don Long, Monticello, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. David Kinebrew and Mrs. Birde Kinebrew of Wilmot.

Green Peas

Want those green peas to taste especially good? Cook them with small paper-thin onion rings, shredded lettuce, a suspicion of sugar and salt and pepper.

Roll Sausages

Macaroons

Fade Out Tan For Fall Look

With news of the Fall look pouring from Paris, Rome, Florence, New York and other spots where fashions are born, the desire of every woman from 16 to 60 is to get ready for it.

That will take time to fade out a tan; to crop your hair closer and shorter, if you wear an inflated beehive, and to train hair to caress your cheeks in comma or spit curls, if you want to wear the new head-hugging hats.

With this program ahead of you and with still a few weeks of good ol' summertime to carry it out, here's what you do.

Stop tannning. Start this minute to blanche your skin to the new lighter - than - light look for Fall. If you miss the feeling of well-being the sun gives you, you can still sop up its rays via shoulders, legs, arms and midriff. But put a good sized beach hat atop your head, and keep it there. For protection, wear more make-up foundation that you've been using, but use the creamy-stick kind that helps to soften skin and counteract dryness.

As you lose your facial tan, compensate for the loss by wearing a slightly darker make-up foundation.

To dramatize your make-up transition, wear one of the cool coffee lipstick colors. Apply brown eye shadow over your socket area, then highlight lids with a hint of blue or green eye shadow. Wear black, brown or brownish-black mascara to compliment the tawny-brown look of skin, lips and richly-fringed eyes.

When you remove make-up, follow the cleansing ritual with applications of night cream. Dip freely into one that keeps the skin dewy overnight; that helps nature during the seasonal change to slough off flakiness and dryness.

If hair has been over-exposed to sun and salt water or the vicious teasing that built up your beehive, take advantage of the new Fall styles that are short and shaped. Simply cut off the damaged ends.

To train kiss curls, one of the Fall's prettiest new gimmicks, simply bring hair forward on your cheeks. Coil flat, spray on a setting lotion, pin in place, and when dry, comb out.

Said to be Spanish: cooked green lima beans seasoned with nutmeg and parsley along with a good dollop of butter.

Questions And Answers About Ladies' Fashions

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

Q: I am going to San Francisco for two weeks in August. Can you suggest clothes for that season?

A: San Francisco even in summer can be quite cool. I would suggest one or two summer suits as well as your summer dresses. A light summer coat, such as a white waffle weave in wool, or a print silk rain-shine coat, will also be useful.

San Francisco is known as one of the best-dressed cities in the country, a white gloves and hat town. Your clothes need not be elaborate, but should be completely accessorized.

If you will be visiting hotels for dinner, or going out to evening events, you wil need a short summer formal. Take one with a coverup, so you can dress it up or down.

Q: I am going to Mexico City College in the fall. Will I need summer clothes or woolens? I've heard slacks and shorts are frowned upon; are they ever permissible? What would I need for weekends at Acapulco?

A: The height of Mexico City makes woolens necessary in the fall and winter. The same kind of simple fall dresses and city suits as you would wear here are accepted there.

By all means, do not wear slacks or shorts while attending the college. They are worn only at the beach or at home.

However, since you need summer-type clothes and sportswear for Acapulco, you could take them.

Q: My husband and I are going by plane for six days to Jamaica and three in Haiti. In Jamaica we'll stay at Montego Bay, Ocho Rios and Kingston. I'm told there is a great deal of activity at the hotels. How can I dress well and still keep my wardrobe small?

A: It's not the quantity of clothes you take but the quality that counts. The places you mention are rather dressy, but two short summer evening frocks should do, especially if accompanied by stoles, lacy jackets or small fur coverups.

For day you'll need no more than three or four light summer dreses for shopping and tours. Sun dresses with jackets are best.

Your husband and you can both take conservative sports clothes, such as you would take to any good resort here. He will need a white jacket for evening at the hotels.

Make your limited wardrobe count by accessorizing it carefully, and you will not need so many clothes.

Q: Weddings today are often held far from the home of the groom, when he marries a girl from another city. It is common for them to include a visit to the groom's family while on their honeymoon. A party called a post-nuptial is held. Should the bride wear her wedding gown to it? People want to see it, but many say it is improper.

A: Since many wedding gowns today are designed to be worn after the wedding, it is not improper. A bride in this situation, however, should choose a gown that can be worn without looking awkward at parties. The one thing she does not wear is her veil.

Former Surgeon General Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, 72, Army surgeon general during World War II, died Saturday at Walter Reed Hospital where he underwent abdominal surgery a week ago.

He held the surgeon general post from 1943 until his retirement in 1947. During that time he headed the largest medical service in this country's history, including a globe-circling hospital system that cared for more than 15 million patients.

At its peak strength the service included 47,000 physicians, 15,000 dentists and 57,000 nurses.

Born Jan. 3, 1888, at Rising Sun, Md., Kirk received his medical degree from the University of Maryland in 1910 and joined the regular Army in the Medical Corps in 1913.

Survivors include his widow and two daughters, Mrs. Marvin R. Kimbrell Jr., Pensacola, Fla., and Mrs. Harry L. Willard, Chappaqua, N.Y. Funeral services will be held in the Walter Reed Memorial Chapel Tuesday, and burial with full military honors will follow in Arlington National Cemetery.

State Institute Inmates Escape

DE QUINCY, La. (AP)—Two inmates of the Louisiana Correctional Institute north of here have escaped, LCI director Warren Cormier said Saturday.

Cormier identified them as Frank Joseph Byrd Jr., 16, New Orleans, and Clarence Jenkins, 18, Covington, and said both were incorrigible. They were transferred recently to LCI from the Louisiana Training Institute at Monroe.

They escaped Friday afternoon by leaving a work crew in a cornfield on the LCI grounds.

Cormier said Byrd had been involved in eight car thefts and had escaped from the Monroe institution and the Milne Boys Home in New Orleans. He said Jenkins had a record of three car thefts.

Distance from New Orleans to St. Louis via the Mississippi River is 1,200 miles.

OPENS TODAY

'From The Terrace' Now At Paramount

"From the Terrace," produced and directed by Mark Robson in CinemaScope and DeLuxe Color, from John O'Hara's best selling novel and starring Paul Newman, and Joanne Woodward, with Ina Balin and Myrna Loy, a Twentieth Century - Fox release opens today at the Paramount Theatre.

As a study in depth of the conflict and interplay of human emotions, O'Hara's monumental literary work becomes one of the most important pictures to reach the sceen in 1960.

As a motion picture it benefits exceedingly from the direction and production given it by one of moviedom's ablest and most perceptive story - tellers, Mark Robson; from the taut and well written screenplay under the supervision of Ernest Lehman, and from the cinematic artistry of Lee Tover and Sam Leavitt.

NOTEWORTHY

The picture is a noteworthy and commendable performance on all counts. Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward, the star-studded husband - wife team turn in a magnificent job as the ill-fated married couple in the film. Ina Balin, a relative newcomer to the screen is featured as the third leg of the romantic triangle. Myrna Loy is excellent as Newman's dipsomaniac mother.

Robson's screen version of "From the Terrace" tells a significant segment of the O'Hara novel. It takes the central character Alfred Eaton (Paul Newman) from the time of his return home from the war, through the storm of his marriage to Mary St. John (Joanne Woodward), to his promising career as a young Wall Street financier, and to his eventual dramatic renunciation of all his worldly assets in a "for love or money" decision to leave his wife and go away to enduring love with Natalie Benzinger (Ina Balin).

UNHAPPINESS

The setting for Alfred's unhappiness is seen in the home of his parents, Samuel Eaton (Leon Ames) and his mother (Myrna Loy). Upon returning from the war he finds his mother a hopeless drunk and his father bent on taking him into his steel mill. He declines the offer and goes into the aircraft business with a school and army chum Lex Porter (George Grizzard). Thus begins Alfred Eaton's long and arduous search for true love.

With the aid of the newly developed amor - optic close - up lense, that virtually puts the viewer in the picture, producer-director Robson has created a visually etched portrait of one of the most controversial novels of our age.

Movie Roles Of Southern Belles 'Out'

By JOE FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Boston-born Lee Remick, who almost made a career of playing southern belles, has drawn her own Mason-Dixon line and is standing on the north side.

"No more roles as southern ladies," said the beautiful Miss Remick between scenes of "Sanctuary" in which she plays just such a role.

"I say never but you don't really know about these things," she added. "But, even before I decided to make this picture, I made up my mind it would be the last of that kind for me.'

"Accents come easy for me, I have the kind of an ear that picks up a voice once I hear it," she explained later. "In fact, I picked up the accent so well I have trouble getting rid of it.

"You do it so much all day long that you get into a cadence," Miss Remick said, her voice seeming to alternate between North and South.

SIX PICTURES

"I've made six pictures and played southern girls in four of them. In fact, lots of the people I meet think I'm from down there."

Miss Remick's movie location sites are filled with the Dixie flavor of such towns as Baton Rouge, La., Cleveland, Tenn., and Piggott, Ark.

Miss Remick and actress Joanne Woodward play many of Hollywood's southern characters and it appears both would like to change types.

"I think Joanne's wishing to get out of them," Lee revealed. "She and I seem to do most of these roles."

Searching for a reason as to why she and Miss Woodward are so typed, Lee said it was hard to explain.

"I guess we're just a success with them," she said with a shrug. "People want to ride with a winner, but it's sort of difficult on us when we want to do something else."

By "something else," Lee meant lighter roles, even song and dance themes.

"I'd love to do a musical comedy," she said. "I can't sing too well but I can dance. The only dancing I've ever done was on stage, none in pictures."

TOP STARS DIE

Anders Unlucky Picture Producer

By JOE FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Producer Bob Anders is one of Hollywood's unluckiest picture makers, having lost two TV series when his star actors died suddenly.

Anders had Wayne Morris playing a somewhat inept sheriff in "They Went Thataway" and the actor suffered a fatal heart attack. Another Anders show, "Command," lost one of its stars when Louis Jean Heyde died suddenly.

SAME

In both cases, Anders had shot the pilot films to show potential sponsors before his performers died. Now, sales of the shows on a series basis is practically impossible.

The producer has some satisfaction in knowing thal his "Thataway" pilot has been sold and will be shown over CBS Monday as a one night replacement for "Hennessy."

But, even though he sold the pilot, Anders figures to lose $60,000 on the series if he doesn't get himself a new star and go back into production.

"Wayne saw his show before he died and thought it was wonderful," Anders said. "It is too. He was a great talent but never realized his full potential."

Morris portrayed the sometimes bumbling lawman in Anders' show which featured such characters as "Black Ace Burton" and "Poison Pete Humphreys."

"The show is a satire on westerns," Anders explained. "The sheriff is a clumsy sort of guy but an efficent killer.

"I think it's the first original satire on westerns since Gary Cooper and Walter Brennan made 'The Westerner' years ago. You might say 'Maverick' is a satire, but I think it's different from ours."

The fact that the show is a satire made the role an ideal one for Morris, Anders claimed.

"Nobody ever realized what a great comedian he was," Anders said. "And, if I'm going to replace him in the same image, it will have to be with somebody like Don Defore."

Hamburg Man First To Get LSU Degree

Louisiana State University will award its first doctor of education degree at commencement excercises Friday.

Jerry N. Barham of Hamburg, Ark., will be the first to receive the degree designed primarily for public school teachers and administrators. Barham's docotral dissertation was a measured study of strength - building.

The Ed.D. differs from the Ph.D in that it does not require a reading knowledge of French and German but calls for 84 hours of graduate work instead of 60. At least 30 hours must be taken in a field outside of the department of education. Dissertation requirements for both degrees are the same.

According to Dean Richard J. Russell of the Graduate School, the Ed.D. is aimed at potential public school administrators rather than University teachers with the idea that a public school official is then able to obtain a minor in a subject which is of greater benefit in teaching than having a reading knowledge of French or German.

Barham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Barham of Hamburg.

1.5 PER CENT GAIN

Louisiana Business Activity On Climb

By AUSTIN ABRAMS
Staff Correspondent

Business activity over the state of Louisiana was up 1.5% for June 1960 over June 1959, the Louisiana Business Review reports.

There was a gain of 1.4% in June this year over May.

The rise in June over June of last year is attributed to a 6.3% gain in crude petroleum production and the 4.2% gain in industrial electric power consumption.

Allowing for seasonal adjustments, the Review reports that department store sales gained 7.8% from May to June and petroleum manufacturing sales gained 6.2% for the same month's period.

Industrial power consumption showed no change for the May-June 1960 period, freight carloadings were down 2.5%, employment down 0.3%, and crude petroleum production down 0.2%.

Quoting Barron's index, the Louisiana Review said the national business activity this June dropped 13.4% over June a year ago, Business Week reported a loss of 3.7%, and the New York Times index reported the same figure. Louisiana showed a gain of 1.5%.

Grain Futures Market Bearish

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices followed a general downward trend this week which gathered speed after release of the government's August crop report on Wednesday.

The report, a little more bearish than expected in the grains, set off liquidation which became brisk at times and made the short side of the market rather unattractive for the time being in the feed grains.

The entire list finished below the closes of a week ago with wheat showing the best resistance. Most of those deliveries were off fractions of a cent while corn and oats were down a cent or more and rye and soybeans down two cents or more.

The report created the greatest stir in the soybean pit where prices leaped to new highs for the season at the opening of trading on Thursday. However, profit takers jumped on the bulge and prices began retreating. The slide continued through Friday with setbacks running to about three cents in spots for the two days.

At the end of the week, wheat was ⅜-1⅝ cents a bushel lower, September $1.85¾; corn 1⅛-1¼ lower, September $1.14⅞-¾; oats 1-1¼ lower, September 66-65¾; rye 2 - 2¼ lower, September $1.15⅝-¾; soybeans 2⅛-2⅝ lower, September $2.15½-⅝.

Skeptics Convinced

MAIDSTONE, England (AP) — Mrs. H. B. Saunders called up the police Saturday and said, "There's a leopard in my rhubarb." The skeptical men who responded to the call found a leopard in Mrs. Saunders' rhubarb. It was Chota, aged 3 months, which had escaped a week ago from a circus.

BEST SINCE JUNE

Market Moving Steadily Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market made its best weekly advance since June this week as stocks moved steadily and cautiously higher over a broad front.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose every day and finished at its highest level in a month by gaining 4.30 to 219.70. This compared with a loss of 0.70 last week and a whopping gain of 8.20 in the week ended June 11. Based on the gain in the average, an estimated $5,600,000,000 was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

A more impressive statistic was the total of 1,025 gainers, against only 287 losers, among 1,431 issues traded.

Brokers worried over the market's "leadership," noting that the daily list of 15 most active stocks contained as few as two recognized "blue chip" issues. They liked the way the list acted, however, in the face of the uncertain near-term business outlook and the tense international situation.

They also were cheered by the increase in trading volume, which rose to 14,699,940 shares from 12,343,000 last week and was the highest turnover since the week ended July 2.

Chart followers placed significance in the seven straight gains after the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell close to the 600 "suppport" level a week ago Thursday. The average rebounded that day, passed the previous rally peak this past Thursday and kept on climbing Friday. For the week it was up 11.89 at 626.18.

Two credit-easing moves by the Federal Reserve Board were cited as factors behind the week's advance. The board first lowered commercial banks' reserve requirements, thereby adding to their lending power. Later it approve a lower discount rate (the interest member banks must pay when they borrow from the reserve system) in four of the 12 federal reserve districts. Other districts were expected to fall in line.

The two moves are designed to provide lower borrowing costs for business, consumers and government bodies. The only trouble is, lower rates won't mean much if there is little demand for credit.

Some Wall Streeters thought the moves by the "fed" were bearish signals, on the theory that government money managers must be worried about business.

The most active on the American Stock Exchange was Nuclear Corp. of America, up ⅞ at 4¾ on 245,500.

Two potent injections of credit easing medicine failed to stir the Treasury bond market from summer lethargy this week. Despite a moderate rise Friday, prices declined as much as 1⅛ of a point.

Helped by Monday's session, which was the most active in six weeks, volume on the New York Stock Exchange inched ahead to $24,655,000 par value from $24,032,100 last week. A year ago trading totaled $30,325,200.

The Treasury decline was the second in a row following a five week march to the highest price levels in almost two years. Actually, three sessions ended lower and two higher but Friday's gain of up to ½ point was the only substantial advance.

Longest String Of Gains In Advance

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks advanced in all five sessions this week, giving the list one of its longest string of gains this year.

The current rally now has moved through seven sessions and brokers see it being extended even further before any corrective reaction sets in.

Fueling the rise is the cut in the discount rate by the Federal Reserve, and the strengthening plywood and home heating oil prices.

But while volume improved somewhat, the principal interest still appeared to be in those stocks of a speculative nature which attracted a large following most of the week.

The discount rate has direct influence on business borrowing and business activity. The cut in the rate to 3 per cent from 3 1-2 per cent is expected to reduce interest costs to borrowers from commercial banks and to assure bankers that interest rates would not go back up in the near future.

The economy, meanwhile, did little this week to clarify the outlook for the latter part of the year. Steel production improved only slightly, and auto output continued to slide as more companies shut down for model changeovers.

Auto Industry Emphasizes Compactness

DETROIT (UPI)—The auto industry will emphasize compactness in all of its 1961 model cars, auto industry sources say.

The sources say smaller dimensions will not be limited to the four new compacts to be introduced this year and the six compacts already on the market.

The majority of the standard-make cars will have more compact bodies, they say.

Changes in the existing compact cars will be minor, except for the Rambler American which will have extensive sheet metal and trim changes which will give it a more dressy look.

Generally, all of the standard cars will retain a strong resemblance to their 1960 counterparts, but all General Motors lines and all Ford lines except the Ford and Thunderbird will have smaller deminsions. The greatest change in appearance will be in the Plymouth, which will deemphasize its fins, and the Pontiac, which will use rounded, soft lines rather than a boxy shape. The Thunderbird will abandon its crisp lines below the roof for a spear-shaped body.

One exception among the bigger cars to the trend toward compactness will be the Chrysler which will increase its overall length and alter sheet metal to increase the general feeling of increased size.

Money Borrowing Made Cheaper

Bank Reserve Rules Eased By Baird

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board acted this week to make money easier and cheaper to borrow. The business world hoped the moves would light a fire under the economy.

First, the board relaxed its rules governing how much cash banks must keep on hand as reserves. This freed about 660 million dollars for lending to meet rising credit needs. These funds were expected to generate an increase of about $3,600,000,000 in lending power.

Then the board authorized federal reserve banks in New York, Cleveland, Kansas City and Richmond to cut their discount rate from 3½ to 3 per cent. Banks in the other eight districts were expected to follow.

This rate is the interest member banks pay when they borrow from the Federal Reserve System.

REDUCED

The rate had been reduced from 4 to 3½ per cent in June.

The lower rate was expected to exert increased pressure on banks to lower the prime rate—the interest they charge the biggest and best-rated firms — and other lending charges. The prime rate now is 5 per cent.

The stock market advanced every day this week. The eased money policy was given some of the credit.

Brokers said part of the market's improved spirit seemed due to anticipation of better business conditions later in the year.

INCREASED

Employment increased 110,000 to 68,669,000 from mid-June to mid-July. Unemployment dropped by 406,000 to 4,017,000.

On the darker side was an indication that consumers are curtailing their buying plans for the rest of the year. A survey by the National Industrial Conference Board showed that plans for every category measured, except new cars, declined in the second quarter from the first quarter and from the start of the year.

Sales on the New York Stock Exchange amounted to 14,699,940 shares compared to 12,843,800 last week.

Bond sales were $24,655,000 par value. Last week's total was $24,032,000 and a year ago sales were $30,325,200.

FELL

The automobile industry's changeover to 1961 models picked up speed and for the first time this year production fell below 100,000 cars a week. The estimated output was 85,000. Production this month is estimated at 317,000 cars, including 30,000 1961 models.

The model switchover has yet to produce sufficient orders for steel to have any significant effect on production in that industry. Steel output was estimated at 54.6 per cent of capacity, up only slightly from last week's 53.9.

Three hundred members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen struck briefly, shutting down Jones & Laughlin Corp.'s Pittsburgh works and idling 12,000 steelworkers. About 1,300 Steelworkers Union members threatened to strike against a U.S. Steel Corp. railroad subsidiary.

Directors of United Airlines and Capital Airlines approved a plan to merge and filed an application with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

EQUALED

Retail trade maintained a strong pace and equalled the high rate of a year ago. Food prices held even at the highest level of the year.

Briefly around the business scene: University of Chicago is going to use an electronic computer in an effort to find out why stocks go up and down. The brokerage firm, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith provided $50,000 for the research project. . . . U.S. airlines carried 49,257,870 passengers in 1959, up nearly six million from 1958. . . . The Martin Co. will build a nuclear power plant for installation at the Navy's air facility at McMurdo Sound, Antarctica. . . . Hughes Aircraft Co. won a $69,500,000 Army contract to produce portable "missile monitor" air defense command posts.

From $1 To $100 Million Success Story

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the great depression of the early 1930's James Arthur Ryder put a "few dollars" down on a model-A stake truck and started in business.

Some $100 million and 23,500 trucks later, James Arthur Ryder looks not to his past successes but to the future's challenges.

"There are more opportunities for success today than ever before," he said. "Everything that is being done will be done better in the future."

Ryder's success story of climbing from the bottom—a depression-era job as a construction laborer—to the top of the trucking business mostly is a tale of backbreaking work.

Born in Columbus, Ohio, July 28, 1913, he moved with his family to Miami in 1919, but when he was old enough to go to college, there was no money to send him. He went to work at the age of 19 as a laborer but found out that the men who drove trucks made more money than he did. That was when he put a few dollars down on a $125 used truck.

He drove all day and into the night. He hauled trash, lumber, concrete blocks, anything he could get his hands on. He hired a friend to drive the truck when he was too tired to drive himself.

Ryder Trucking Co. was formed and for the first five years the firm was built on hard work, long hours. For more than a year Ryder drove a load several nights a week into Palm Beach, 80 miles away unloaded and returned to Miami in time for only two or three hours sleep before getting up for the next day's work at 7 a.m.

LITTLE PROGRESS MADE IN TEACHING

Stockholders Are Dangerously Ignorant

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stockholders are being told quite frequently these days how little they know about the stock market.

Only recently the New York Stock Exchange published a survey which showed the investing community has made little progress the past five years in teaching stockholders the fundamentals of the market.

Now the United Shareholders of America has come out with another survey which indicates that the overwhelming majority of people dealing in the stock market are "dangerously ignorant."

RESULTS

Benjamin A. Javits, president of the non-profit investors' organization, said the results of the survey provide an image of America's investors that is even more shocking than might have been expected.

Believe it or not, these are some of the answers received from stockholders who were asked to name a profitable product of the companies they held stock in.

Fifty-one per cent of those surveyed could not name a single product or service of any company in which they owned stock. In other words, Javits said, more than half the investors have no idea of what they are buying or what they own.

The survey covered 2,000 owners of common stock, nearly three out of four with college educations.

IGNORANCE

Further confirmation of stockholdre "ignorance," Javits said, is the fact that 55 per cent of those surveyed could not name a single president of any corporation in which they owned shares, and an additional 11 per cent were in error.

Yet, he pointed out, 82 per cent of the stockholders claimed they read annual reports. Apparently, he added, they look at the handsome cover, the pictures and the latest dividend. A good many of the shareholders also claimed to be readers of the financial columns of the daily press, financial magazines and investment service literature.

The survey also showed that some 21 per cent of the people were willing to admit they usually buy on "casual recommendations from friends," despite repeated warnings by the New York Stock Exchange and reputable investment houses to investigate before investing.

Javits said the average American investors also is a passive investor who doesn't participate in the corporation in which he is a partner through the ownership of shares.

The survey revealed that nearly two-thirds of the investors have never attended a stockholders' meeting. Nearly three out of four have never written to any company in which they own stock.

LEAVES SOVIET UNION

U.S. Tourist Says Ouster 'Frame-Up'

HELSINKI (UPI) — A young American who was ousted from Russia on spy charges said Saturday "I have been kicked out of better places."

Robert Charles Christner, 27, sent a telegram to his mother, Mrs. Nell Christner, of Sparks, Nev., assuring her that everything was all right in spite of his hurried forced departure from the Soviet Union on what he considered was a frame-up.

Christner, a 27-year-old six-footer who said he only wanted to study the Russian culture system, arrived here by train Friday night "convicted" of having spied on military objectives in the Soviet Union.

"The more I think about it," he said Friday, "the more it looks as though they were after me from the beginning."

The black marketeer who offered to give Christner a ruble for his dollars but as a policeman happened to walk by.

The reason for the Russian interest in his travels, Christner believes, is the fact that Christner knows Russian and often spoke to the people in the streets.

Enter Last Month

Christner entered the Soviet Union a month ago. He wanted to learn more Russian and to gather notes for a thesis on the Soviet railway system. He plans to enter Georgetown University this autumn.

When a Russian asked him if he had anything to read in English to sell:

"I gave him a copy of the New York Times and the Paris edition of the Herald-Tribune. I told him there may be things in here with which you do not agree. But at least you can read it."

It was also at Lvow that a pickpocket made off with his wallet late one evening in a restaurant.

"We will get it back," the police assured him. "We have ways of dealing with these cases."

The next day, July 24, Christner got his bills. He still had his money, tickets and he had cashed newspapers to improve his knowledge of English.

"I've just read 'Dr. Zhivago'" he asked Christner.

A customs lout, and said he had a few words with him.

"Did I look at it?"

Christner showed it to him. He told the Russian he could keep it.

A few days later, Christner said that his billfold had been found and that his notes on the trip and some Russian addresses were undamaged.

Mr. Soko he made what he admitted was a mistake. He took a picture of the city from a distance, although he had been told not to.

Christner ran into another Russian on the trip from Baku to Stalingrad. Their ways kept crossing in the few days Christner spent in Stalingrad. Once he ran into the Russian on the street.

The Russian asked him if he had any dollars to sell, and pulled out a handful of dollar and ruble notes.

Then the police produced their evidence: a copy of "Dr. Zhivago," copies of the New York Times and the Herald - Tribune and the missing notes and addresses taken from his stolen billfold.

"At that point," said Christner, "I began to wonder."

Nixon Gives Nuclear Test, Farm Views

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon said Saturday night he believed it would be a mistake for the United States to resume underground nuclear weapons testing at this time.

He said there still is a chance that negotiations between the big powers would be successful and would lead to a test ban with proper inspection arrangements.

Nixon gave his views during a news conference at the close of a busy day during which he participated in the Maine tercentenary celebration of [illegible] County.

He was asked about a suggestion that both the presidential candidates, Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), endorse immediate resumption of the underground tests.

While there can be no unilateral moratorium" on testing, Nixon said, negotiations should continue until there is no longer any hope for agreement.

An agreement for a worldwide ban, accompanied by inspection assurance, he said, could pave the way for "disarmament with inspection."

Nixon disclosed that there have been disagreements between him and the Eisenhower administration in a few cases, including farm policy.

Since about 1953, he said, we have been trying a new approach to the farm policy problem to end the stalemate between Congress and the administration.

We need a new approach, he said, adding that he would outline his own farm policy in an early campaign speech in the Midwest.

"The views that I have held on farm policy have not been adopted by the administration."

He emphasized that differences of opinion crop up in all major discussions, but once a policy is adopted "there are no differences."

He praised Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson as "one of the most dedicated men in the public service" but said Benson has been unable to convince Congress of the wisdom of his proposals.

The vice president expressed hope that Democratic leaders of the Senate would see fit during the present session of Congress to announce the schedule of business about a week in advance.

That, he said, would give all candidates an equal chance to plan their own schedules and work in short campaign trips when they have a chance.

Star Witness In Burglary Found Shot

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — A Philadelphia man arrested last summer in connection with a reported $300,000 burglary in Pottsville, Pa., was found critically wounded Saturday. Police described the attempt on the man's life as an effort to prevent him from testifying for the state in Pennsylvania.

Robert H. Poulson, 24, was reported in critical condition in Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital after undergoing emergency surgery for removal of a bullet from his back. He also suffered head injuries, possibly from a beating.

As they approached him in the parking lot of the hospital, he said: "Help me, I can't walk. I've been shot in the back."

Poulson refused to tell police how he was shot but Detective Sgt. Early Quinton of Camden and Capt. Clarence J. Ferguson of Philadelphia's special investigations squad, said there was every indication Poulson had been driven out of an automobile after being shot.

The FBI also was called in since police do not discount a theory that Poulson might have been shot in Pennsylvania and brought into New Jersey.

Malcolm Reeves, assistant district attorney of Schuylkill County, Pa., said that Poulson, although himself a defendant, was to have been the commonwealth's star witness should all five persons police say were involved in the robbery be brought to trial. A grand jury which convenes Aug. 22, will review the evidence.

Ferguson, who handled the investigation of the case since it was broken in Philadelphia, said, "Maybe some part of the mob got hold of him in an effort to silence him."

Among those arrested in the burglary was Lillian Reis, owner of the Celebrity Room, a night club in midtown Philadelphia.

She was accused of masterminding the robbery at the home of John Rich, president of the Gilberton Coal Co., while he was on vacation. Estimates of the loot ranged as high as $300,000.

The robbery occurred Aug. 7, 1959.

There was no immediate explanation from officials as to why grand jury action was delayed.

Colombian Miss Snares Beauty Title

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The brand new Miss International Beauty—her chocolate eyes sparkling despite a sleepless night—shrugged her shoulders Saturday about movie contracts but talked avidly about the children's hospital she is building in her native Colombia.

Stella Marquez, 21, the statuesque brunette who the crown Friday night was vivid and glowing after her triumph.

She still seemed a little unbelieving about her victory as she sat down to a tidbit of a breakfast—one roll and coffee.

The victory brought glory to Colombia for the second time in three years. Just three years ago another Miss Colombia, Luz Marina Zuluaga, won the Miss Universe crown here before the contest was moved to Florida this year.

Miss Marquez, 37½, 24½, 37½ and 5 feet 7, is quite a veteran of the beauty game. At the Miss Universe contest in Florida, she came in sixth.

Friday night those who finished behind her, in order were—Miss India, Iona Pinto, of Bombay; Miss Iceland, Sigridur Geirsdottir; Miss England, Joyce Kay of Liverpool; and the United States representative, Charlene, Lundberg, of Joliet, Ill.

Miss Colombia won the $10,000 first prize. Asked what she planned to do with her money, she said: "Put it in the bank."

Miss Marquez talked extensively about the hospital project at home to which she is devoted.

"You see," she said, "in my country being a beauty queen is more than prizes and money.

South Group Still Silent On Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy's drive to win solid support from Southern senators picked up Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama Saturday but six of the most influential politicians from below the Mason-Dixon line remained silent.

Hill, veteran dean of the Alabama delegation, announced he will work for Kennedy but at the same time he deplored the Democratic civil rights platform.

Hill was the third Southern Senator this week to publicly pledge support to Kennedy and vice-presidential candidate Lyndon B. Johnson. The others were Sens. Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina and Russell B. Long of Louisiana.

The holdout group is headed by Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, leader of the Southern Senate bloc and twice the South's candidate for the presidential nomination.

Almost equally influential in the South is Sen. Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia, who was frequently mentioned as a southern candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination this year, and, like Russell has not made a public commitment.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, who said he could not support Adlai E. Stevenson in 1952 and remained silent throughout the campaign in 1956, also kept quiet.

So did Sen. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, the states Rights Party candidate for President in 1948 who voted for President Eisenhower in 1952.

The other two holdouts are Sens. John C. Stennis and James O. Eastland of Mississippi where Gov. Ross Barnett has already announced he will not support the Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

Russell, Talmadge and Stennis have indicated they will make some public announcement when Congress adjourns but have not hinted what it will be.

Hill, like Johnston, pointed to the fact the Republican platform contained a specific proposal to curb the Senate filibuster, the South's main weapon against civil rights legislation.

"It is the Republican platform alone which now advocates taking from the South this defense against those who would destroy our traditional way of life," Hill said.

He called the Republicans "the party of bayonets in the South... who have exploited and plundered the South and its people."

It was the Republican Party that....so long denied the South the economic progress and prosperity which her great natural resources and the character and genius of her people entitled her to have," he said.

Hill said it was the Democratic Party which has enabled the South to progress and added that "without the Democratic Party, Alabama and the South would be without an effective voice in the halls of national government."

He said the prestige and influence of Southerners in Congress, gained through seniority, have defeated "many of the anti-South proposals."

"It is to Southern chairmen and ranking members of congressional committees that a Democratic President must look for support," Hill said, "if he is to insure the success of his administration."

'Driverless' Car Shocks Officers

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Two Mobile detectives were shocked Saturday when an apparently driverless automobile almost backed into their car. The automobile then shot forward down a one-way street in the wrong direction.

The younger was spending the night with her friend and they decided to take a midnight ride. Neither had ever driven before although the older girl said she had watched her mother drive.

They took off toward Mobile despite the fact the car brakes were virtually useless.

"We wanted to go back after going a little ways, but then we couldn't find a place big enough to turn around. So we kept right on going."

The 40-mile trip to Mobile was made at speeds of between 40 and 60 miles per hour.

MILTON CANIFF
HOLLY, YOU WERE OUT COLD BECAUSE FLAVIN HYPNOTIZED YOU!
HOW DID IT BEGIN?
COL. CANYON, I ONLY REMEMBER THAT I MET MRS. APPEL IN EUROPE...
I WAS IN SCHOOL IN SWITZERLAND —AND MOST MISERABLE...
I MUST HAVE TOLD HER ALL MY TROUBLES —SHE WAS VERY SYMPATHETIC...
I HAD A HEADACHE—AND SHE SUGGESTED TRYING TO STOP IT BY HYPNOSIS...
THE NEXT THING I KNEW WAS WHEN I WOKE UP HERE!
WHERE ARE MY MOTHER AND DADDY?
I'M CERTAIN THEY'RE ONLY BEING HELD INCOMMUNICADO SOMEWHERE...
...OUR COUNTER-INTELLIGENCE PEOPLE ARE HOT ON THE CASE RIGHT NOW!
WHAT IS IT ALL ABOUT?—WHY?
THE REDS USED YOUR ANTICS AS A 'HATE THE YANKEES' DIVERSION WHILE THEY ARE WORKING ON A JET LANDING STRIP—UNDER COVER OF AN ARCHEOLOGICAL EXCAVATION!
B-BUT WHAT HAPPENS NOW?
FIRST WE GET YOU OUT OF HERE!...
I HOPE IT'S SOON, COL. CANYON! I'M SO VERY TIRED
IN ANOTHER ROOM
DR. VALD, ARE YOU SATISFIED THAT THE 'ACCIDENT' SHOULD NOW HAPPEN TO CANYON AND THE GIRL?
YES—BUT FIRST 'SOMETHING' WILL HAPPEN TO FLAVIN FOR FALLING IN LOVE WITH CANYON AND LOSING HER CONTROL OVER MISS HALL!
